COL. ROOSEVELT SPURNS BORAH'S REVOLT PLEA

Monopoly Not Main Issue, He Holds.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, a high ranking figure in eastern Republican leadership, tonight turned a cold shoulder upon Senator William E. Borah's proposal to lay the foundation of the 1936 presidential campaign upon a "trust busting" issue.

In a cordial but firm letter to the Idaho senator, Col. Roosevelt in effect displayed disinclination to lift up the "big stick" wielded with historic effect by his father.

The young "T. R." expressed "entire sympathy" with Senator Borah's attitude toward monopolies in industry, stated in a letter to Col. Roosevelt, but flatly disagreed with the senator that business monopoly shaped up as the major issue of the 1936 campaign.

Cites "Waste of Money."

"Overshadowing" this issue, he wrote, were those of "scandalous waste of the people's money, government extravagance, multitudinous taxes, and attempts to subvert our type of government."

"I want you to know," he wrote, "that, while I am in entire sympathy with your attitude on monopolies, I feel that there are many other issues as great or greater."

Borah's letter to Col. Roosevelt was regarded as a bid by the western Republican leader for Roosevelt's support to dominate the nominating convention on the "trust busting" issue over the present national leadership.

"I entirely agree," Col. Roosevelt wrote in reply, "that monopolies are evil, for I am a firm believer in the established American principle of competition. I have stated this over and over again during the last eighteen months.

"Not Major Issue."

"This is one of the reasons that I opposed so strenuously the NRA, for that organization gave governmental sanction to monopolies and upheld them by the police force of the nation. I believe in the Sherman anti-trust laws.

"I believe that the Republican party should take a clear and unequivocal stand on this issue.

"I do not agree, however, that this will be the major issue of the campaign.

"Important as it is, there are others that will overshadow it. For example, the scandalous waste of the people's money. The resources of this nation have been squandered on chimerical schemes, on the type of idiocy that is well represented by 'boondoggling' and on providing soft berths for political henchmen. . . .

"The cold facts are that we have been averaging a deficit of 3,500 million a year and that we have raised the debt of the federal government to approximately 30 billions.

"Comes from People."

"This money all comes from the people. Paying it back will be a burden that will rest on the shoulders of younger Americans than you and I, for it must either be paid back by taxation or by debt repudiation and inflation, which would bring destruction and misery upon all.

"There has been a demagogic attempt to make the people believe that in some fashion or other this money can be raised from the rich alone."

Col. Roosevelt said Borah was "absolutely right" as to the vital importance of rising living costs.

"Undoubtedly monopoly bears thereon," he said, "but there are other great factors such as government extravagance. . . .

"We must explain to the people in clear terms that every article they use in their daily life carries in its cost a multitude of indirect taxes, for a large per cent of the price of bread, meat and clothes represents not merely necessary government functions but the extravagance and follies of government.

"Uninvited Guests."

"Every unnecessary political government employé is, so to speak, sitting as an uninvited guest at meals with every family in the United States, eating a part of their food.

"Beyond these issues, and vitally important also, are the attempts that are being made to subvert our type of government, to rob the various independent branches of their power and concentrate all in the hands of the executive. . . . It is axiomatic that concentration of power spells tyranny, and that tyranny inevitably spells ruin, misery and penury for the rank and file of the nation."

35,769 DEATHS SHOW MOUNTING AUTO TRAGEDIES

150 in U. S. in 2 Days; 11 in County.

More than 150 persons were killed in automobile accidents over the United States yesterday and Saturday—and the reports from several states had not been received when the compilation was made.

In Cook county the toll was eleven deaths in the two week-end days. One of the victims was the Very Rev. John C. Gilroy, 76 years old, who was struck last night by an automobile driven by Joseph Sislow, 21 years old, 1933 Crystal street, as he stepped from a safety island in front of St. Pius Catholic church, 1909 South Ashland avenue, where he was assistant pastor. Father Gilroy celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination into the priesthood last July.

The week-end toll in Illinois was 13 deaths. Georgia led all other states with 17 deaths in piling up the total of 150 in the nation.

Census Reveals Grim Truth.

The bureau of the census at Washington gave out figures indicating that the nation's death toll of 150 for the week-end, terrific as it was, nevertheless was lower than the average for two days. It was announced by the bureau that 33,980 persons were killed in automobile accidents alone in 1934, while 1,789 more lost their lives in collisions of motor vehicles and other transportation agencies—a grand total of 35,769 sacrificed on the altars of speed and recklessness.

In 1933 the nation's trafic death rate per 100,000 was 23.3. Last year it was 26.9. Later figures extending up to Sept. 28, but not complete, according to the census bureau, show that the death toll will be relatively larger in 1935 than in 1934.

Worst in Open Spaces.

Contrary to general belief, automobile fatalities last year were not concentrated in the thickly settled regions. Nevada, with 73.4 deaths per 100,000, had the worst record; Wyoming, with 45.5, placed second; Arizona was third with 44.85, and California fourth with 42.62. Rhode Island was comparatively the safest state, with 14.6 deaths per 100,000.

In contrast with the terrible tragedies of the highways was the record of the American railroads.

"Not a single passenger was killed in a train accident on steam railroads in the United States in the first half of 1935," declared J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, "and passenger travel aggregated 8 billion 600 million miles."

Four Die in One Accident.

One of the most spectacular accidents occurred at Zeigler, Ill., early yesterday. An automobile driven by Tony Nigra, 27 years old, a miner from Herrin, Ill., crashed into the side of a Missouri Pacific freight train. Nigra and three passengers, Miss Hazel Cran of Royalton, Ill., a school teacher; Miss Fern Volner, newspaper woman of Carterville, Ill., and Charles Barney of Herrin, a miner, were killed.

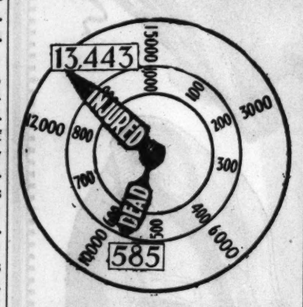

Witnesses said that the car was traveling at 50 to 60 miles an hour when it crashed into the train.

At Kenton, O., a head-on collision of automobiles caused the deaths of Mrs. Mathilda Arnold and Henry G. Bergman of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mrs.

"WHO'S AFRAID?"

Earl Howe, 28 years old, 4714 North Laramie avenue, a student pilot, fell to his death yesterday afternoon when the right wing blew off his small monoplane while he was practicing spins near the Ravenswood airport at Touhy and Mount Prospect roads. The plane was a Curtiss-Wright Jr. pusher type high winged monoplane, driven by a 45 horse power Szekely motor. It crashed in a farm yard close to Oakton street and Wolf road, near Des Plaines.

Waiting for Howe at the airport were his wife, Annette; his son, Dennis, 1 year old, and two relatives of Mrs. Howe. They saw the wing buckle and turned their heads away as the craft spun crazily to the ground.

Working for New License.

Howe, an automobile mechanic, had been keeping his plane at the airport for three weeks, according to Henry Jerger, an employé, while he practiced to obtain a private air license under the new department of commerce regulations. Airport attendants said Howe had held a license under the old rules.

"Howe had been up in the air about half an hour," related Jerger. "At about 5,000 feet he went into a spin over Des Plaines. This apparently was intentional, and was merely part of his practicing.

"At 3,500 feet I saw the right wing spin away and then the ship plummeted downward. It didn't catch fire at the crash, so the pilot must have shut off the ignition switch. He didn't have a chance to use his parachute. It was still strapped to his back when we found him buried under the motor."

Seek Cause of Accident.

At the inquest this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Oehler's undertaking rooms in Des Plaines a coroner's jury will seek to determine the cause of the accident. There may have been a structural weakness in the wing, attendants at the airport said. The ship was inspected officially on Aug. 1 and pronounced in good condition.

It was pointed out, however, that in pulling a small, light plane out of a spin the pilot must level off very slowly lest the wings fail to stand the terrific strain and blow off. Witnesses were unable to tell whether Howe started to level off too sharply.

Child Coughs Up Whistle and So Escapes Operation

Narrowsburg, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Betty Kinney, 7, coughed in the operating room of Horton hospital today. Out came a toy whistle and so she didn't have to be operated on after all.

Englewood Cliffs, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mayor Herbert Jenkins disclosed tonight that he married Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford, film stars, at his home on Friday.

Mayor Jenkins said the couple motored to Englewood Cliffs from New York in the morning. He said the wedding was "a simple one," but declined to give details.

"They had a license," he said simply. He declined to say where it was obtained. New Jersey law requires that a ceremony may not be performed until three days after the license is granted.

The new Mrs. Tone is the former Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. Tone and Miss Crawford came to the east from Hollywood recently and their marriage has been rumored for some time.

They were honeymooning high up in a fashionable New York hotel tonight and denied themselves to callers.

THOMPSON DIES IN CHAIR TONIGHT FOR RAPE KILLING

At midnight tonight the resignation of Col. Frank D. Whipp as warden of the Joliet penitentiary will take effect and Joseph Ragen, state superintendent of prisons, will then take over his new duties as acting warden of the prison. A few minutes later the new warden will be called upon to supervise the execution of Gerald Thompson, 26 years old, convicted of raping and killing Mildred Hallmark in Peoria.

The condemned slayer asked Assistant Warden George F. Sehring that no special meals be provided or other attentions be paid him in his last few hours of life.

"I don't want a show made of my death," he asserted.

His mother, Mrs. Florence Whiteside, and his brother, Victor, who is serving a sentence in the prison for a sex crime, will be allowed to visit him during the day. The Rev. Elgius Weir, Roman Catholic chaplain, who baptized the slayer a week ago, will walk with him to the death chair.

Woman Plunges to Death from Window in Hospital

Mrs. Eva Ksiazkiewicz, 30 years old, 1836 North Wood street, was killed early today when she leaped or fell out of a third floor window at the Lutheran Memorial hospital, 1116 North Kedzie avenue. She had been under treatment there for a heart ailment. No one saw her go out the window.

Secret Gifts Betray Wives' Love Worries

Money donated by an informal organization of married women is keeping Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, former collector of internal revenue, in the county jail "as an object lesson to sirens who contemplate love piracy."

This was disclosed yesterday by Mrs. Susanne Nottingham, who in January, 1934, obtained a verdict for $7,500 damages against Mrs. Blacklidge, on the ground that the latter had alienated the affections of Policeman Norman Nottingham. Mrs. Nottingham since has been granted separate maintenance and is paid $70 a month by her husband.

The alienation case verdict automatically carried a malice count. Under this Mrs. Blacklidge may be confined in jail for six months, provided the wife pays her board of 50 cents a day.

Now in Jail for Third Time.

The former collector has fought in the courts to overturn the malice count, and thus far has spent little more than 30 days in a cell. She was, however, incarcerated for the third time on Oct. 3 and Mrs. Nottingham's attorneys said yesterday that her supporters in the cause of morality already have contributed funds to take care of the board bill for at least three months.

"More than a year ago," said Mrs. Nottingham, the mother of a 9 year old daughter, "these women started calling me up. They were sorry for me and they all said they would help to keep her there.

Plot Nipped "Just in Time."

"They won't let their names be used. Some of them, I know, have had experiences something like mine. One woman said her husband lost his head and ran after another woman, but she brought him back to his senses just in time. She could understand, she said, how I felt.

"I don't know whether those good women let their husbands know they are aiding me. But I do know they are giving an object lesson to other women who run with married men and try to break up homes. The money was not turned over to me, but to Attorney Murphy O. Tate."

Forgives Her Husband.

Mrs. Nottingham indicated that she was not bitter toward her husband.

"He isn't as bad as he's been painted," she declared.

Mrs. Blacklidge still is philosophical about her fate.

Stoll Kidnap Jury Acquits Accused Pair

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances A. Robinson, wife of the fugitive Thomas H. Robinson Jr., and her father-in-law, Thomas H. Robinson Sr., today heard a federal court jury clear them on a charge of plotting and helping in the $50,000 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, wealthy Louisville society matron.

The 24 year old Mrs. Robinson burst into tears when the jury of 12 men which tried the two Tennesseeans for their lives returned the verdict of acquittal shortly before 11 a. m., but smiled through her tears.

"Thank God!" Says Father.

Robinson Sr., 63 year old Nashville bridge engineer and father of the former insane asylum inmate hunted by the federal agents for the last year as the kidnaper, exclaimed, "Thank God!"

Mrs. Stoll and her husband, Berry V. Stoll, said they did not think "justice was done" in the acquittal of the two.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoll were not in court when the verdict was returned. When reached later Stoll said he felt he had done his duty as a citizen, asserting, "My conscience is clear."

He said Mrs. Stoll was resting, but commented, saying he spoke for both: "We did our best to see that justice was done and we do not think it was done."

Mrs. Stoll was the prosecution's star witness against the accused pair.

Sunday Session Necessary.

Locked up last night after they announced they "could not decide," the jury resumed deliberation today at 9 a. m. Necessity for a Sunday session arose from the fact the court's term ended tonight at midnight, when the jury would have been automatically discharged.

The partly filled courtroom heard the verdict in silence. After the jury filed out friends rushed to congratulate the defendants and their counsel. Judge Elwood Hamilton, who had instructed the jury it could recommend the death penalty if it saw fit on a conviction, thanked the jury. The Robinsons were prosecuted under the Lindbergh kidnaping law, which authorizes the death penalty if the victim is injured in an interstate kidnaping.

Victim Slugged by Abductor.

Mrs. Stoll was slugged by Robinson Jr. and carried to Indianapolis, where she was held captive by him six days before released when his wife delivered ransom to him.

The government charged his father and wife with plotting the crime, which occurred a year ago, with him. The defendants denied the conspiracy, contending they did all they could to help the Stoll family recover the victim.

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Martha Althauser, and her sister, Mrs. Martha Sandman of Nashville, Mrs. Robinson slipped from the courtroom after the verdict. In the spacious office of the United States marshal the defendants held an informal reception. The jurors had gathered in a railed inclosure in the same room awaiting formal completion of their release.

SAVAGE ARMY OF ETHIOPIANS RUSH TO BATTLE

Duce's Air Bombers Fell 10,000.

War at a Glance

Vast troop movements were started late yesterday on the southern Ethiopian front with observers expecting a decisive battle shortly in Ogaden province, where 220,000 Ethiopians were moving in forced marches to attack the Italian army near Harrar. The Ethiopians, under the command of Ras Desta Demtu, Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law, were moving rapidly on the Italians' left flank.

On the northern front Gen. Emilio de Bono, Italian colonial commander in chief, took over Adowa officially. Djibouti dispatches say Italian air bombers killed and wounded 10,000 Ethiopians; town of Damot destroyed.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A savage army of 220,000 Ethiopians, bent upon battle, was moving in forced marches late today against a sector in Ogaden province, where 15,000 Italians were reportedly massed last week.

As the Ethiopians, under the command of Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, hurried to attack the left flank of the invaders to prevent the fall of Harrar, it was reported by Ethiopians here that there had been at least 10,000 Ethiopian casualties by gas and other bombs.

Town's Civilians Killed.

They asserted the entire civil population was killed in the town of Damot, which was destroyed with its seven mosques. The gas allegedly being used by the Italians is chlorine, they said.

Arrival of the Addis Ababa train here tonight brought news that an Italian army plane was shot down by Ethiopian sharpshooters at Afdem, on the Djibouti railway line, on Friday. Two officers and the pilot were killed.

The advancing Italian forces are making their main drive covered by the British Somaliland frontier, and the Ethiopians will attempt to turn their flank in a desolate, waterless region where they believe the Italians will easily be overcome by a preponderant force of tribesmen.

Ras Desta's troops, numbering 160,000, have been concentrated in the lowlands near the Webbe Shebeli river, awaiting word for a swift attack. At the appointed signal, expected momentarily by some observers, these forces will join with 60,000 irregulars led by the Dutch Boer, Col. Siwiank, owner of an estate at Moibale, a few miles within the southern frontier of Italian Somaliland.

Boer Angry at Italians.

Siwiank, angered at difficulties with local Italian authorities, decided to take active service with the Ethiopians, and is expected by Ethiopian officials to be a major factor in their Ogaden attack.

The Italian army under Gen. Rudalfo Graziani has made a total advance of 30 miles from their original starting place in the desert, covered by 250 tanks and 200 airplanes. The tanks now hold the advance line from the British frontier near Bohotleh southwest to Kabrin, Beridaleh, and Masara.

[Ras Desta, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, visited the United States in 1933 and was a luncheon guest at the White House. At Annapolis the Naval academy accorded him a royal salute. He left the United States July 27, 1933, for Ethiopia.]

Bombs Bury Ethiopians Alive.

HARRAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 13.—(AP)—[Reuter's.]—Eleven Italian airplanes were reported today to have bombed Gerlogubi yesterday, with 36 Ethiopian infantrymen buried alive when a dugout in which they sought refuge collapsed.

Italian planes also were reported to have bombed a large number of villages in the Danakail area, killing and wounding many natives.

Italian Attack Expected.

pleted. A report from Jijiga said thousands of Ethiopian soldiers were passing daily en route to the Ogaden front.

Only skirmishing has been reported on this front, but a big Italian attack is expected momentarily.

More Desertions Reported.

WITH ITALIAN FORCES IN ERITREA, Oct. 13.—[Exchange Telegraph.]—Reports from Adigrat said another column of about 1,000 Ethiopian warriors had presented themselves at the Italian front line today, following the desertion to Italy of Degiac Haile Selassie Gugsa.

Their chief, whose name was not given, was said to have made it clear in a message he did not want to be regarded as prisoner of war, but desired to carry arms. His troops were reported to have brought new Belgian rifles with them and carried belts of French cartridges of 1934 manufacture.

The chief further was quoted as informing the Italians that a big Ethiopian army, under the crown prince, was concentrated from Sakota to Amba Ahaji, about 120 miles south of the Italian front.

Triumphal March in Adowa.

ADOWA, Ethiopia, Oct. 13.—[Havas.]—Gen. Emilio de Bono, high commander of Italian colonial troops, took official possession of Adowa today.

The city, taken by Italians a week ago, was brilliant with flags, and the streets were decorated with blossoms and triumphal arches as he entered the city.

Gen. de Bono attended a religious ceremony at the Coptic church and then presided at the dedication of a monument to the memory of those who died in the Italian defeat of 1896.

The monument carried this inscription:

"To the dead of Adowa, avenged at last."

After the ceremony the general received native chiefs. Tomorrow he will study the situation of the inhabitants and the administrative and judicial organization of the city.

Warriors Pledge Allegiance.

(Special cable to the London Daily Telegraph and The Chicago Tribune.)

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Oct. 13.—Gen. Mosesha Wubi, Emperor Haile Selassie's godfather and the governor of Kambata province, entered the capital yesterday at the head of 20,000 of the empire's fiercest warriors.

The tribesmen, carrying lances and spears, demonstrated wildly as they took a pledge of allegiance before the emperor, who sat smiling on a golden throne on the palace balcony.

Yesterday the emperor gave the count until today to quit Addis Ababa. The "deadline" expired, but the minister was still in the capital tonight. He remained at the home of Haile Selassie's son-in-law, Ras Desta Damtou.

It is believed the emperor may allow Vinci to wait until the Italian consular staf arrives from Magalo. A special train has been placed at the disposal of the minister, who was forcibly ejected from the Italian legation.

LEAGUE DECIDES TO FORBID BANK LOANS TO ITALY

Credits Also Are Banned in Financial Boycott.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Oct. 13.—Great Britain and France today agreed to cut off immediately the supply to Italy of certain key exports essential in war, but the battle over the only really effective sanction [penalty]—an embargo on Italian exports—continues unabated.

While the British and French economic experts were wrangling over these points, financial experts emerged from a five hour conference at the league of nations building with a resolution prohibiting loans and bank credits to Italy.

The resolution, which was approved by the financial subcommittee of the league sanctions squad, is expected to be adopted tomorrow by the committee of eighteen which was appointed to draft penalties against Italy.

How Blockade Works.

After a preamble couched in almost the same words as the resolution on an arms embargo voted Friday, the document declares that the various nations agree to prohibit the following seven categories of credits to Italy:

FIRST—All loans destined to the Italian government and all subscriptions to loans in Italy or elsewhere on behalf of the Rome government.

THIRD—All loans destined to the public, Italian authorities, or all persons or societies in Italian territory as well as subscriptions to such loans in Italy or elsewhere.

FOURTH—Stock issues or other capital destined to persons or societies in Italian territory as well as all subscriptions to such issues or capital in Italy or elsewhere.

Bank Credits Prohibited.

FIFTH—All banking and other credits destined to persons or societies established in Italian territory, and continuation of loan contracts existing in favor of such persons or societies.

SIXTH—Issues of capital residue from stock issues and all capital shares based upon contracts in execution and not yet finished.

SEVENTH—The governments will prohibit the transactions specified above whether effected directly or through intermediates of any nationality.

The fifth clause, which is the most important, covers commercial as well as all other credits if handled by banks. It does not amount, however, to a complete shutting off of all commercial credits since nothing is said about credit directly granted by foreign firms to Italian importers.

Bank Credits Already Stopped.

In practice—especially as in the United States—bank credits to Italy have practically ceased and firms which continue to trade with Italy are obliged to take the risk of any credit operations themselves.

The resolution embodying the financial penalties is expected to be communicated to the governments some time tomorrow. This will be the second league sanction against Premier Mussolini.

The third, which is expected to be taken Wednesday or Thursday, will be an embargo on several raw materials of vital importance to Italy in time or war. This first list of prohibited materials will name only a few products—probably oil, coal, and nickel. It will be followed later by other essential materials, such as cotton on which it is much more difficult to obtain general agreement.

Some time before the end of the week it is likely the league will play its trump card—an embargo on Italian goods.

CZECH GOVERNMENT PREPARES BOYCOTT EDICT AGAINST ITALY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 13.—The newspaper Prager Tagblatt today announced that the Czech government is preparing a "sanctions decree." It will be issued Thursday. All the decree's measures will be combined to enforce effectively whatever sanctions [penalties] are decided upon by the league of nations against Italy.

Exports to Austria, which is supporting Italy, will be controled strictly and customs ports will be reinforced for this purpose, the paper said.

Economic sanctions will affect several Czechslovakian firms which have received Italian orders for armor plate for warships. Ethiopia has placed small order for ammunition in Czechoslovakia, but the orders will not be fulfilled unless they can be financed satisfactorily, it was said.

MALTA, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The fears of British naval officers attached to the mighty British armada in the Mediterranean that Malta may become a zone of acute danger was reflected today in the fact that many wives of these officers have received wireless messages from their absent husbands urging them to leave. Meanwhile the first group of 800 wives and children of British subjects, who are reportedly to evacuate Malta within a fortnight, prepared to embark for England next Tuesday.

BRITAIN DRAWS FRANCE TO WAR, PARIS WHISPERS

Rumor Spreads of Attempt to Unseat Laval.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The sentiment which has been rising here that Great Britain is dragging France on the "bloody road to another European war" reached a climax today with the spreading abroad of the rumor that the British are intriguing to overthrow the cabinet of Premier Pierre Laval in order to help install a new one more docile to British purposes.

Only today did it become known to the general public and only today were the details—true or false—given. An important point is that the average Parisian believes the story is true and it is arousing a hatred toward Great Britain which has been unknown in France since the time of the Fashoda incident in 1898.

French Blame Herriot.

According to this report, the chief conspirator against Premier Laval is the Radical Socialist, former Premier Edouard Herriot, aided and abetted by former Premier Joseph Paul Boncour, two who were expected to fight among themselves as to which shall be the next premier.

Herriot is accused of having made commitments to British politicians, especially of the Labor party, which the French expect to be in power after the next British general election.

Herriot, it is said, will get a definite pledge of British help in possible future troubles with Germany in return for which he will commit the French navy to active support of the British navy in any conflict with Italy.

Herriot's friends and the press are vigorously denying the story, branding it fantastic in view of the swing of French public opinion, which is, even among the sympathizers with Ethiopia, determined to remain neutral and not run the risk of precipitating a European war.

This fear, rather than an affection for Italy, explains the present wave of Anglophobia, England being seen as a villain trying to force France to fight the battle to keep British imperial routes secure. Hence the publication of the violent diatribes against British hypocrisy and the reprinting of ancient caricatures dating from the years of the Boer war.

Jibe at Americans.

A touch of hysteria has crept into the tone of the Paris press in which even Americans get an occasional jibe through their declaration of neutrality which is generally printed enviously with the comment: "It is our turn to be neutral also."

Meanwhile, Premier Laval has returned from Geneva to mend his political fences in view of the approaching senatorial election. Laval especially does not want the French press to appear too friendly toward Italy, fearing that the French may come in for a share of the general reprobation now falling on Italy.

A high official in French navy circles revealed the belief that the British intend to impose a Mediterranean blockade. Confirmation of this view is found in a report that several boats—following the Chella of the Paquet line, which was stopped at the straits of Gibraltar—have been hailed by British warships and ordered to name their ports and the nature of their cargoes.

The French steamship companies already have protested to the government, which is trying to keep these incidents dark in order not further to complicate the situation.

Unrest on Polish Border.

The tension of French public opinion keeps rising as alarmists see the Geneva sanctions [penalties] leading inevitably to another general conflict where France once more will have to support a German invasion, since no one supposes Germany will fail to profit by the turn of events.

A reliable report in Paris today is that the Czechoslovakian government has rushed extra troops and bodies of national constabulary to the territory of Teschen lying between southwest Poland and Czechoslovakia to forestall possible Polish raids on the Czechoslovakian part of Teschen.

Teschen was split between Poland and Czechoslovakia by a conference of ambassadors in 1920, the latter country getting the major part.

ETHIOPIAN ARMY MOVES TO ATTACK

An Ethiopian army of 220,000 men is moving up to make a swift attack on the Italian lines in the southeast section of the empire. Heavy lines on map indicate the Italian advances and their positions, which extend from British Somaliland southwest to Masara. The Ethiopians intend to strike the left flank of the Italians and turn them into the waterless stretches of the Ogaden desert. Italian flyers yesterday destroyed the town of Damot with bombs. Ethiopians reported 10,000 casualties by gas and other bombs. Arrow on map points to Gerlogubi, where an Italian army plane was shot down. Inset map shows Adowa, which was formally annexed by Gen. de Bono yesterday.

MAN, TWO WOMEN SHOT TO DEATH NEAR CEMETERY

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Three persons, a man and two women, were found shot to death tonight near a cemetery in East Bountiful, ten miles north of this city. Officers said two of the victims were Mr. and Mrs. John Lorin East of Bountiful.

The body of the unidentified woman was found in an irrigation ditch. East was found dead in a field where he had been irrigating, and his wife's body was slumped in the front seat of the family motor car.

Sherif Joseph Holbook expressed belief the slayer shot the unidentified woman, who apparently accompanied him to the scene in a car, dumped her body into the ditch and then killed the Easts to silence them.

Evidence that the slayer was an expert gunman was seen in the fact all three victims were shot through the head.

A suspect was arrested, but he refused to give his name or answer questions.

Youth Thrashes a Moron, Saves Girl and Vanishes

A youth who disappeared before his identity was learned routed a moron who dragged Miss Marian Hull, 18 years old, 1229 South Spaulding avenue, into an alley near Taylor street and Sacramento avenue yesterday. Police said they were told the youth was walking on the other side of the street when a shabbily dressed man wearing a red sweater pounced on Miss Hull. He dashed across the street, officers said, and pummeled Miss Hull's assailant into flight.

RENNICK PICKED TO HEAD ILLINOIS MEMBERS OF AP

In a meeting preliminary to the assembling today of members of the Associated Press Managing Editors' association, Robert A. Rennick of the Illinois State Journal at Springfield was elected president of the Illinois members of the Associated Press at their annual meeting yesterday in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Edward E. Lindsey of the Decatur Herald-Review was chosen vice president.

When the managing editors of 350 daily newspapers published throughout the country open their two day convention today the news chiefs will discuss accomplishments of the news service during the last year and what the member papers wish it to do in the coming year.

ITALIANS SEEK 'REAL BATTLE' TO PROVE STRENGTH

Rome Predicts Peaceful Settlement Soon.

ROME, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini's war without a real battle strengthened hopes in high quarters tonight for a relatively peaceful settlement, and an authoritative personage announced:

"By the end of October I believe there can be useful conversations."

War with Ethiopia was only in its eleventh day, with four days of moderate fighting, but Italy already felt herself mistress of the whole Tigre province.

Adowa, where an Italian army was all but slaughtered in 1896, flew the Italian flag. Gen. Emilio de Bono, commander of Italian colonial forces, went there today to consecrate victory by dedicating a monument to the dead of that disastrous defeat.

Planes Scour Skies.

Farther south the Italian planes scoured the skies, apparently finding nowhere an Ethiopian army that could furnish the "real battle" in which Italians expected to prove their strength.

The capture of Adowa cheered the Italians, but a crushing defeat of enemy forces was wanted to show the world Italy is as strong as she says she is.

Complete conquest of Ethiopia is Il Duce's program. But there were many indications tonight that something less will satisfy him. In official circles the usual suggestion was that Italy must have a protectorate over the four old provinces of ancient Ethiopia and full possession of the remainder.

Aim to Stop Hoarding.

Fascism, meantime, got ready to put the brakes on increases in the cost of living at home and to impose penalties of its own on speculators. Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, sent orders throughout the country for a price control system.

Slight advances in prices shown by the latest official statistics were balanced by many decreases. Nevertheless, officials anticipated efforts of panicky persons to hoard supplies. The cost of living increased, according to official figures, one-fifth of 1 per cent from August to September.

BISHOP DECLARES POPE 'HELPLESS OLD MAN' IN PREVENTING WAR

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Pope Pius was characterized as "a helpless old man" in preventing the Italo-Ethiopian conflict "or any other war" today by the Most Rev. Arthur Hinsley, Roman Catholic archbishop of Westminster. The archbishop, successor to the late Cardinal Bourne, called Africa the "focus and playground of scientific slaughter" in an address at the Church of St. Edward the Confessor at Golden Green, and critically examined the position of the pope.

The present pope and his predecessors have made incessant and unavailing efforts to avert war, the archbishop said, but "as head of the church he has no grounds to interfere in purely political matters unless he be invited."

"The holy father's choice is between two evils," he said. "Either he must condone what the world regards as a monstrous injustice and a violation of international compacts and treaties, or he can denounce his neighbor as a law breaker.

"He will never condone an injustice. If, on the other hand, he denounces his neighbor as a breaker of treaties and a brigand he will put a grievous burden on the consciences of such subjects of his neighbor as believe that neighbor to be right."

OUST FRIEND OF MRS. ROOSEVELT IN PORTO RICO

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 13.—Before leaving by plane for the United States yesterday Dr. Ernest Gruening of the department of the interior accepted the resignation of Mrs. Dorothy D. Bourne, a personal friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, from the directorship of the social investigation bureau of the Porto Rican Reconstruction administration.

Dr. Gruening's explanation, it become known today, was that federal regulations prohibit both husband and wife from receiving salaries from a reconstruction agency. James R. Bourne is administrator of the emergency relief unit, which was recently absorbed by the Reconstruction administration.

Some observers believe anti-birth control elements influenced the ousting of Mrs. Bourne, because it had been previously charged that she taught contraceptive principles. She replied to that charge that her teachings conformed with doctrins sanctioned by the Catholic church. Mrs. Bourne accompanied Mrs. Roosevelt on island trips during her visit here.

RUSSIA PROTESTS TO TOKIO OVER GUARDS' SLAYING

Charges Japanese Crossed Border to Siberia.

MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Soviet Russia today directed a "resolute" protest to the Japanese government against a reported new invasion of the soviet frontier, in which both Russian guards and members of a Japanese-Manchukuan detachment were slain last night.

The government ordered its ambassador at Tokio to make the protest and at the same time proposed that a mixed commission be appointed to investigate on the spot.

As reported here, a Japanese-Manchukuan detachment, about 50 strong, crossed the Russian border at Grodekovo [near Khabarovsk in southeastern Siberia, 500 miles north of Vladivostok] and penetrated into soviet territory nearly a mile.

Used Machine Guns.

The detachment "opened fire on the soviet guard patrol, consisting of two mounted frontier guards," said an official press announcement.

"Then two other soviet patrols, which were approximately 2½ kilometers [1.8 miles] from the Japanese-Manchurian detachment and numbering altogether 18 men, hastened to the assistance of the first patrol.

"The Japanese-Manchurian detachment opened fire with a machine gun on the soviet patrols and in order to mask itself, set fire to the grass, the smoke from which covered it, and moved in the direction of the soviet frontier patrol.

"As a result of the firing that arose there are dead and wounded among the soviet guards and also, according to information received, on the Japanese-Manchurian side."

Previously protests had been lodged with the Japanese and Manchukuo governments on border crossings reported in the same area on Oct. 6 and 8.

The contents of today's protest were not made public immediately, except for the accompanying suggestion for a mixed investigating commission. This was taken by foreign observers to indicate belief the situation can be smoothed over.

A similar suggestion for creation of a mixed commission was advanced by the soviet government Aug. 17, but as yet, qualified sources stated, no answer has been received from Japan.

Claim Russians Invaders.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Oct. 13.—Russian officers lodged a strong protest with Japanese military authorities at Harbin over yesterday's incident at Grodekovo. The authorities rejected the protest, asserting the clash was caused by Russians crossing the border. Their version was that Russian cavalry surrounded and opened fire on the Japanese-Manchukuan troops investigating the incident of Oct. 6. The Japanese-Manchukuan party returned the fire and drove off the Russians.

Submits Protest.

TOKIO, Oct. 14 (Monday).—(AP)—Soviet Ambassador Yurenev visited the foreign office today to lodge a vigorous protest over the clash near the Russian-Manchukuan border Saturday night.

PRISONER, SHOT IN ESCAPE LIKE DILLINGER'S, BACK

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—George Vasilenkos, 21 years old, 5120 South Damen avenue, Chicago, who was shot by Kankakee jail guards yesterday when he attempted to emulate Dillinger and escape by means of a wooden pistol, was returned to his cell in the jail yesterday. Dr. H. E. Lane of Kankakee reported that the prisoner was out of danger. Vasilenkos is awaiting trial on a charge of robbery with a gun.

35,769 DEATHS SHOW MOUNTING AUTO TRAGEDIES

150 in Two Days in U. S. and 11 in County.

At 4 p. m. the total for Cook county since Jan. 1 stood at 746. Within the city limits the fatalities for the period totaled 585 and the injuries 13,443. Those killed yesterday in addition to Father Gilroy:

Maynard Humarding, 24 years old, of Orland Park, fatally injured when his car collided with another at 135th street and Cicero avenue, Crestwood, and crashed into a post.

William Hill, 51 years old, 151 West 57th place, fatally injured at 58th and State streets by the car of Bertram Gump, 18 years old, 7333 Iindiana avenue.

Thomas Darlington, 44 years old, 1326 North Avers avenue, died at the County hospital several hours after he was found unconscious in the street at 4142 West Grand avenue. Apparently he had been struck by an automobile whose driver failed to stop.

Near Watervliet, Mich., an automobile left the road and overturned, causing the death of Joseph Placek, 39 years old, 2347 South Kedzie avenue, a deputy clerk in the Superior court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti. Placek had been employed in the court for 11 years.

George Linder, 16 years old, 6037 South Kolin avenue, was seriously injured when an automobile which he was driving collided at Irving Park boulevard and Clarendon avenue with another driven by Ray Hennessy, 544 Surf street. Policemen blamed the accident largely on the removal of a trafic light from the corner.

MILK STRIKERS PICK SHURTLEFF AS NEGOTIATOR

Picket Lines Weaken as Interest Lags.

Five hundred farmers, representing striking dairymen of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, met last night in Elgin and elected Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo to head a council of business and professional men in the formation of a new farmers' marketing agency, the Union Producers.

Notified at his home, Judge Shurtleff said he was in sympathy with the milk producers and would counsel with them. Formation of the Union Producers was begun by strikers in the fourteen day milk war to obtain a higher price for their milk than now is paid by the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., to the Purk Milk association, accepted marketing agency for 18,000 farmers of the Chicago milk shed.

The farmers' committee which called on Judge Shurtleff was composed of Joseph Sullivan of Marengo, brother of Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan; George Whipple, and E. L. Bost, both of Harvard.

Plan Referendum on Issue.

A second important development of the farmers' meeting last night was the decision to submit the question of a truce in the milk controversy to the rank and file. Meetings will be held today throughout the strike area in which each county will determine whether they want to hold out for a flat rate of $2.50 a hundred pounds or accept a compromise offer pending arbitration of the price dispute.

Petitions said to bear the signatures of "several thousand" farmers who ask to withdraw from their contracts made as members of the PMA were presented to the meeting by Robert F. Marcotte, secretary of the farmers' negotiating committee. He told the assembly that "no agency," governmental or otherwise, had ever disputed the veracity of the estimate of $2.50 a hundreweight as the cost of production price a farmer should at least receive for his milk."

Marcotte also announced that the Federal Trade commission, which is making a survey of market conditions, had been given the statements of thousands of farmers showing that the average price they had received for their milk over a nine year period was $1.45 a hundred pounds.

More Fluid Comes into City.

As the milk blockade appeared yesterday to be losing some of its force and permitting more and more police escorted caravans to pass through weakened picket lines unmolested, a survey of Chicago indicated the city's milk supply was about 60 per cent of normal, the largest since the strike was called.

Violence continued, however, to mark the attempts of strikers to stop milk shipments into the city. Police at Delavan in Walworth county, Wis., found a five stick dynamite bomb near a large country milk depot. Its fuse had burned out and the bomb failed to explode.

Battle Near Capron Plant.

An all day battle between 200 pickets, armed with clubs, and a force of 25 Boone county deputy sheriffs and 50 state highway policemen, near the Bowman Dairy company plant at Capron resulted in seven arrests.

Pickets massed on the highways and threw up plank barricades to prevent the reopening of the country depot. They dumped two truck loads of milk and hurled kerosene into other trucks attempting to run the blockade. Much of the fighting occurred when police attempted to remove the wooden road barriers. Threats were heard to burn the buildings of PMA farmers trying to deliver milk.

FOUR ROBBED OF COATS.

Three robbers who took a total of $12 and four topcoats from their victims in separate holdups were sought by police yesterday. The victims: Arthur Ebert, 3041 North Kenneth avenue; Herbert Pioch, 4320 North Menard avenue; Arthur Swanson, 4408 North Lockwood avenue, and Courtney Lechert, 4316 North Menard avenue.

Mrs. George Perry, wife of the acting superintendent of the cable station on Midway Island, now one of the stops on trans-Pacific air line, is the only woman among 40 persons living on the lonely outpost.

TRACE 151 AUTOS ON FRAIL CLEW; FIND DEATH CAR

William Craig, 49 years old, 119 West 112th place, died in the Roseland community hospital last Monday, a few hours after being struck by an automobile at 112th place and State street.

The only clew to the identity of the motorist, who drove away from the scene, was a report that his license plate had as the first three numbers 331. Policemen James Barnes and John Keilty of the Kensington station were ordered to investigate, if necessary, every one of the 1,000 automobiles in the particular number range.

The 151st car they investigated was that of Vincent J. Smale, 829 East 87th street. Repairs had been made during the week on his bumper and headlights. Smale admitted last night that he had had an accident Monday at 112th place and State street, but declared he was unaware that he had struck a man. The police held him.

Craig was assistant secretary of the Pullman Trust and Savings bank and was active in Boy Scout work.

MERCURY HITS 83 AS SUMMER GIVES A PARTING SALUTE

As a parting salute from summer, warm air currents yesterday sent the mercury soaring to a maximum of 83 degrees, equaling the record for Oct. 13 established in 1899.

The warm weather sent 300,000 persons to the city parks and also 200,000 to the forest preserves, according to an estimate by Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board. Trafic lanes were jammed as they have not been since Labor day.

Cloudy and slightly cooler was predicted for today by Forecaster A. W. Cook. Threatened showers, expected yesterday, swept north of Chicago, he said.

SNAKES SLITHER EVERYWHERE; IT'S THE SOBER TRUTH

This is snake season. Folks who frequented the open spaces in and around Chicago yesterday found a multitude of garter snakes—they're harmless—enjoying the warm sunshine and gorging in grasshoppers in preparation for their long winter sleep.

Police stations received many phone calls about the reptiles. One man said he counted more than 50 in and near vacant lots on Devon avenue. Niles Center residents said they were crawling everywhere.

"The garter snakes know instinctively that this is their last chance to feed up before cold weather," said Robert Bean, assistant director of the Brookfield zoo. "I noticed many of them around the park today. The late swarms of grasshoppers are just meat for them."

AIR LINE OFFICIAL FAVORS PLAN FOR 'DAYLIGHT' TIME

Boon to Eastern Travel; Railways Neutral.

Chicago railroad officials, who generally have been expected to oppose the plan of Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] to make eastern standard time official in Chicago, said yesterday they would not object to the plan. At the same time, C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, approved the proposed time change, and pointed to its advantages for air routes.

A hearing on the eastern standard time ordinance, which was introduced in the city council last Wednesday by Ald. Cronson, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow before the judiciary committee in the city hall. Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of the committee, will preside. Numerous civic organizations and other groups have announced that they will send representatives to the hearings or will state their views in letters and telegrams to the committee.

Boon to Air Lines.

The proposed time change, designed to give Chicago 210 more hours of daylight annually, will give several benefits to air lines, Mr. Smith said yesterday.

"Trafic between Chicago and New York, by any form of transportation, is heavier than between any other two cities in the United States," Mr. Smith said. "By adopting uniform time in these important terminals, schedules on this route would be materially simplified."

L. A. owns, president of the Illinois Central railroad, said he is not opposed to the time change and that he saw neither advantages nor disadvantages in it for the railroads. "We plan no action relative to the movement," he said.

Advantage to Eastern Lines.

Other highly placed officials, who declined to be quoted, said they are not aroused by attempts to foment opposition to the time change among the railroads.

"There would be advantages for eastern lines, especially in the passenger business, since passengers leaving Chicago would gain an extra business hour in the east," said an official of the New York Central lines. "I don't know what our operating department thinks of the proposal, but apparently it is not worried about it."

"In the Chicago area we would not be affected, but there might be some difficulties on our western schedules," said a North Western railway official. "Doubtless the plan would have benefits for the average citizen, but I don't think the railroads would be helped, except on lines carrying on heavy trafic with the east."

Ald. Cronson said that foes of the time change were misrepresenting his ordinance with the statement that there would be daylight saving time in the summer after the eastern time ordinance was adopted. This is not true, he said, and the ordinance would end time changes now made twice a year.

Noted Lawyers Offer to Aid in Fight on Potato Control

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A group of fifty-eight highly paid outstanding lawyers have volunteered to defend small potato growers against the New Deal potato control law and thereafter to offer their services free of charge to any "little fellow" oppressed by any New Deal regimentation, it was learned here today.

John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President in 1924; Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under President Wilson, and James M. Beck, former solicitor general of the United States, are among the lawyers in the shock brigade which will fight at their own expense what they believe to be unconstitutional New Deal laws. They have been organized as the national lawyers committee of the American Liberty league.

Assistance Is Accepted.

Small potato growers in New Jersey have accepted the assistance offered by this group of leading jurists, and the lawyers committee will be retained to fight the AAA potato control law as soon as Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace puts it into effect. This case will be the first of several defenses which the lawyers, many of whom receive big retainers from leading companies, will undertake gratis in order to force a showdown with New Deal regimentation.

At the same time the Liberty league's committee of fifty-eight, which sprang into prominence on Sept. 19 by declaring that the Wagner labor disputes law is unconstitutional, is studying and preparing to report on a dozen other New Deal measures including the Guffey coal control law, the securities exchange law, and the agricultural adjustment act. A subcommittee will meet here tomorrow to discuss a report on the Guffey law.

Thousand Attorneys Join.

Meanwhile, a thousand lawyers throughout the country, in response to invitations, have become members of a general lawyers committee which the Liberty league is organizing "for the purpose of rallying the bar of this country to preserve our constitutional form of government and to safeguard the liberties of the American people guaranteed by the constitution of the United States."

Eight hundred of the lawyers signed up have agreed to organize local units for the preservation of the constitution in their home communities. Thousands of dollars in voluntary contributions have accompanied the membership cards, which continue to roll in.

Raoul E. Desvernine, chairman of the national lawyers committee, whose firm represents the United States Steel corporation, hopes that the membership of the general committee will reach 3,000. The invitations to lawyers were sent out three or four weeks ago and memberships were received in greater volume last week than in either of the previous two weeks.

James A. Reed Member.

The national lawyers committee will continue to be the spearhead, however, and will be the shock brigade for direct attacks, in the courts and outside, on New Deal attempts to subvert the constitution. Beside Davis, Colby, and Beck, this committee of fifty-eight includes James A. Reed, former Democratic senator from Missouri; George W. Wickersham, former attorney general; Ralph M. Shaw of Chicago, former head of the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, and scores of other outstanding lawyers.

PRESIDENT JOINS IN HYMNS WITH WARSHIPS' CREWS

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN PACIFIC, U. S. S. HOUSTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt circled the Panama coast tonight proceeding toward the Gulf of Panama after a Sabbath devoted to attendance at church service and complete relaxation.

Joint services with the crews of the cruisers Houston and Portland were held on the main deck of the Houston as the ship rode at anchor off Bahia Honda, Panama. The President joined in hymns and heard a sermon by Chaplain R. W. Shrum, whose text was, "Judge not that ye be not judged."

Just before sunset the ships weighed anchor for the Gulf of Panama, where the President plans several days' fishing in the vicinity of the Perlas Islands before going through the Panama canal homeward bound into the Atlantic.

RUMANIAN FOES OF MME. LUPESCU PUSH REFORMS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Jubilant leaders of the National Peasants party said today they believed their demand for reform had "chased Mme. Magda Lupescu out."

Party chiefs, at informal conferences, determined to continue the campaign to carry out their program, the ultimate object of which is to smash the so-called royal Camarilla which the red headed friend of King Carol has headed.

Newspapers printed additional cautious intimations of pending changes in royal affairs. It generally was believed Mme. Lupescu had gone to Paris temporarily.

THOUSANDS LAUD TYDINGS' STAND VERSUS NEW DEAL

Liberty League Publishes Group of Letters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—What happens after a Democrat breaks with the New Deal wing of his own party was disclosed today when the American Liberty league published a pamphlet, "Straws Which Tell," giving excerpts from thousands of commendatory letters received by Senator Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.] because he had denounced the New Deal in the senate on April 2.

"Thousands of letters and telegrams came to Senator Tydings, and it is significant of the trend of public opinion that of all of the thousands only two offer adverse criticism," the pamphlet said in an introductory note.

Beside showing a swing in sentiment toward leaders who speak out against the New Deal, the letters were significant because of the manner in which they were published. They evidently were turned over to the American Liberty league, an anti-New Deal organization, by Senator Tydings himself, thus marking the first open coöperation between the league and a Democrat now in public office.

Attacks New Deal Spending.

Senator Tydings in his speech had bitterly attacked the New Deal spending and the economy of scarcity underlying the NRA and farm programs. Most of the letters touched on these points. Some of the excerpts reproduced as "Straws Which Tell" follow:

From a farmer in Columbus, Ind.: "The account of your speech before the senate is heartening. The whole country had about despaired of any relief. I am a farmer and have been penalized nearly $75—a full 25 per cent of the gross sale of my tobacco—because I declined to sign Mr. Wallace's crop reduction 'coercion' papers. I simply refuse to be Russianized."

Lauds "Level Headed Senator."

"Applaud your courage and patriotism. NRA and AAA should be scrapped as first approach to sanity and common sense."

A feed dealer in Hendersonville, N. C., writes:

"I have just read in the paper what you have said about the NRA and AAA. I want to say to you that I am proud of your good sense and judgment, and am glad we have one level headed senator in Washington. For God's sake talk to some of the other senators and save our country."

An Augusta, Ga., cotton manufacturer:

"Permit me to commend your courageous and able attack. . . . I believe you have the good wishes of the vast majority of the kind of citizens whose initiative and hard work made this nation great and would long ago have restored prosperity but for the restrictions and regimentation of NRA and AAA."

"More Power," from Woman.

From a woman living in Pittsburgh, Pa.:

"Congratulations on your courage and good common sense when you spoke your piece in the senate yesterday. If we had more men like yourself the country would not be in the mess it is today. More power to you."

A veteran editor writes from Los Angeles:

"We have had a lot of twaddle about the 'old order passing' and 'new conception of the functions of government dawning,' etc., all of which is preliminary to the rearing of a sort of hybrid governmental structure—a kind of socialistic-superpaternalistic edifice to be run by a burocracy with autocratic authority. Let us hold fast to fundamental truths. A life-long Democrat, in fact, one of the veteran Democratic editors of California, my blue eyes are becoming red. Hit 'em again!"

RADICALS GIVEN PLACES IN NEW POLISH CABINET

"New Deal" Promised to End Depression.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 13.—President Ignace Moscicki today accepted the new cabinet submitted by Marjan Zyndram-Koscialkowski, former minister of the interior. The new premier placed new men in six of Poland's twelve ministries. Col. Josef Beck, foreign minister in the cabinet of Col. Walery Slawek, which resigned yesterday, retains his position.

The most important addition is Eugene Kwiatkowski, former minister of industry and commerce, whose appointment as vice premier insures a trial of his broad program for economic recovery, which the local press has labeled Poland's new deal.

Promises Land Reform.

Kwiatkowski plans energetic measures to decrease the industrial price index and to increase agriculture's price index. The new deal includes making effective a land reform.

The new cabinet is regarded as radical by observers who anticipate a number of interesting developments of internal policy, including the introduction of currency restrictions before the end of the year, and a number of measures to balance the budget.

Truce Saves Moscicki.

The talk of the early resignation of President Moscicki among high officials, and which was even hinted in the official government press, has suddenly stopped. Through the appointment of the new cabinet, the president has achieved another truce with the heads of the army who are consuming upward of 50 per cent of the budget.

The new cabinet marks the temporary retirement of several older Pilsudski men who are giving their younger comrades a chance. New ministers include Tadeusz Kasprzycki, war; Ladislas Raczfiewicz, interior; Gen. Josef Gorecki, commerce; Ladislas Iaszcolt, social welfare, and Prof. Konstantine Chylinski, acting minister of public instruction.

35 STATES MAY CALL SESSIONS ON PENSION ACTS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A study of old age pension laws was reported today to have convinced officials that more than 35 states must call special sessions of their legislatures in the next month or so if they are to share immediately in old age benefits of the social security law.

Two of the 13 states that have no old age pension laws—Virginia and Mississippi—have regularly scheduled sessions in January.

While studies of the state laws were said by officials to be incomplete, they believed that virtually all of the 28 states that had pension legislation before the federal law was enacted will have to modify their statutes in some respect.

VAN GOGH WORKS WORTH MILLION ARRIVE FOR TOUR

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A million dollars' worth of paintings by mad Vincent van Gogh, Dutch artist who earned only $109 from his work during his tragic, wretched lifetime, arrived today from Holland for a tour of American art galleries.

The collection of 45 oils and 46 drawings and water colors were lent to the Museum of Modern Art of New York by the Engineer Vincent W. van Gogh, nephew of the 19th century artist, and by the Kroeller-Mueller Foundation at Wassenaar, Holland. They represent, Museum Director Alfred H. Barr Jr. said, the best of the hundreds of paintings at which Van Gogh worked feverishly, often hungry, fighting off madness, and aided only by an equally poor brother.

Paintings Guarded Closely.

Closely guarded, the paintings were rushed under custom seal from the liner Statendam to the museum. They will be exhibited there Nov. 5 to Jan. 5 and then will be shown in Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, and San Francisco.

Outstanding in the collection is a brilliantly colored painting of sunflowers, the artist's favorite subject. Van Gogh, in need of money, could not sell the picture for $100. Its value now is set at $50,000.

So far as is known, Van Gogh was able to sell only two of his many paintings—one a portrait for $4, and a landscape sold by his brother for $80. Van Gogh's only other known revenue from painting was $25 for 20 small drawings.

Valuation Is "Conservative."

Yet the valuation of a million dollars for the paintings to be shown here, museum officials said, "is conservative."

Van Gogh's portrait of himself, with the profile turned to show only one ear, is in the collection. In a fit of madness Van Gogh cut off one ear, because, the story goes, a woman twitted him about his large head and huge, lopping ears.

The hectic, morbid experiences of his life led him to paint with violent energy and finally brought insanity and suicide. He did not begin to paint until he was 28 and died when he was 37. During a nine year career he turned out hundreds of paintings.

WOMAN HANGS HERSELF.

Mrs. Anna Lokay, 64 years old, 2515 South 58th avenue, Cicero, committed suicide by hanging Saturday.

SOCIALISTS RAP LOW WAGES AND WPA 'FAILURES'

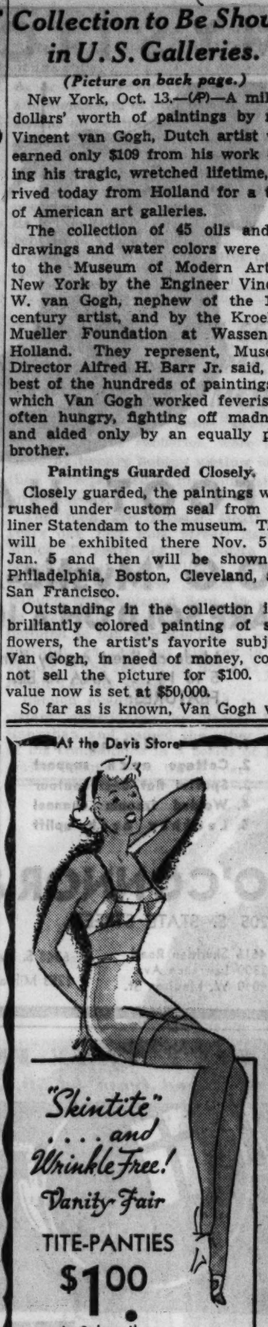

During its quarterly meeting at the Steuben club yesterday, the national executive committee of the Socialist party adopted a formal statement declaring that "we are no nearer a solution of the problem of unemployment than when President Hoover retired and President Roosevelt succeeded him."

"The admitted failure of the Works Progress administration is the culmination of a long series of disappointments for those who relied on the glowing promises of President Roosevelt and his official colleagues," says the statement, which assails the "fearfully low wages" of the WPA, which affords "more than ample relief for incompetent political appointees."

DOORMAN DIES ON JOB.

Fred Beard, 63 years old, colored, 11321 Vincennes avenue, doorman at the State street entrance of the Palmer house, died there suddenly yesterday from heart disease.

OLD GRAY BARNS VANISHING FROM U. S. LANDSCAPE

Many Beauties Found in Color Pilgrimage.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—When, sometime this month, you make the joyous two day "color pilgrimage" into the upper reaches of west Michigan the old gray barns that sit sedately amid nature's woodland pyrotechnics will rest your eyes and subtly satisfy your artistic sense.

In these days of inexpensive paint they are a vanishing feature of the American rural landscape and they are at once the delight and the despair of artists.

Many an artist has told me that it is well nigh impossible to get onto canvas the elusive, lovely, mouselike gray of the old barns of unpainted pine.

Coloring Requires Years.

It takes a dozen years to give them that velvety softness. Twenty-five years do it better. No touch of man's hand can produce it. The sunshine, the rains, the snows of two decades are the painters, and they take their time. The result of their slow, firm strokes is structures that sit amid the rustic scene like demure little old grandmothers. They are resting. They utter quietness, and to ageing men who grew up in a region of farm lands they speak a special message of peace and of pensive retrospect.

In the northerly counties of the lower peninsula this serene beauty takes the place of the blatant, boisterous billboards that disfigure rural areas near large cities.

I suppose the old gray barns soon will go. One reason they have survived up here is that for many years farming was not profitable and reconstruction along the lines of spick and span did not pay for itself.

Fresh Beauties Await.

But we must push on, for from Muskegon to the Straits of Mackinac fresh beauties and interesting facts await you at every turn.

It is not solely color week's riot of autumnal hues that will divert you, and that is well, for uninterrupted "views," however entrancing, can pall.

The so-called "Lake Fingers" that ages upon ages ago were ice fingers will interest you; of them more further on. So will a quiet visit with the teaching sisters of Notre Dame, whose great mother house is in Milwaukee and who for half a century have maintained in Harbor Springs a school for Indian children which bears the beautiful name Holy Childhood school and which is attended by 123 Indian children. Nice children they seem, mannerly, and, in a shy way, cheerful. They are very neatly clad and they do not screech.

The teaching sister I visited with is charming.

Fish Are Interesting.

Interesting, too, is the lazy sturgeon in the state fish hatchery in the Mecosta county village of Paris on Route 131, which is the route I followed in my journey northward.

That sturgeon, whose species is nearly extinct in Michigan and is strictly protected by law, has a genius for minding its own business. It lives in a pond that is alive with young trout and if it had a taste for trout it could take a dozen at a gulp. But it is what is called a "bottom feeder," getting his sustenance from the bottom of the pond, and so does not bother the trout.

One of the gamekeepers spoke of it as a "scavenger feeder." The trout are fed chopped liver and are of the brook, rainbow, and brown varieties. Last year the Mecosta county hatcheries had a "fish plant" of more than one million three hundred thousand, ranging from 5 to 7 months old.

Lesson in Repose.

As a lesson in repose and in avoidance of waste motion the lonely sturgeon in Paris rewards in ten minutes of lazy contemplation. But if it is an emblem of lethargic common sense, the trout are its antithesis. Raise your arm against the sunlight so that they catch the shadow and picturesque panic results. You will think you have dropped a bomb among them—or at least they seem to think you have.

I said the sturgeon is nearly extinct in Michigan water. A gamekeeper said that the magnificent grayling is completely so. Americans are ruthless. Gen. Dawes, a scrupulous fisherman, says that many of them are indecent, and in his forthcoming book of reminiscences he will utter criticism of their unfairness.

The cedar tree with six lofty trunks and the beautifully kept lawns of the Paris hatchery repay a glance. It is dead but is carefully preserved. It was considered so remarkable a specimen that it was removed from the woods and set up on the lawn. The tops of its six columnlike shafts now serve as supports for bird houses.

Other Sights Noted.

Other arresting sights en route:

Ford's Island in Grand Traverse bay.

The boulder and tablet which Petoskey To-Se-Ga chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution have set upon the lofty green terrace in front of the railroad station in Petoskey.

Ford's Island, a beautiful and heavily wooded eminence in the west arm of Grand Traverse bay, represents one of Marse Henry's infrequent ventures in an offhand way of transacting business. The story runs that a dozen years ago Henry Ford's brother-in-law, Mr. Bryant, garage keeper in Traverse City and Ford distributor in the bay area, walked into the Detroit offices and said, "Henry, you ought to buy that island in Traverse bay. It is virgin timber and should be preserved."

"How much do they want for it?"

Thereupon, say the natives, the inventor, turning to a secretary, "Write Mr. Bryant a check for $30,000."

And the island still is virgin—not a shack on it nor a tree cut.

Reforestation Gaining Ground.

When you motor through the Fife lake state forest preserve—which is partly in Wexford and partly in Grand Traverse county and through which runs our route 131—you get heartening proof of how reforestation is repairing the ghastly depredations of the Michigan lumber barons of the seventies, eighties, and nineties of the last century. This preserve comprises 42,000 acres. To drive through it ten years ago was to behold utter desolation. Now it bears a five year growth of pine.

She seeks to set aside an illegal marraige to Chewning in 1921.

SECRETARY DERN LANDS IN JAPAN ON OFFICIAL VISIT

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Oct. 14 [Monday].—(AP)—George H. Dern, United States secretary of war, traveling to Manila aboard the cruiser Chester, arrived at this port today for a four day official visit in Japan. Secretary Dern is to represent President Roosevelt at the ceremonies inaugurating the new commonwealth government of the Philippine Islands.

The secretary and his party were greeted by high officials of the Japanese government. Leaving the Chester the party motored to Tokio, where the American embassy residence is to be their home until Oct. 18, when they reembark on the Chester and sail for Shanghai.

The secretary will be received at an audience by Emperor Hirohito in the imperial palace tomorrow morning. Both American and Japanese officials in Tokio have declared that there is no intention of making the secretary's visit an occasion for official discussion of any American-Japanese issues. Accompanying the secretary are Mrs. Dern, their son James, and officials. They are to be guests at a number of official luncheons and dinners.

Disabled Engine Keeps Laconia at Boston Port

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Cunard-White Star liner Laconia, due to have sailed last night for Cobh and Liverpool, still was at her berth here tonight with mechanics continuing repairs to her disabled engine. En route from New York and with more than 200 passengers aboard, the Laconia's gangplank had been drawn in when final inspection revealed the trouble. Passengers remained aboard.

BRITISH HUNGER STRIKERS EAT, BUT REMAIN IN MINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Succumbing to the tempting odor of coffee and the sight of piles of sandwiches and fruit sent down by anxious relatives, 71 miners of the Nine Mile Point colliery at Monmouthshire tonight cut off the word "hunger" from their underground strike.

Apart from a surrender to appetites, however, their position remained unchanged. At midnight, 42 hours after they had descended into the pit, the miners announced they would remain below until the mine owners dismissed 88 men belonging to a rival union. These men are employed in an adjoining pit. The owners refuse to discuss the matter until the men return to the surface.

Three men came to the surface tonight. One was exhausted, another was unable to stand the strain of the gloomy vigil, and a third was sent up because his grandfather had died.

Meanwhile, 1,800 members of the South Wales Miners' federation voted to stage a sympathy strike if the rival union "black legs" were not withdrawn by tomorrow morning.

BAY OF FUNDY TIDE LOWEST, THEN HIGHEST IN A HALF CENTURY

Lubec, Me., Oct. 13.—(AP)—This town, which saw its lowest tide here yesterday in 50 years, witnessed the waters of Fundy bay rise today to an unprecedented high of 28.8 feet.

Hordes of rats were driven from their water front holes, and debris was swept into shore smokehouses. Boats tied up at wharves were lifted so high cables had to be loosened.

Yesterday's low tide permitted men in hip boots to wade across the bay to Campobello Island, N. B.

Elsewhere along the Maine coast extreme high and low tides were reported. At the Two Lights coast guard station at Cape Elizabeth, near the entrance to Portland harbor, a low tide of 11 feet 8 inches was reported. The tide usually falls from 8½ to 9 feet there.

PRINTERS HEAR AND APPROVE PLANS FOR FAIR

Walter L. Gregory, president of the Chicago Exposition authority, discussed plans for the permanent fair yesterday in the Palmer house before the quarterly meeting of the Old Time Printers' Association of Chicago. The gathering then voted unanimous approval of the project.

Mr. Gregory observed that some opposition has been fostered by persons interested in amusement enterprises and that unfounded rumors have been circulated about the character of the exposition. He urged that criticism be withheld until the committee completes its plans.

"Whatever is done will be for the best interest of Chicago and for the educational, recreational and cultural welfare of the community," he asserted. He predicted that the Chicago park board would execute the lease for Burnham park within a week.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

BOTH SIDES LOOK TO LOUISE BAUER TODAY FOR HELP

Louise Schaffer Bauer, Kirksville, Mo., hospital nurse, will take the witness stand today in the Criminal court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington to testify in the trial of her former lover, Mandeville Zenge, young Canton, Mo., dairy farmer and carpenter. Zenge is on trial for his life, charged with the mutilation murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer. Mrs. Bauer was Zenge's sweetheart, but she married Dr. Bauer in a hasty ceremony while Zenge was making final preparations to wed her.

Mrs. Bauer will be the final witness for the state. By her testimony the state expects to show a motive for the bizarre slaying. The high light of the state's case is to be the testimony of the girl, for whose love one man had died and another is facing death. Her appearance is expected to crowd the courtroom with thrill seekers.

Hope for Sympathetic Witness.

Considerable mystery surrounds her testimony. Defense attorneys, Joseph E. Green and Joseph A. Roach, are hopeful that she will seek to aid Zenge. It has repeatedly been said that her love for her childhood sweetheart, in some measure, persists.

The prosecutors, Charles Dougherty and Mal Coghlan, believe that her testimony will show Zenge to have murdered his successful rival after Dr. Bauer had supplanted him in Louise's affections.

Shortly after the murder on July 31 Mrs. Bauer was placed in state custody as a material witness, and has been secluded. Her tearful testimony before the grand jury, and her weeping assertion that she did not believe Zenge guilty when she confronted him, are indications of cheer to the defense.

Ann Arbor Angle First.

Mrs. Bauer will take the stand late this afternoon after several witnesses testify to Zenge's presence in the Ann Arbor hotel from which Dr. Bauer was kidnaped. The state has already shown by more than a score of witnesses that Zenge was seen fleeing from the scene on the south side here where Dr. Bauer was found mutilated and dying, and that the young farmer staged a fake suicide to throw police from his trail. Another witness, William [Dago] Leinnert, a taxicab driver, told of gaining the confidence of Zenge, hearing his confession, and then betraying him to police.

From Mrs. Bauer's testimony are expected to come the answers to numerous innuendos as to the lives of the three members of the tragic triangle. It is expected that either on direct examination or under searching examination the girl, widowed a few days after her marriage, will be forced to tell the details of her long love affair with Zenge and to clear up several puzzling details of her marriage.

Will Ask Directed Verdict.

At the conclusion of the state's case, it has been indicated, Attorney Green will argue for a directed verdict. Basis for the argument will be that the state has not proved venue, has offered no substantial proof that the injuries, which caused the death, were inflicted in Illinois.

If the motion is denied the defense will proceed with its case. Thirty-five witnesses, including alienists, members of the Zenge family and surgeons will take the stand in the fight to keep Zenge from the electric chair.

Probable defense tactics will be to show that a strain of insanity runs through the Zenge family. The mental shock of losing his sweetheart, and the belief that she had been mistreated, the defense will contend, brought out the strain and rendered Zenge temporarily insane. The defense expects to take a week for its case.

SEEK $1,900 COAT BURGLAR.

A man who broke the window of the I. Himmel & Sons fur store at 822 West 63d street and fled with a $1,900 mink coat Saturday night was sought by police yesterday.

College Quits National Body on Issue of Birth Control

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Withdrawal of St. Mary's college from associate membership in the American Association of University Women has been announced by Sister M. Madeleva, C. S. C., president of the college, as a protest against the A. A. U. W. advocacy of "legalizing and dispensing of information by physicians on contraception."

Sister Madeleva made public correspondence with Dr. Kathryn McHale, Washington, D. C., general director of A. A. U. W., in which the St. Mary's president scored the association for its action taken at the summer convention of the A. A. U. W.

Sister Madeleva in her letter to Dr. McHale said:

"Although St. Mary's college has only an associate membership in the association, I feel that it is one of many schools whose fundamental principles have been definitly misrepresented by this action. For this reason we wish to withdraw our associate membership. We regret deeply this action on the part of the association. We feel that it is beside its purpose and unrepresentative."

Dr. McHale, in her reply to Sister Madeleva, took the stand that the association adopted no A. A. U. W. policy on birth control. She pointed out that the association had voted on the legalization of dissemination of birth control information to relieve the physicians from the restriction of the criminal code.

THREE ADMIT 55 HOLDUPS; NAMED IN TWENTY MORE

Three men, who police say confessed fifty-five robberies, were identified by twenty holdup victims when they were paraded in the police showup yesterday.

The men are Russell Heath, 23 years old, 1521 Polk street; Samuel Millice, 32 years old, 648 North Carpenter street, and William Babuch, 25 years old, 1538 School street. Babuch was captured Sept. 19 when he was shot five times as he attempted to rob Morgan Lee, a police operator, as Lee put his car in his garage in the rear of his home at 2026 North Leavitt street.

Babuch eventually yielded to persistent questioning by Sergt. Jack Hanrahan and named the other men as his companions in a series of robberies dating back three years.

CURIOSITY PUTS THIS BURGLAR IN GRIP OF THE LAW

One of the most interested of the spectactors was Clifton Mills, 35 years old, 861 West 63rd place. He pushed his way to the front, brushing against Policeman Ernest Schloeman.

A hard object in the right hip pocket of Mills interested the policeman, who seized the spectator. This hard object was not, as Schloeman suspected, a pistol. It was a lether bag containing jewelry and watches that had been stolen from the Meinz home.

Mills admitted that he was a burglar.

BATTER SPEAKER, NAB SWASTIKA AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A meeting of the Friends of New Germany at American Lutheran Association hall at 1113 West State street was abruptly broken up tonight when four men reached the stage from a rear door, assaulted the speaker and tore the swastika flags from the stage. The four men escaped with them as trophies.

The bewildered audience swarmed forward. The stage was soon filled as the spectators sought to get through the narrow rear door at the same time to chase the attackers.

When police arrived the audience turned over one man to police. Two men had caught him on the stage, they said.

At the central police station the suspect gave the name of Anton Miester, 34, of 1547 North 15th street. He insisted he was one of the first to reach the stage to chase the anti-Nazis. He said he was a Friend of New Germany. He was held over night.

Walter Koppe of New York City was making an address when the four men reached the stage. One struck Koppe in the face, knocking him to the floor. The others tore down the swastika flags which were draped about the stage.

In less than three minutes the raiders had fled.

RANCHER KILLED BY BRONCHO.

Walsenburg, Colo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dragged for a quarter of a mile by a broncho, Atilio Andreatta, 50, a rancher, was fatally injured today. Andreatta's foot caught in a rope he had tied around the horse's neck.

HOW DESPERATE DILLINGER TWICE THWARTED G-MEN

Girl's Inside Story Defends Agents.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN, former confidential secretary in the Chicago bureau, United States department of justice, in collaboration with JOE ATOK.

"Now hell has broken loose!"

It was Melvin Purvis speaking. He had just received the news of Dillinger's escape from Crown Point, Ind. Only a few days passed before his words proved true.

Dillinger and Evelyn Frechette fled from the battle in the St. Paul apartment house to the home of Dr. Clayton May, the underworld physician there. Dr. May dressed Dillinger's two wounds. The outlaw had received one two weeks before in a bank robbery and another in the fight with the G-men at the apartment. The next day he left St. Paul with Evelyn.

They passed through Carthage, Ill., on April 2. They made a fleeting visit to Chicago. On April 7, Evelyn, alone at the time, wrecked their car at Noblesville, Ind. She bought a new one with "hot" money.

Dillinger Coolly Goes Home.

The next day, with thousands of officers looking for him, Dillinger calmly visited one spot which they would be almost sure to watch. He called on his old father at Mooresville—and got away with it. The next day he and Evelyn were back in Chicago. And the G-men knew it.

The underworld communications net which the agents had woven so patiently and laboriously functioned with astonishing speed. Dillinger and his woman had been in town less than 24 hours when a stool pigeon established contact with the agent who had recruited him. He reported not only their arrival but their plans.

Dillinger was alive to his peril. He was seeking a disguise—a permanent one. In gangster haunts he had learned of the exploits of underworld physicians. They could remove identifying scars, change facial contours by plastic surgery and even give a man a new face. Some of them boasted that they could alter finger prints.

G-Men Lay Their Trap.

But there was more immediate need—a safe hideout. Evelyn was going that night to a tavern frequented by gangsters and their friends. She hoped to find such a hideout. There negotiations could be carried on for a face lifting operation. But at the tavern the G-men were waiting.

The tavern was at 416 North State street. Naturally, the address was kept secret until the last moment. But during the day an air of tension over the G-men's office in the Bankers building told that something was in the wind. Something big.

Just how big it was to be no one suspected. The G-men did not appraise Dillinger's psychology properly. They had no idea he would be so rash as to venture out with Evelyn. She was the objective of the raid. Only half a dozen agents went out. Purvis was not among them. And so, from this failure to plumb the rashness of Dillinger, a golden opportunity was lost. For Dillinger was there.

Mystery Occupant in Auto.

Quietly the agents parked their cars in the near north side honky-tonk district. Quietly they strolled toward the tavern. A row of automobiles stood at the curb of the side street. The glow of a cigaret showed that one was occupied. The agent in charge spoke to one of the younger G-men.

The young agent followed his instructions. In 10 minutes he made a leisurely return, casually accosted his leader.

The Big Chance Bungled.

It may have been due to his inexperience. Possibly, in his anxiety not to arouse suspicion, he had not taken a very good look into the darkened car. He had made a fatal error, one that was eventually to cost a half dozen lives. "That fellow" was John Dillinger.

The raid proceeded according to plan. Evelyn Frechette appeared. Front and rear entrances of the tavern were guarded. Two of the G-men walked inside. There was a moment of uproar, screams, and epithets from the little gang spitfire. She was hustled away. In the street, half a block away, a car edged unostentatiously out from the curb. John Dillinger drove away unobserved.

Evelyn boasted later that he had been in the tavern, had walked quietly past the agents when she was seized. That was bravado. Dillinger himself told the story later in the underworld. A stool pigeon relayed it to the G-men.

"First I heard a rumpus in the tavern," Dillinger is quoted as saying, "then, when Evelyn didn't show up, I knew she was grabbed. I cried like a baby."

The story rings true. He was not to find another woman as loyal as Evelyn Frechette. He never saw her after that night.

Evelyn was taken to Minneapolis. There she was tried and convicted with Dr. May of harboring Dillinger. She was sent to prison for two years. Meanwhile Dillinger had rejoined Hamilton. The very night of Evelyn's arrest they fled from Chicago. The next day they were in Pittsburgh. Two days later they slugged a night policeman in Warsaw, Ind., and carried off four bullet-proof vests and some guns from the town jail.

Boasts by a Dying Man.

Meanwhile, in a hospital in the Twin Cities, Eddie Green, the bank robber, was sinking toward death. The bullet in his brain kept him delirious. He babbled on to the agent who sat beside his bed. Out of his babbling came the name of a woman, Mrs. Anna Steve of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. She was John Hamilton's sister.

"That's one of our hideouts," boasted the dying Green.

The day that information was relayed to Chicago reports came to our office from police in Indiana and Michigan. Two men, believed to be Dillinger and Hamilton, had been sighted in several towns. The time of these different reports was compared. Dillinger and Hamilton appeared to be moving northward—toward the Soo. The tempo of the manhunt was increasing. That night two chartered planes took off from a Chicago airport. They were filled with G-men.

Two hours later, as dusk was falling, the pilots set their passengers down at Sault Ste. Marie. Local police quickly told them where Mrs. Steve lived, on the outskirts of the town. As soon as it was dark, the house was surrounded. Every exit was blocked. The party bristled with machine guns—although this was the first action for most of them.

Slowly the ring tightened about the house. Covered by machine gunners one of the agents pounded on the door. Mrs. Steve answered. Cautiously but swiftly the raiders swarmed into the house. Mrs. Steve was alone. Dillinger and Hamilton had left the day before.

She was placed under arrest. Throughout the night half of the party made a thorough search of the dwelling. The others lay in ambush within the house, in the hope that the two outlaws might return. Their hope was not fulfilled, although the search disclosed that they had been there a short time ago. Mrs. Steve was questioned. She did not know where her guests had gone. Hamilton would not trust even his own sister with that information.

Comedy in a Man Hunt.

At daylight the grim concentration of the raid dissolved in comedy. One of the agents was missed. It was the same man, incidentally, who had failed to identify Dillinger outside the tavern where Evelyn Frechette was caught. He had been posted in the outer circle of the man trap, guarding one of the roads away from the house. The agents hurried to that spot.

There they found their missing agent. He lay behind a rock shivering in the cold spring morning despite the blanket wrapped around him. His shotgun was still trained down the road. He didn't know the raid was over. This agent was not marked for any gangster's bullet. He left the service soon afterward. Today he is fighting for his life in a sanitarium.

A guard was maintained at the Steve home for several days, but Dillinger and Hamilton never returned. Later Mrs. Steve was sent to jail for harboring her brother and his fellow outlaw.

On the Trail Again!

Then, two days after the unsuccessful raid at the Soo, an electric wave of excitement again ran through the Chicago office. Agents were pulled off minor assignments. Those who reported by phone from field investigations were told to drop everything and report at headquarters. Machine guns appeared. More than a score of G-men were waiting for orders. The orders sent them to the airport, where planes were waiting. Their destination was kept secret. But such a concentration could mean but one thing. Dillinger had been found.

This time the planes landed at Mercer, Wis. Eighteen miles away, the Dillinger gang had taken over the Little Bohemia resort, run by one Emil Wanetka. Dillinger and Hamilton were there, with the deadly Baby Face Nelson and Tommy Carroll.

They were carousing with their women, Marie Conforti, Van Meter's girl Jean Crompton who was with Carroll, and Nelson's wife, who went by their legal name of Mrs. Lester Gillis. Deep in the woods, they deemed themselves safe.

Met by St. Paul Contingent.

At Mercer the Chicago G-men were met by another contingent from St. Paul. Inspectors W. A. Rorer and H. H. Clegg, who led these men, both outranked Purvis in the service. In justice to my former boss, who silently took a storm of criticism over the Little Bohemia episode, it may be said that he was not in complete charge that night. It may well be that there were too many bosses.

At Mercer the agents rented all the cars they could. Still they didn't have enough. So they went along the streets and commandeered more. In one case this was to embarrass them later. Final plans were laid. Every road out of the resort was covered, it was thought. The little army moved into action.

[The G-men move swiftly upon the "Little Bohemia" resort. At least one of them will never return alive. Mrs. Lockerman's thrilling story of that night's event will be published tomorrow.]

LEGION GROUP GETS AIR VIEW OF STORM ZONE

Miami, Fla., Oct. 13.—(AP)—American Legion investigators today saw from a low-flying airliner devastated Florida keys where more than 200 of their buddies lost their lives in the Sept. 2 hurricane.

Flying here to continue the fact-finding inquiry opened yesterday in Key West, they watched with keen interest the panorama of destruction unfolding a few hundred feet below the plane.

Maj. Quimby Melton, Griffin, Ga., editor and publisher, heads the committee of investigation authorized by the recent St. Louis convention.

Much of the Miami ground, insofar as weather bureau, railroad, and other officials are concerned, has been already gone over by State's Attorney G. A. Worley, who took sworn testimony for Gov. Dave Sholtz of Florida.

From the all-day hearing in Miami tomorrow, the committee travels to Tallahassee for a conference with Gov. Sholtz.

Horse Car Again to "Run" in State Street Pageant

A horse car will run again on State street, bringing guests dressed in the fashions of the gay nineties to the third annual banquet of the State Street Seniors at the Palmer house on Oct. 21, it was announced yesterday. The horse car, according to present plans, is to be part of a pageant, "Early Chicago on Parade." Special honors are planned for Henry C. Lytton, proprietor of The Hub, and D. F. Kelly, president and general manager of the Fair store, as the oldest merchants in service on the street.

Baking School Is Czarist Nest, Soviet Paper Charges

MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—(AP)—A charge that the state institute for scientific research into baking has become a nest for former czarist officers and the sons of noblemen was made today by the newspaper Pravda, which demanded a housecleaning. Accusations appearing in Pravda, the official party organ, almost invariably are followed by action. The institute is supposed to evolve improved formulas for baking bread.

Speaking of Imitations

You've probably met the sheep that crossed the cotton patch on the way to the tailor's. Experience learned that everything first class inspires shoddy imitations—including Gem Blades. But "copy cat" goods never have the durability of genuine products.

Gems are cheapest because they last so long. Their tough, slow-dulling edges—built of 50% thicker surgical steel—are so sharp that a once-over controls the densest beard for 24 hours. Dual-Alignment (exclusive feature of Gem Razors) prevents scuffs and irritation. Which makes Gems "hunky dory" with all sensitive skins. The most and cleanest shaves at the least cost.

GUARANTEED TREATMENT AGAINST BALDNESS

By the Inventor of the Permanent Wave

A treatment that will save the hair on your head has not only been your hope, but the hope of generations. The announcement of such a discovery by Charles Nessler is the sensational climax of 35 years' scientific research.

With PRO-KER Charles Nessler's new preparation, PRO-KER Laboratories make this guarantee.

No matter what your age—no matter how great your present hair loss—whether you suffer from such secondary conditions as dandruff, oiliness or itching scalp—PRO-KER is guaranteed to stop your hair loss from the first moment of use—and promptly to correct the secondary conditions. (For details see booklet.)

"Baldness is not due to falling hair," Mr. Nessler tells us. It is due to the fact that nature fails to replace the hair that falls. That is the simple but startling discovery on which PRO-KER is based. PRO-KER helps nature to complete the hair growing cycle—to replace the hair that falls with new, live, lustrous hair.

LIBERALS COUNT ON 130 SEATS IN CANADIAN VOTE

Third Parties May Take Balance of Power.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 13.—Canada closed one of the most lurid campaigns in its history tonight and some six million voters tomorrow will choose from 884 candidates the 245 members of the house of commons who will establish the next government of the dominion.

In importance to Canada the election corresponds to the presidential election next year in the United States. Chief contenders are Premier Richard R. Bennett of the Conservative party and Mackenzie King, ex-premier, head of the Liberals. Both are bachelors.

For the last two or three years Canada has seen a swing to the Liberals in provincial elections, even in tory Ontario, old stronghold of the Conservatives. Today no province has a Conservative administration. Eight have Liberal premiers and governments. In the ninth, Alberta, the Social Credit league turned things upside down in August.

Fear Third Parties.

Nipping at the heels of the two major parties are three minor radical parties and a batch of candidates of nondescript type from technocrat to communist. Liberals in speeches have voiced a fear that the minor parties might snatch enough seats to prevent the top party from electing a working majority of the commons.

Liberal headquarters today declared the third party "menace" has been diminishing this last week and that the party statisticians now look for the Liberals to take 130 seats or more, which would be more than a majority.

Chief issue is unemployment and the high retaliatory protective tarif walls. King and the Liberals are for freer trade. Bennett and the Conservatives are under attack for centralizing power too much at Ottawa at the expense of the provinces. King accuses Bennett of being a "dictator."

Social Credit Wave Grows.

The Alberta social credit enthusiasm is spreading into Saskatchewan, British Columbia, and parts of Manitoba. The Cooperative Commonwealth federation, headed by J. S. Woodsworth, is urging a socialistic state on Marxian lines.

A one man party, the Reconstructionists, headed by H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce in the Bennett government, is out to "share the wealth" by socking big business and is held to have its main support in the maritime provinces and in parts of Ontario.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Silage Yields.

October 13, 1935.

YIELD tests on three varieties of silage corn were recently completed at the Tribune Experimental farm near Yorkville. The different varieties were grown under uniform conditions and the corn was weighed before it was put through the silage cutter. Golden Beauty made the highest yield, producing 22,567 pounds of silage material to the acre. Hybrid No. 172 came next with 20,095 pounds and Hybrid No. 13 made 18,280 pounds per acre.

Golden Beauty made a rank stalk growth and lodged badly when hit by a hard wind just a few days before it was cut. The Hybrid varieties withstood the wind much better than the Golden Beauty and matured earlier. Farm Manager Clarence Thurow considers the Hybrid 172 the most satisfactory of the three varieties, since it made a good yield, matured well ahead of frosts, and showed but little tendency to lodge. About three acres of the Golden Beauty was down so badly that it could not be cut with the binders and was left in the field. When the first killing frost came it still was green enough to be damaged.

Comparisons also were made of the yields of silage and grain varieties. Western Plowman, a grain variety, weighed out 17,850 pounds of silage material per acre. This was hardly a logical comparison, Mr. Thurow explains, since the grain corn was more mature than the silage varieties and, consequently, contained less moisture.

When asked which kind of corn he liked best for silage, Thurow said:

"I much prefer some good grain variety like Western Plowman or White Silvermine. You see, we feed all our silage to beef cattle, and the silage corns, while they make a heavier tonnage per acre, do not make as good silage for fattening steers as the grain varieties.

"I like corn used for silage to have lots of big ears on it for it takes grain to put on fat. I also want the corn to be fairly well matured before it is put into the silo. Now, if we had dairy cows, I guess we would want greener corn and would not be so much concerned about the amount of grain."

All the silage varieties made ranker stalk and leaf growth than the grain varieties, but they produced much less grain. One six acre field of Krug, a grain variety, filled a 65 ton silo. The ears were large and well matured.

While the actual grain yield was not checked, it was estimated at 50 bushels to the acre. This was considered about the average yield of the different strains of grain corn grown on the place this year. Accurate figures on grain yields will not be available until the corn is picked. None of the corn will be shocked, according to present plans.

Eight of the ten coal black Aberdeen Angus hefers, mated to Silver Victor R, a white Shorthorn bull, have calved. The other two are expected to drop calves next month. Of the eight calves, there are five bulls and three hefers. This cross of two distinct breeds is being made in an effort to produce blue gray beef animals, which rank high in Scotland.

SUPREME COURT SETS CASES FOR SESSION TODAY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Supreme court will chart tomorrow a new working program which may include two cases involving constitutionally-challenged New Deal legislation.

Their list of "orders" for tomorrow, issued before they settle down to hearing oral arguments, will reveal new cases which will be considered on their merits.

Topping the schedule in general interest are the Hoosac Mills case involving the validity of agricultural processing taxes, and the Alabama power case in which the Tennessee Valley authority act is questioned.

Although observers look for Monday's "orders" to dispose of most of the new cases, action on a third proposed New Deal test may be deferred. This is a government request for review of a ruling by the Cincinnati Circuit court denying the government's right to condemn land for PWA slum clearance and housing projects.

Burglars Ransack Two Flats; Get $1,050 Loot

Burglars ransacked two flats in a building at 4401 South Albany avenue last night and fled with $850 and jewelry valued at nearly $200. The money and most of the jewelry belonged to Frank Mockler and his brother William, residents of the second floor. The first floor flat is occupied by the family of Louis Schulz.

TEST DRUG HERE TO BLOCK T. B. IN NEWBORN BABIES

Research preparatory to inoculating newborn babies with the controversial Bacille-Calmette-Guerin [BCG] anti-tuberculosis vaccine is being conducted by Dr. Maurice Blatt, head of the pediatrics department of Cook County hospital, it was learned yesterday.

Although no babies have been inoculated with the vaccine, Dr. Blatt said he and his associates have grown a culture so attenuated that it no longer is virulent and therefore may be used for human tests.

The vaccine first came to public attention in 1924 when its co-discoverer, the late Dr. Albert Calmette, director of the Pasteur institute, used it to vaccinate calves produced by tubercular cows. A year later he began vaccinating babies.

However, it soon became the subject of wide dispute in medical and scientific circles. Certain scientists contended that inoculation with it merely heightened the tendency toward tuberculosis. Nevertheless, it has been widely used in France, Germany, and Holland. In France alone more than 100,000 babies have been inoculated.

Pillsbury Home Looted of Gems, Clothing, Furs

Burglars entered the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Pillsbury, 179 West Chestnut street, yesterday afternoon while members of the family were absent and carried away jewelry, clothing, and furs valued at $3,000. A lock on the front door was broken by the thieves. Mr. Pillsbury is local manager of the Pillsbury Flour Mills company.

ITALY OUTLAWED.

The Chinese find that occidental ways are a greater puzzle to them than their own ways are to the occidentals. Something has caused a greater concern for the peace and territorial integrity of Ethiopia than for the peace and integrity of China, both being members of the league of nations and equally entitled to its protections. Possibly the Chinese will observe that there is a difference between Italy and Japan. Japan has the bigger navy. Military experts may think it has the better army.

The league stood for the Japanese push in Manchuria, for its separation from China, for the ravage of Shanghai, and for the invasion of the northern provinces. Although in this case the league had the coöperation of the United States, it did nothing. Under Mr. Stimson as secretary of state America was shoved far out on the extreme front in Manchuria and was left there holding the bag, to get back to cover as best it could. Geneva merely irritated Japan into grabbing its hat, leaving the league, and slamming the door.

The league refused to take Syria's complaints of the French mandates seriously, it stood for the Chaco war, it accepted the German repudiation of the Versailles treaty, and now it suddenly becomes a working organization against Italy. For the first time in its existence it acts upon the articles of its covenant, and forty-nine of its member nations have followed Great Britain and declared a boycott.

It is true enough that the league's only alternative was to sign its own death warant. It could not add an Ethiopian futility to the farces which had made up its record and continue to be of consequence in any eyes. If it refused the issue again its members could only have slipped quietly away home to remain there. This was recognized more clearly in Geneva than any place else, but it does not explain the action taken against the now outlawed member of the family.

For the first time in the history of the league an interest which Great Britain regarded as paramount was involved. That interest, of course, appears clearer to British statesmanship than it does elsewhere. The British could find a way of reconciling themselves to Japanese aggression in the far east, although the commercial rivalry seems paramount there and almost negligible in the case of Ethiopia. The British imperial sense took some alarm at the Italian maneuvers, prompting the stopping of Italy in Africa at all hazards.

The revival of the moribund league, whatever may be the consequences of it, must be regarded as a masterpiece of British diplomacy. There are small nations which welcome it as a sign that they too will be protected if they are threatened by larger powers, but British success, particularly with France, in presenting a front so extensive against Italy was in the best tradition of the oldest British diplomacy. The Pitts could have done nothing better.

Prima facie it is a tremendous event in world history. Beneath the surface it is unfathomable. What it will mean in practical effect is largely unpredictable. The central Europe of Germany, Austria, and Hungary is not involved in the laying on of the boycott. An area running from the northern ports of Europe to the markets of Italy is open. If Italy had the money to pay, Mussolini would become such a customer as might pull Germany out of its economic hole. Everything Italy wanted could come from the ports and industries of Germany and there would be a gold rush from everywhere to get the harvest. It would seem that the league's sanctions, exercised for the first time on a great scale or any scale against a violator of its covenant, are tested more by Italian lack of funds than by anything else.

There remains of course the blockade. The world waits to see if Great Britain's interests are so acute and success so imperative that it will close the route of Italian supplies, whether bound to Ethiopia or into Italy itself.

JUST ANOTHER FEDERAL JOB.

A recent dispatch from Washington reported the appointment of Dr. Homer R. Rainey to head a new federal commission which will study the youth problem and recommend improvements in education.

There are 1,465 colleges and universities in the United States. Forty-eight states have organized systems of education maintaining elementary schools, high schools, normal schools, or institutions for the study of education and the instruction of teachers, and institutions of higher learning, some of which are of first rank. All of these institutions are staffed by professional teachers engaged through the year in the study of youth as well as its instruction. There is a great national organization of teachers and educational specialists. There are voluntary organizations like the Parent-Teacher association. There is, in short, an immense organized activity to study the problems of youth and every essential means of collecting its findings and making it available to all school authorities and all teachers.

And now we are to have a federal commission with salaries and expenses paid out of the people's money without their consent and without any shadow of excuse. In due time it will make a report and that report will be added to the great volume of proceedings and reports now existing, and ever growing, on the subject of education.

To say this new federal enterprise is superfluous and an untimely expenditure imposed upon the public is feebly to understate the fact. When crackpot reformers and pork hungry politicians are spending billions, no doubt this comparatively modest waste may not seem worth comment. Yet it is a perfect illustration of the process by which burocracy grows by inches as well as by yards and miles. It is a perfect example of the itch among the intelligentsia and half baked do-gooders to meddle in all things local and national and especially to create at Washington agencies to carry out their theories, to say nothing of jobs and publicity. The study of the problems of youth is being carried on by existing institutions, from the local school board to the highest institutions, and its results are being constantly discussed, digested, and applied. The new federal commission is an impertinence and a futility, a product of the foolish notion that federal agencies must be higher and better than local, and fostered by shrewd politicians looking for any excuse to create offices for patronage and new ways to spend other people's money.

REPUBLICS IN EUROPE.

Republics are restless dreams in Europe. They are intolerable to ambitious intriguers and too difficult for untrained people. The democratic system cannot endure extremes of political and economic theory. It exists where there is a predominant conservative opinion. If the republican form merely inspires radicals to force in communism and encourages masses to look for unearned advantages the failure is written in advance.

The Weimar constitution in Germany was a promise of democracy. Lenin in Russia was its danger. Hitler was its end. Italy, Hungary, and Poland had gone that way before, but when Germany fell the day which seemed to dawn with the end of the war had reached its sunset, a brief, inglorious failure.

There had not been anywhere in the affected parts of Europe a political mass trained to stand on common ground in support of moderation. Among the people of a democracy there must be more agreements than disagreements. There must be a tendency toward the majority rather than toward a multitude of minorities. There must be a common sense of what is attainable and what is unattainable. The spirit is not acquired in a generation.

When the democratic experiment has wasted itself in the violence of people who want too much and in a conflict of irreconcilable interests and ideas the selfish man with an iron fist steps in at the head of an equally selfish group and the people are sold down the river.

THE OHIO PROBLEM IN FOOTBALL.

Ohio State university discloses that the eye of the legislature will make a good football team. Ohio State has a good team. It was a great team last year and promises to repeat. Gov. Davey seems to be one of the few Ohioans who doesn't care. He has cut the university appropriations to the bone and in the resulting unpleasantness it is revealed that fourteen football players on the squad have state jobs paying as high as $1,000 a year. The inducement to go to school in Columbus is rather good, with the legislature playing the rich uncle.

The conference has something of a problem here. Other state schools in the circuit are not under the legislative eye. Indiana in Bloomington, Purdue in Lafayette, Illinois in Urbana-Champaign, Michigan in Ann Arbor, and Iowa at Iowa City are off to the side. The people at the capital and the gentlemen in the legislature are not close to the box seats. The University of Wisconsin might make something, now that the method is known, of its location in Madison and the University of Minnesota is close enough to St. Paul to get a break, but Chicago and Northwestern, the two endowed schools in the ten, are completely out of luck.

If state appropriations are to go to football the conference is organized along wrong lines. Alumni have done and are willing to do a great deal, but they might well think that state competition was unfair. If sub rosa alumni inducements are to meet public funds publicly allocated, it may be necessary to put the state schools in one group and private schools in another, hooking Chicago and Northwestern up with, say, Notre Dame, Detroit, Carnegie Tech, Temple, Marquette, and De Paul, at a random choice. If distance is not prohibitive, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton might be added for early season test outs.

Editorial of the Day

THEY DID SOME THINKING.

[Danville, Ill., Commercial-News.]

We all believe in progress, but sometimes it seems as if the Founding Fathers, in their more leisurely day, had a wider vision than those who followed after.

In the field of government, for example, they drew up the constitution and welded jealous states into a nation.

Two generations later those same states and the others which had been added as the country expanded westward plunged into civil war.

The Founding Fathers, though they created a strong central government, were aware of the dangers of too great centralization and too great expansion of the authority of the chief executive.

They created safeguards against both, which now is a dangerous tendency to disregard.

The Founding Fathers, when they laid out a new center of population, usually provided at least one or two wide streets that went somewhere. And in the case of Washington they approved a plan which so well stood the test of time that nearly all deviations from it have proved mistakes.

The generations which followed did almost no city planning, with results that at present a big problem for almost every city today.

We would do well, with all our boasted progress, to try to get as broad a view as our forefathers achieved.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office.

TO READ ABOUT all the modern war machinery that Mussolini is pouring into Ethiopia makes one feel when he sees a picture of barefooted, primitive looking Ethiopians that King Haile Selassie doesn't have a chance in the world. But wait! Here comes in that everlasting old law of compensation again, or in other words, what goes up must come down, or every rose has its thorn, and you can't eat your cake and have it, too. Machine guns, armored tanks, rapid fire field guns, siege guns, flame throwers, motored troop lorries, and ammunition wagons are great. Take another look at the pictures of the barefooted Ethiopians, many of them armed with spears, and you'll shudder some more for poor old King Haile. But wait some more. All those modern death producers have got to have roads to carry them over. A modern army traveling on motor trucks can't push through rough underbrush or jungles or over the roughest kind of mountains. Roads must be built and the building of a road through such a country as Ethiopia is going to be an awful job. The troops doing the road building will be exposed to sun and fever and Ethiopian sharpshooters will hang around 'em and snipe 'em from the jungles and mountain rocks. The old time Romans were the greatest road builders ever known in the history of the world. The roads they laid down in Italy and all around Europe, including England, exist today. But it took them many years and sometimes centuries to complete those roads. And Mussolini won't want to wait that long. The only modern invention that the Italian army has that doesn't need roads is airplanes. And airplanes can't occupy a country. They can kill natives running from their little thatched huts to hiding places in the hills. Of which we can only echo the famous words of Gen. Bosquet after witnessing the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, "It is magnificent, but it is not war."

IL DUCE'S MEAT.

"Now in the names of all the gods at once,
Upon what meat doth this our Cæsar feed
That he is grown so great? Age, thou art sham'd.
Rome, thou hast lost the breed of noble bloods.
When went there by an Age, since the great Flood,
But it was famed with more than with one man?
When could they say, till now, that talk'd of Rome,
That her wide walls encompass'd but one man?"—

This latest Cæsar is a score of men.
A score? A thousand men, all roll'd in one,
The walls of Rome, that Cassius thought so wide,
Are all too narrow now to hold this man.
Tyrolean Alps and Tyrrhenian sea,
The Adriatic and Ionian seas—
These are the walls, all too encompassing
To hold the wild ambitions of this man.

Upon what meat, then, doth Il Duce feed?
On lust for power, and ever greater power;
On armies, bending to his iron will;
On transports, battleships and submarines;
On airplanes, cannon, armor'd tanks;—
On all the hideous instruments of war
That grind men back into their native dust.

But O, you gods! What indigestion comes!
What frightful headaches follow such a meal!

"ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS Found in New York Sewer; Hunt for Owner."—Headline. Do you know what I think? Well, I think that hundred thousand dollars was chucked into the sewer by some of the alphabet boys down in Washington. They've got to get rid of that four billion eight hundred million dollars of our money some way, and they've run out of ideas on how to spend it. After all, four billion eight hundred million is a lot of money to spend. You can't blame them for chucking it into the sewer. And after all it's about as good a way to spend it as to give it to boondoggiers or to build dams.

THOSE REPUBLICANS are delighted to have Mr. Roosevelt at the Cocos Islands. They didn't like it at first; a big vote from Cocos Islands might turn the election. But they've found out that the Cocos Islanders don't vote in the U. S. presidential elections and a great weight was removed from their hearts.

THE LINEBOOK OF 1935! Yes, indeed, that certainly means that winter's coming on fast and that hardy old perennial, the Linebook, will bloom again in spite of frost and snow and ice. The new Linebook is now being put together, and if you've any especial favorites among the poems and prose bits that appeared in this here Column of Calumny during the year 1935, write in and say what they were. It won't be possible to put in everything asked for because Hank took away all the rubber type when he went to California two or three years ago, but Bob Stonesifer will do his best. He says he has a way of merging poems together that saves a lot of space and makes 'em read more like common sense. Mr. Stonesifer does not care for poetry.

TRANSFORMATION.

Because his eyes caressed her she became
A delicate and slender silver bowl
To hold the blossoms of her new-born soul.

Because his lips made music of her name
Her body was a bow to draw a tune
Across the strings of night, across the moon
Up giddy heights, then down to earth again.

Because she was but tinder and she knew
The power of his touch, she softly blew
Upon the sparks and was consumed by flame.

Ashes are dead and gray and sadly dull,
But she came from the fire more beautiful.

GAS BACILLUS GANGRENE.

CERTAIN bacteria have a great distaste for oxygen and will not grow in the presence of air. This is the reason why instruction in the care of wounds emphasizes the necessity of allowing air to reach the injured parts. In other words, cuts, wounds, etc., must not be covered with adhesive tape or collodion. Only a few layers of sterile gauze should be used, so as to permit free access of oxygen.

Among the bacteria that dislike oxygen are the tetanus bacillus [the cause of lockjaw] and the bacillus of Welch, which is responsible for a particular type of gangrene. The havoc wrought by this latter organism was observed particularly in the wounds that occurred during the Crimean war, and today we see all too frequently instances of its ravages in compound fractures and following wounds where bacteria are imbedded so deeply in the tissues that oxygen is excluded. We may incriminate this parasite also as complicating appendicitis [gangrenous appendix] and as participating in acute intestinal obstruction and peritonitis.

The gas bacillus is common in cultivated soil throughout the world and it is nearly always found in combination with other organisms, many of which form gas provided they can find a suitable situation for growth away from air.

Infections with the Welch bacilli are apparently on the increase, due no doubt to the added number of traffic accidents. A study of 607 cases of compound fractures showed infection with this organism in 227 instances. Every physician is constantly on the alert, therefore, to detect signs of gas gangrene so that immediate remedial measures may be applied. Following dirt infected wounds of whatever origin it is wise to administer promptly not only the anti-tetanic serum [lockjaw serum], but also anti-gas gangrene antitoxin. If this were done routinely thousands of serious infections would be prevented.

Early diagnosis is of the greatest importance, and this may be made readily, as the physician can feel a fine crackling when gentle pressure is applied to the swollen tissues. The pain is usually out of all proportion to the extent of the injury, although it is characteristic that the patient will otherwise have few complaints. Gas in the injured area may be seen on X-ray plates, as the bubbles cast dark, oval, or irregular shadows. If another X-ray examination six or eight hours later shows that these shadows have increased in number or extent, the diagnosis can be considered positive.

Treatment consists in the early use of gas gangrene antitoxin followed by radical surgery. All crushed strands of muscle and fragments of bone should be removed and free drainage provided. Solutions of sodium perborate and hydrogen peroxide are recommended for irrigation. Because of the rapid destruction of blood by the organism many of these patients develop rather quickly a profound anemia. Hence blood transfusions are important.

Until recently early amputation was thought to be the only possible means of saving life in the presence of gas bacillus infection. Modern methods, however, if applied sufficiently early, in most instances result not only in saving life but limbs as well. One writer reports 15 cases treated on the above principles, in which amputation was necessary in only three cases. If the destruction of tissue is steadily progressing, however, and cannot be arrested by other means, amputation may be required.

The importance of vigorous treatment is indicated by the fact that 15 years ago the mortality following this type of infection was approximately 45 per cent. This has now been reduced to less than 10 per cent in a fairly long series of cases.

SOFT TEETH.

Mrs. V. W. writes: My 9 year old girl, who is in very good health, lost two permanent teeth. The dentist tells me all her teeth have cavities but that they are too soft to hold fillings. What is the cause of this condition? Can I do anything to harden her teeth and stop decay?

REPLY:

There are many theories as to the cause. Among them are a diet too high in carbohydrates, bacterial action, lack of care, insufficient minerals and vitamins in the diet, heredity, possibly lack of protective power in saliva.

Treatment consists of local cleanliness, the use of foods that promote mastication [hard bread, vegetables, fruit], a diet well balanced as to minerals and vitamins, especially vitamins A, C, and D.

CANDY HABIT.

E. L. writes: How can a person cure himself of the candy habit? I have easy access to all the candy I want and find that I now have a craving that must be satisfied. Is there something else besides will power to cure the habit?

REPLY:

A craving for candy is a taste that has been acquired. Evidence shows that persons brought up from early childhood without eating candy do not demand it. If candy is eaten as dessert there is no objection to its use. Encourage yourself to eat fruit between meals. If you will use substantial foods hunger pangs will not occur. A moderate amount of candy is an excellent source of carbohydrates in the diet.

SETTLING ESTATE.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—It will be nineteen months since my mother died. 1. I have been told that it takes one year to settle everything, providing there is no contest on the part of others. In our case there is none. 2. We have called this to the attention of the lawyer who is handling the estate. On many occasions he has avoided us, even refusing to answer any correspondence. We happened to speak to a director of the bank where mother had a savings account. He got in touch with the lawyer, who promised everything would be ready for inventory in two weeks' time. That was in June. Later he sent the inventory sheets for my sister to sign. We thought the matter was coming to a close. Up to this time we have received no word of his progress. 3. Can you tell me why the matter is being prolonged, or does it really take that long? A. P.

1. Creditors are allowed a year within which to file their claims. Ordinarily an estate should be closed shortly after the expiration of the year of probate.

2. You might try asking Assistant Judge Phyllis Kelly in the County building to bring pressure on him to close the estate.

3. Your lawyer is in a better position to explain than we are.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE.

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father has a $500 first mortgage on a hotel which he purchased from a banker in Cicero, Ill. For the last year no interest has been paid. Now my father asked the banker to refund the money, but is always told to wait a while. As my father is old he has asked me to help him get the money. Would you please refer me to the proper party to see regarding this matter? F. G.

You do not state that the banker made any agreement to refund the money. Even if he had made such an agreement a recent Supreme court decision holds such an agreement as invalid. The remedy of the mortgage holder is by foreclosure against the property or by ordinary suit against the maker of the mortgage notes.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROMISSORY NOTE.

Cicero, Ill., Oct. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If I receive a promissory note for ten years, is this legal? 2. Is there a certain expiration date on this kind of note? 3. Should it be a judgment note for the same period? 4. What is the difference? J. L.

1. Yes, as far as the facts stated are concerned.

2. The limitation period is ten years from the maturity date, if that is what you mean to ask.

3. The limitation period on judgment notes is the same, if that is what you mean to ask.

4. A judgment note authorizes the entering of a judgment without the serving of a summons.

CODICIL TO WILL.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I had a will made some time ago. I have loan stock in two companies and want to change one beneficiary. 1. Can I add a codicil? 2. Will it void the first bequest? 3. Do I add it [codicil] to the bottom of the will or attach a separate paper to the will and [4] must it be witnessed? E. S. K.

1. Yes.

2. Yes, if worded to that effect and properly executed as a will.

3. The latter.

4. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN.—The Free State government is making an effort to save the Irish horse from extinction. In recent years its numbers have been steadily decreasing.

Even in agriculture the work horse has been giving way to the mechanically propelled tractor. For highway trafic automobiles have almost completely superseded the horse, while in outdoor sport, such as hunting, the number of horses has fallen by nearly half. Horse racing, which once developed into something approaching a national industry, is now in a perilous state. The number of race meetings has been greatly reduced, and it appears as if this once popular sport soon will disappear unless some remedy is found.

President de Valera's government has set up a commission to inquire into the situation and to ascertain whether anything can be done to save the horse industry from ruin.

Ireland's love for the horse is more than sentimental. It is eminently practical. Irishmen have raised the breeding of horses almost to the dignity of a science. At a time when the horse played an important part in the art of war Irish troop horses were keenly sought by the British and European armies. Irish hunters were unrivalled in fox hunting.

But it was in the production of the thoroughbred for horse racing that the skill of the Irish breeder was supreme. Irish blooded stock invariably carried off the honors on British race tracks. Even to this day the winners of 90 per cent of the important English races are Irish bred.

With such a reputation it was inevitable that horse breeding should have become a highly lucrative industry. Every year hundreds of yearlings were sent to the sales at Doncaster and Newmarket and usually topped the price lists. The export trade was at one time estimated to be worth close to $5,000,000 a year.

The causes which have led to the slump are common in all countries. The general depression is, of course, mainly responsible, but it has been accentuated by the economic war between the Free State and London.

Britain was the chief market for horses as it was for cattle and other products. Now, because a special duty must be paid on every animal going into Britain, the trade has ceased to be profitable. This is true despite the fact that the Free State governme t contributes a bounty on each animal. As a result many of the most valuable stud farms were closed and famous sires were sent across the Irish sea to England.

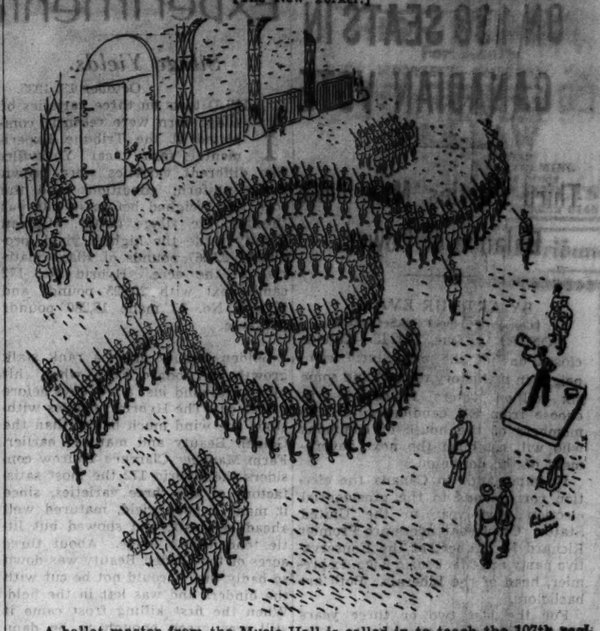

It is with a view to stopping this loss that the commission of inquiry has been set up. The immediate remedy is to settle the dispute with Britain, but as this would involve what is regarded politically as a surrender, nothing will be done for the present. The commission must seek some other means of escape.

De Valera's policy is self-sufficiency, that is, dependence altogether on the home market. In the matter of horse production this policy is regarded as absurd since the home country cannot possibly make use of more than a small proportion of the horses that can be produced. Even if a higher bounty were paid to the producer it would have to come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

It has been suggested that the breeding of blooded stock should be abandoned and that breeders should concentrate on the production of an animal suited to agriculture alone. It was pointed out to the commission there is already a tendency among farmers to give up mechanical power and revert to horse power. Even if this backward step became general, it would not compensate the breeders for the loss of the export trade.

SUGGESTED SOLUTION.

Fox River Grove, Ill., Oct. 3.—Farmers are on a milk strike, asking nothing more than the sum of 5 cents a quart for their milk. Any one living on a farm, with feed as high as it is and our high taxes in Illinois and southern Wisconsin, knows that 5 cents a quart will only give the farmer the same wages for 14 hours' work as a working man in the city gets for 8 hours. The milk dealers are thinking of raising the price to the consumer.

If the milk dealers cannot sell No. 1 milk for 10 cents a quart to the consumer after paying the farmer 5 cents a quart they'd better quit right now and let the farmers buy their plants and sell direct from the farmers' plants to the consumer. They can do it and pay honest wages to the men they hire to pasteurize, bottle, and deliver milk, and the hard working brother in the city will be sure of grade A milk. There will be no four grades of milk; it will all be pure and good [no water added].

And those high salaried officials of the Milk Dealers' association could take a long vacation and then be ready for work on a farm 14 hours a day.

MRS. M. D. CHEDESTER.

BUT WOULDN'T THE VOLUME DECLINE?

Plato Center, Ill., Oct. 10.—Has it ever occurred to the city of Chicago and its health department that when people wish service with a capital S or ask for special consideration or accommodations they usually expect to pay for it, especially so if it causes extra work or expenditure of money to render this service? Why, then, do they calmly ask the farmer to install all kinds of special equipment for washing cans, sterilizing them, cooling the milk, adding windows, changing doors, moving buildings, to discard expensive equipment and add new, and then show their appreciation of his complying with their demands by cutting the price of milk?

The dealers have demonstrated at what price they can handle milk per quart and make a profit. The farmers have also demonstrated that they cannot make a profit at the present price of milk. They are not even paid for their labor, let alone any profit on their investment of hundreds and hundreds of dollars.

Why do not Mr. Kelly and the city of Chicago decide that if they wish a certain standard for their milk they are willing to pay the price for it and not sponge on the farmer? Will not the mayor or some of his council insist that milk be raised 1 cent a quart, the entire 1 cent to go to the producer of the milk, as it would cost the dealers not one penny more to deliver at an advance in price over what is costs them now? Certainly if any one in Chicago cannot pay 30 cents a month more for milk they cannot pay what it is now. It is only a drop in the bucket for the individual, but it means perhaps the salvation of the dairy farmer.

Come on, Chicago, be sports and pay for the service you ask for.

BLANCHE P. MUIRHEAD.

OTHERS IN THE SAME BOAT.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—As a milk consumer I think I have a right to be heard. The problem that faces the farmer is no more difficult than faces many not in the milk business. Present prices in Chicago of 10 cents per quart will not allow the farmer any more. One thing seems certain, and that is we must either perfect the methods of handling this basic necessity or take hands off and let unrestrained competition carry us back to the happy days of tooth and claw.

The farmer hasn't seen anything yet. I am a coal salesman. If I assume the role of mendicant and annoy my friends enough I may get an order out of sympathy and reap the fabulous commission of 25 cents per ton. Four tons per day, if that grand total could be realized, would put thousands of coal salesmen far below any situation the milk farmer ever dreamed of.

My employer has much greater problems to face. With a cash investment of at least $5,000 and an overhead of $200 per week he has to comply with rules and regulations from the various unions, the wheelers, hikers, chauffeurs, and the wholesalers, that make the Blue Eagle laws look like 2 cents. The hiker at the end of the week very often has more cash as a result of the week's work than the boss. Gang rule has usurped law and order. We can no longer say that we are a government of the people, ruled in the interests of the people, but a government of cliques and gangs.

W. A. M.

HORSES.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—The farmers receive only 3.76 cents per quart for milk, while the consumers pay 10 or 11 cents. The dealers are quick to point out that the reason lies in their obviously high operating costs. But need their operating costs be so high? The answer is no. The cost of delivery, one of their major problems, could be reduced by one-third by the use of horses instead of motor vehicles. This fact was proven conclusively to me by one of the smartest department store managers on State street. Based on a two years' analysis they found it 32.6 per cent cheaper to deliver by horse than by motor vehicle, despite even the long suburban hauls. However, their competitors made an issue of this fact and ridiculed them for being old fashioned.

TRIBUTE TO ITALIAN ARMS.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—In THE TRIBUNE of Oct. 10 Mr. John Gainford presents an erroneous and even ridiculous article. In the world war the Italian armies fought excellently and rendered valuable assistance to their allies on the western front and against the Turks, as well as in the Balkan sector. Mr. Gainford's statement regarding Caporetto is untrue. The Italians themselves and not the French and British finally stemmed the tide of the Austrian advance, although the weather had more to do with this than any one of them.

The Italians had to contend with great difficulties of terrain in the war, difficulties that would have broken most armies. In the final Austrian offensive in June, 1918, the Italian lines held almost everywhere while both the British and French lines yielded ground. It is true that complete plans of the Austrian offensive had been betrayed to the Italians, who possibly did not pass this information on to their allies in its entirety, but Italian troops were never inferior in courage or ability to the average troops of other nations, in the opinion of this writer, who served actively against Russian, Serbian, Montenegrin, Rumanian, Italian, French, and British troops.

Many persons believe erroneously that the Italians are poor fighters. The truth is that men of any race—Chinese, or Portuguese, or Slovak, or Dane—can be made into first class fighting units through proper training and discipline. The fighting ability of all troops depends upon these factors and upon whether they believe in what they are fighting for. Whether one likes it or not, the Italians have today molded one of the most formidable military machines in the world, and to deny this is to simply blind oneself to facts.

THE CHISELING CHAMPION.

Stevens Point, Wis., Oct. 8.—Of all chiselers the present government of the United States of America is the worst. It chiseled on its creditors by repaying 100 cent dollars with 59 cent dollars. It chiseled on consumers generally, making them pay processing taxes, expecting to get the farmers' votes and not lose the consumers'; it chiseled on small manufacturers, making them pay big wages, thus advantaging the big manufacturers who aided it financially in the 1932 election; it chiseled on private electric power interests, using the taxpayers' money to do it, and so on, and so on.

A. F. L. PREDICTS 'CONTINUED' GAIN IN U. S. BUSINESS

Warns of "Collapse" Unless Wages Rise.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Continued business improvement was forecast by the American Federation of Labor today, but it said "American industry has not succeeded in putting the unemployed to work."

"Industrial unemployment still exceeds 11 million and is above last year," the federation said.

It coupled this "other side of the picture" with the statement that "prices are expected to rise slightly, tending to offset increases in workers' buying power unless wages are lifted; due to price increases this year, workers' buying power has been no higher than last year."

Warns of "Collapse."

The federation added:

"This fall's business pickup indicates a reversion to the pre-depression type of business expansion, when business men increased production because they saw a chance for good profits, without considering whether a firm foundation of workers' buying power had been built to sustain it.

"Such expansion, when it greatly exceeds buying power, can only end in collapse, even if the downfall is postponed for several years."

The federation said there were 50 per cent more unemployed in America today than in all Europe, where it reported a decline of the jobless in Germany, France, and England from 8,400,000 to 7,400,000 in the last year.

Of the business outlook, it said in its monthly survey of business entitled "Balanced Recovery":

"Business improvement, which began in August, has continued through September. . . . Unless we have some such catastrophe as a general war in Europe, business forecasters are expecting business improvement with a gradual upward trend during the next six months. Increasing farm income and further increases in corporation profits are expected."

The federation said business must consider "whether a firm foundation of workers' buying power had been built to sustain it," before expanding production. Such buying power, it contended, "is the only way to balanced recovery, reëmployment, and permanently higher living standards."

"Living Standards Set Back."

Living standards were viewed as having been "set back 30 years" during the depression. In 1933, the survey said "55 per cent of American families were living below the minimum needed to maintain health; 15 per cent had enough for health but not for comfort; only 25 per cent had an income sufficient to provide any degree of comfort."

Production made twice the gain in the first eight months of this year that was made last year, the survey reported, "but it was not supported by any increase in employment or buying power as a 5.6 per cent increase in workers' total income was more than offset by a 5.9 per cent increase in living costs."

Viewing the days of NRA as a period of "emphasis on reëmployment and increasing workers' income," the survey reported no such emphasis this year.

The federation also said that notwithstanding stock market rises and prospects of better profits, some forecasters "anticipate that the present upturn may carry production into a level higher than buying power can sustain and be followed by a slight setback next spring."

SEATTLE RECEPTION PLANNED FOR PARTY EN ROUTE TO MANILA

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Seattle will say "hello" and "farewell" at the same time Wednesday to Vice President John N. Garner and a group of senators and representatives just before they sail for the Philippine islands to witness the birth of a nation Nov. 15.

The reception will be given at the pier before the party, including 17 senators and 27 representatives, boards the liner President Grant en route to Manila to attend the inauguration of Manuel Quezon as president of the Philippine commonwealth.

The official party will visit Japan and China en route to Manila.

FIND RUINS OF TEMPLE BUILT 5,000 YEARS AGO

JERUSALEM, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The discovery of an ancient temple, dating back to 3000 B. C., the early bronze age, on the biblical site of Ai, where Abraham was said to have built his first altar to Jehovah, was reported today.

The important archæological find was made by a Palestinian woman, Judith Krause Marquet, whose work was originally financed by the late Baron Edmond de Rothschild of Paris and which is now being continued by the French National museum.

The place of the excavation reported today is at Dair Diwan, near Ramilah, seven miles north of Jerusalem. Found in the temple are fragments of oblations with unique potsherds peculiar to the early bronze age. Complete fortifications of the structure were also uncovered and reveal that the building was destroyed about 2000 B. C.

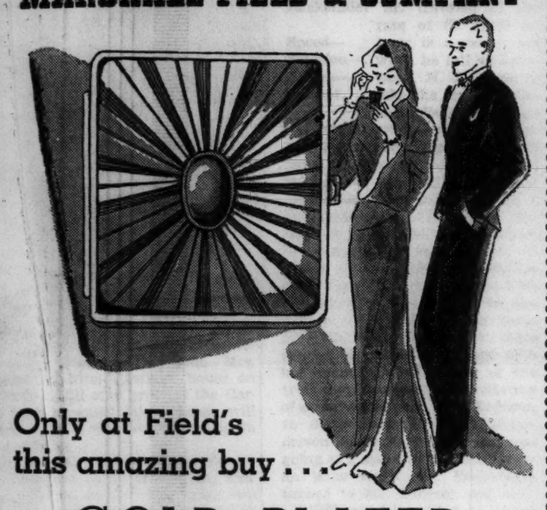

Jail Opens for Business; Serves Bread and Water

Ozark, Mo., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Ozark's new city jail was "opened for business" today, but there were no customers. Some of the jail rules are: Prisoners will receive only bread and water. They will not be permitted to have reading material, not even a newspaper. They will be deprived of tobacco and playing cards and no visitors will be allowed. Lights will be turned off about 7 o'clock.

Marianna Dunn Is Engaged to Belgian Count

Bride-to-Be and Parents Here Next Week-End.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WHEN Mr. and Mrs. James Clement Dunn and their attractive daughter, Miss Marianna Dunn, arrive in Lake Forest next week-end to visit Mrs. Dunn's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour, there will be a good deal of excitement concerning Miss Dunn, for yesterday in their Washington, D. C., home, Mr. and Mrs. Dunn announced her engagement to Count Guy de Baillet Latour of Brussels, Belgium.

The family is very pleased over the romantic news, for the count has been a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Dunn for 15 years. His acquaintance with their daughter has extended over that period of years, also, for this charming young woman, who last year was among Washington's debutantes, has received the major portion of her education abroad. She went to school in Italy, England, and Switzerland, and she also attended St. Timothy's in Catonsville, Md.

In addition to a debut party a year ago last May in Washington, where Mr. and Mrs. Dunn have a home at 27 Observatory circle, Miss Dunn was given a debutante party that summer in Newport, R. I., and one here in Chicago on Dec. 23 last winter when another aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Hearne Armour, entertained at luncheon for her and for two Chicago debutantes, Miss Betty Brooks and Miss Caryl Ely. Count Latour is sailing tomorrow to return to Belgium.

No date has been set for the wedding.

The bride-to-be's mother is the former Mary Armour, and her father, who at one time was connected with the American embassy in London, now is special assistant to the secretary of state and chief of protocol.

Markham B. Orde Jr. and Bride Return to Ohio.

Markham B. Orde Jr. and his bride, the former Helen Woolson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Woolson of Newark, O., have returned to Newark after a visit with Mr. Orde's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Markham B. Orde of Glencoe. Young Mr. and Mrs. Orde were married Sept. 21 in Newark, where Mr. Orde has been in business for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carton [Elizabeth Beidler] are leaving Thursday for their home in Belgium. Mrs. Thomas W. Ritchie, whose house on the Indian Hill club grounds the Cartons have occupied this summer, will return from a western trip early in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Laflin are spending the early winter in New Haven, Conn., so that Mr. Laflin can have the resources of Yale university at hand to assist him in preparing a book on the drama.

Three Young Blairs All at Different Schools.

The son of Mrs. Louise de Koven Phelps and the sons of her sister, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, are studying in widely divergent parts of the globe this year. Young Hubbard Phelps, who finished his preparatory schooling last year, is a student in the Boeing Aviation school in Oakland, Cal., and his cousin, William McCormick Blair Jr., the Blairs' second son, is a student in Honolulu college. His older brother, Edward McCormick Blair, is back at Yale university after several months in Brazil hunting big game, and the third boy, Bowen Blair, has returned to Groton. Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Phelps are going to Honolulu in February to be with William Jr.

As the season of benefits reaches its height comes word of a party to be given "just for the fun of it." That is Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall's explanation for the dinner-dance which she and Mr. Marshall are giving for about 100 of their friends Friday evening, Oct. 25, on the roof of the Hotel Sherman.

Nov. 8 has been selected as the date of the annual ball of the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association to be held in the Joseph Urban room of the Congress hotel. Mrs. Thomas Fleming is chairman of the benefit, and other members of the Chicago committee who are assisting her are Mrs. Phelps Dunham, Miss Virginia Thatcher, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Ferre Watkins, Miss Elizabeth Alger, Mrs. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Norman Pritchard, and Mrs. Ewing Webb, chairman of the committee. Further plans for the party will be made at a luncheon of the committee Thursday at the Arts club.

G. O. P. Women's Leader to Speak at Luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal, the new director of the women's division of the Republican national committee and national committeewoman of Arizona, will be the guest speaker at a luncheon to be given by the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Drake hotel. Mrs. Hoyal will be the guest of the president of the club, Mrs. Jacob Baur, during the time she is in Chicago. She is on her way from Washington to Salt Lake City to attend a conference of Republican leaders.

Many good Republicans will rush away from the luncheon to attend a lecture that Mrs. William H. Hubbard of Lake Forest will give in Fullerton hall of the Art institute at 2:30 o'clock. "Hill Towns of France" will be the subject of the lecture, which will be illustrated.

The Junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital has arranged an all-day exhibit of tables, breakfast trays, and mantels for Oct. 29 at a shop at 625 North Michigan avenue. Tea will be served in the afternoon. Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., Mrs. A. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. Joseph H. King, Mrs. Augustus K. Maxwell, Mrs. Harold C. Smith, Mrs. Sangston Hettler, Mrs. Barrett Scudder, Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Miss Marie Louise Gardner, Miss Betty Alexander, and Miss Ilma Jane Theurer are among those who will arrange the tables.

An event of interest announced recently is a breakfast the board of directors of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, will give for Admiral Cary T. Grayson, national president of that organization, at the Congress hotel on Thursday. James B. Forgan Jr. is chairman of the Chicago chapter.

NEWSPAPERS thought it interesting enough to paragraph, several days ago, that John D. Rockefeller Sr. traveled at the rate of 60 miles an hour in a motor car when he left his Lakewood, N. J., home to take the train for Ormond Beach. Chicagoans recall that in 1906 in Chicago Mr. Rockefeller announced that twenty miles an hour was fast enough for anybody. The nonagenarian millionaire, in 1906 a sexagenarian millionaire, was here to testify at the Standard Oil company trial. The car in which he and Harold F. McCormick had been driven to the Federal building was parked on the Adams street side of the same building, and since there were several thousands of persons milling about it at the close of the trial they accepted the invitation of a newspaper man, Sam Lederer, to drive home in a chauffeur-driven press car. The car was going at a speed of about 25 miles an hour when Mr. Rockefeller turned to Mr. Lederer and said:

Speed—Solution—Names—Smoker.

"Will you be so kind as to ask the chauffeur not to drive more than twenty miles an hour?" Then he added, "A man can walk four miles an hour; a horse can trot ten miles an hour; and twenty miles an hour—twice as fast as a horse can trot—is fast enough for anybody."

A GROUP of members of the Western Advertising Golf association were leaving for town after a celebration. One of their number was considerably oversubscribed, according to "Big Ed" Davis, who relays the story, and the question arose as to where he should sit in the car.

"Put him in the back seat. He needs air," suggested one of the group.

"That won't do. He's too drunk—he might bounce out," he said. "Put him in front and make him drive."

"In his article on use of tobacco Doc Cutter says that little harm would be caused by the habit if smokers indulged only after eating. I've solved the problem by keeping a sandwich on my desk. After each smoke I grab a bite, which qualifies me to reach for another cigar. Good Morning!

The big hit of, and the large news about, "Broadway Melody of 1936" is Miss Eleanor Powell!

She's a sensation!

If there's anything she needs that she hasn't got I can't imagine what it is. She's one of the most refreshing, scintillatingly alive personalities that has ever slain an audience. She has looks, style, an irresistible smile, and when she dances you want to stand right up and whoop! Can she dance? Sisters and brothers, can she . . .! I ask you to waltz over to the Roosevelt and see if you've ever witnessed anything to beat her tap dancing!

It's an eccentric sort of thing that pays no never mind at all to continuity. Anybody at any time—and in any place—is just as apt as not to get up and do an act without rhyme or reason. But the acts are all swell—and the piece has a spontaneity, a zip, that's all its own.

The cast throughout is an ingratiating one.

Jack Benny, as a Broadway columnist at war with a hot headed young theatrical producer, gives a slick performance. Sid Silvers is funny as his dumb assistant. Robert Taylor will make feminine hearts go pitty-pat as Producer Gordon, who loves one girl [Miss Powell] and is in the toils of another [Miss Knight], who's backing his show. June Knight, as a pretty, shallow, temperamental man eater, turns out an excellent piece of work.

Una Merkel is a peach as Gordon's secretary, and Vilma and Buddy Ebsen are as delightful a team of comedy dancers as you ever laid eyes on.

The plot's no great shakes, but it serves well, for it DOES provide ample opportunity for the players to do their stuff.

"Broadway Melody of 1936" is a long feature—but because it has a world of snap you'd just as soon it were a little longer. From a production standpoint it's a knockout.

See you tomorrow!

Chicago Woman's Club Group Hears Albion Dean Today

The home and public welfare department of the Chicago Woman's club will launch its activities with a reception for new members of the department at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Luncheon and a program will follow, with Dr. W. W. Whitehouse, dean of Albion college, Albion, Mich., and Mrs. Ralph W. Webster, president of the club, as speakers. Mrs. Alice Hamilton, lyric soprano, will sing. Mrs. Edward J. Lehman, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. William J. Piggott, music chairman of the national federation, will be especial guests. Mrs. William Franklin Farrell is chairman of the department.

Lustrous Hostess Gown of Velvet

Stylish Gray Street Clothes Take the Town

Dark Tones Fashion Smart Suits and Ensembles.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

If you can resist the swank of black your next weakness will be gray, for the newest clothes that are getting the fashion spotlight are the good looking creations featuring this subtle shade. The emphasis is on the dark tones.

Stunning iron gray street suits are made with a Puritan simple long sleeved dress, and worn with a dashing swagger coat that positively swirls there is so much fullness in the back. The small snug collars are usually of iron gray fur.

Iron gray Persian lamb coats, made with a dashing Cossack silhouette, are the best finds in the fur collections. Iron gray jersey dresses with a definite school girl charm of streamline are smart with velvet scarfs of emerald green, and a matching belt.

Iron gray wool costumes in two pieces are trimmed with yards of narrow iron gray Persian lamb. These make the most distinctive of street dresses and can be worn later with a swagger coat of either dark gray goatskin or kidskin or the inevitable black fur coats for contrast.

Gray velveteen "two-somes," in the same high fashion shade or dark gray, use clips, buttons, and belt buckles of frosty silver for contrast. Some of the noisy new chest chains of links really deserve all the popularity they are earning day after day.

Dark gray coats, as slim as anything in black, are tremendously smart and distinctive. This gray wave of street clothes and smart suits and ensembles ought to take the town by storm. Gray is the most sophisticated shade you can wear. It is practical as a background for vivid colored costume accessories.

Fashion photograph . . . tiny covered buttons, dozens of them, march down the front of this new and flattering and fitted hostess gown of crinkled velvet in a heavenly shade of blue. Soft gray fur resembling chinchilla trims the long loose sleeves. The belt clasps with a metal buckle and holds the gown smoothly around the waistline. It is available in a Chicago shop.

Sales Manager Should Study Applicants' Faces as Well as Records, Expert Holds

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

ERIC LINDEN.

It was not because any of them was so bad, but none was promising. Out of ten or twelve persons hired there should have been three or four that he could point to as examples of his ability to "pick them right."

The reason for this desire to have a few stars among a group of averages is that their effect on their associates is inspiring. Ambition is contagious, both during a training period and in actual field work. The manager had been that sort of inspiring influence himself when he served in the ranks. He appreciated its importance in his higher position.

I was with him when he interviewed a number of applicants. It was surprising to see how he handled the job. He had studied the detailed information about each man before he saw him in person and his examination showed the keen analyses he had made. As a result I do not think he let a single man who was not qualified on the points of experience and character slip into the organization.

But, and here is where the rub comes in, he had no way of judging superior sales ability in an objective way. Often a man may have a fine production record with one firm and fall down when employed by another. There is no mystery connected with it, simply a matter of personality. Having the kind of natural sales ability expressed by the mouth, the eyebrows, and the nose, a man will make good in any place where he feels at home.

There are few individuals of this high order. Most persons will be deficient in one way or another, and whether or not the handicap will be serious depends on the characteristics of the management as well as the nature of the work.

This manager disliked people with light eyebrows and rarely hired them. In his particular field high-pressure tactics were not required and a lack of rough courage in dealing with prospects would have no unfavorable effect. Discarding this type meant losing a lot of first-class material.

Analyzing the features of Eric Linden, the screen star, I find he is a pleasant mannered youngster when he so wishes; a courageous, strong-willed, not easily led man if he thinks he is being imposed upon. He is a good mixer in any crowd, makes friends and keeps them. Inclined to be moody and feels deeply for those whom an unfortunate fate has treated badly. Capable of handling dangerous situations forcefully but prudently. Speaks softly, but carries a "big stick," thus following the advice of a great man.

According to latest reports, this young man is not yet married and we might speculate on what his wife should look like, and what she would see in him. First, she would have a narrow, high-ridged nose, tilting upward with an ambitious gesture. She would be a few steps ahead of him "going places," and laugh between times to his great delight.

She would have a straight or somewhat backward sloping chin and admire his perseverance in arduous labor and consistent purposes. Her eyes would be open and frank, and her faith in him would be an incentive to carry on when his spirit is dark. She probably would manage his affairs and reform his habits, but with alluring strategies and comforting results.

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. She and a young brother and sister are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way in. Los Pinos Dan, through Polly Doble, gets Milly work washing, and Ah Sin, a Chinaman, to help her. Jasper Ford, gambler and killer, forces his attentions on Milly. Dan publicly humiliates him. Ford challenges Dan to a duel. Dan can't shoot. Sam Jones, of the rangers, advises Dan to choose bowie knives as weapons and he'll circulate reports of his prowess at slashing. Ford backs out. Sam gives Dan shooting instructions. Dan wins another victory over a friend of Ford's named Le Page. Milly gets another job teaching school. Dan and his teamsters, String Beans and Yorky, leave for the salt lakes. When they return to Los Pinos an attachment is put on the wagonloads of salt. It is claimed the salt lakes, long public property, have been taken up by one Zack Black, representing the gamblers. Dan dumps the salt in the muddy road. A Mexican, Chaves, suspected of intentions to take salt from the lakes, is arrested. Ford has him bailed out, but holds him hostage. Dan kidnaps Ford and forces him to order Chavez's release. Ford again challenges Dan. In the encounter Dan is shot, but by Le Page, who is killed by Ford. Dan's friends believe Ford arranged the shooting and killed Le Page to prevent his talking.

INSTALMENT XXV.

DAN RECOVERS.

"I'm glad you are doing so nicely," Milly said. "We were all worried at first."

"How's the school going?" Dan asked.

"Fine, far as I know. If folks aren't satisfied, they haven't told me about it yet."

"They're satisfied," Polly said. "I hear you're a good teacher. All I say is I hope you don't go off and marry some young scalawag now you are sittin' pretty."

Milly's apple blossom cheeks took on an added glow. "I'm not thinking of any such thing. I have a family to bring up; even if anybody wanted me."

Sam Jones walked into the room, dust in every crease of his wrinkled jeans.

"How's the highsteppin' gunman of the Rio Grande?" he wanted to know.

"I'm fine, if you mean me," Dan answered. "But the description doesn't fit. I'm no gunman."

"No, we all know what you are," the ranger came back derisively.

"I reckon the trouble with Dan is over," he said.

"Just a nice peaceable young fellow any bully-puss warrior can run on when he gets to feeling his oats."

"You've got a lot of license to talk," Polly cut in curtly. "When it was only the other day you shot down that Le Page, not but what you did just right."

"Different with me, ma'am," the rawboned ranger claimed. "I'm an officer of the law. This fellow had a gun out, and I had to interfere."

"You're a fine officer," jeered Polly. "Nobody noticed you interfering when Dan and Jasper Ford were shooting at each other."

"That was on the level, Mrs. Doble," said Sam reproachfully. "You oughta know I can't butt in when two gents have a difference. That's their private business."

"That's not the way to do it," Polly said, slamming a fist on a table. "Call a massmeeting. Arm yourselves. Close all the houses of vice and the gambling halls. Sweep the whole caboodle of devil's pawns out of town."

"I reckon you're right, Mrs. Doble," Sam admitted, "we'd ought to ring the bells of heaven. I aim to repent and join the church one of these days, after——"

"After you're all wore out and crippled and too stove up to do any more rip-rarin' around," Polly snapped. "Think I don't know you, Sam Jones?"

"I think you are too hard on Mr. Jones," Milly said gently.

"Hmp! Not half hard enough."

"One thing I can't understand is why Ford didn't put one or two of his bullets into me when I was down, so as to make sure," Dan remarked, by way of deflecting the talk.

"He thought you were done for when you keeled over," the ranger replied. "So did I. If he had taken another crack at you he would have been on record as approving what Le Page had done. Why do that, since you were dead anyhow? The important thing was to bump off Le Page before he could do any talking."

"Why?" asked Milly, wide eyed.

"I'm guessing he knew the other hobo was going to take a crack at Dan from behind."

"You mean he arranged it," Polly said.

"Maybe he didn't arrange it, but Le Page had told him what he aimed to do. I can't prove that, but it sticks in my craw. I'd bet a Brazos saddle against a dollar Mex I'm right."

"Has he done any talking since. . . ."

Dan did not finish the sentence. All of them knew what he meant.

"Considerable," said the rangy officer. "Smooth talk—about his honor as a gentleman—and how he killed Le Page to wipe clear any stain there might be on it—and that he never hunts trouble but won't allow any one to impose on him beyond a certain point. Yes, I'd say he had talked a few thousand words."

"Any more . . . threats?" Milly asked, fear fluttering in her.

Sam Jones looked at the girl. He thought her the sweetest and prettiest girl he had seen in many a day. "No, miss. I reckon maybe the trouble with Dan is over," he said. In his mind he added, "Until something starts it again."

"I hope so," Milly said wistfully. "It's terrible the way things have been."

The Salt Lakes Development company began active operations. It outfitted workmen, bought wagons and teams, and built shacks for its employés on the location. An outdoor blacksmith shop did the necessary repair work for wagons and tools. There was even a small supply store.

The Mexicans watched all this expenditure of energy sullenly. Ford and his associates were exultant.

"All you've got to do to Greasers is to let 'em know you mean business," Black said.

He was playing pool at Kelly's New York Billiard Parlor. Sam Jones was in a chair tilted against the wall, one worn down heel of a boot hooked in a rung. He watched the gambler chalk his cue before he drawled his comment.

"Then everything is lovely. Mr. Mexican folds up and beats it."

Black looked at the ranger. There seemed to be a hint of irony in the murmured assent.

"We've had no trouble so far," he said, "and I'm not looking for any."

"Fine," Sam applauded. "You can sleep nights easy in yore mind."

"The law is on our side."

"Ridin' high, wide, and handsome, aren't you?"

"You don't figure they are fool enough to buck the United States government, do you?"

"I would't know about that."

"If they get to annoying us all we have to do is to get Ranger Obigod Jones to read the riot act to them," Black said.

Sam grinned. He recognized this as a hit. Nothing was more likely in the event of trouble than that he would be sent to uphold the law. His personal view of the justice of the cause would have no bearing on the matter.

An hour later word reached Los Pinos that the company store building had been burned down. Shortly after this another messenger brought the news that two Mexicans had been arrested charged with arson. Black, Stone, and three other men, all heavily armed, set out for the salt lakes.

Rigid Training in Habit Makes Baby Unhappy

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Help! Help!" cried the baby—the poor baby. "Won't somebody come to our rescue? I wish nobody had ever put the idea in mothers' heads that babies can learn all these hard things—such as elimination habits—when they're not even a year old."

All this I heard [or read] between the lines of a letter—and in fact could have read between the lines of a good many of the letters that have been coming in—letters which make me feel infinitely sorrier for the babies, in this case, than for their mothers.

"I have a baby boy who is 10 months old," writes one mother. "He is a good child except that I have a tremendous amount of trouble with his toilet training. He frets and cries over my efforts to train him. Don't think I've been lenient with him. Every time he has an accident I spank him. And I change him as often as three times an hour sometimes."

Mothers get into such a state over this training for bowel and bladder control—they lay so much stress upon it that they can do serious things to their child as a result.

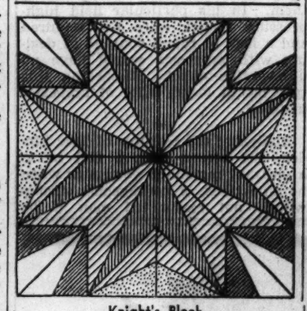

It is bad for babies and little children to be made an emotional storm center over the learning of controls long before they are old enough. The spanking and scolding and displeasure and nervous tension which are associated by the child with these sessions make him unhappy, and are distinctly bad for him.

The mother and 10 month old baby should be enjoying life together There's so much more to it all than this fierce concentration on toilet training—which, the fiercer it is, is the less apt to succeed.

New and practical ideas are contained in our two leaflets: "Directions For Establishing Good Eliminative Habits," and "Training for Bowel Control or Defecation." A stamped, self addressed envelope is required for EACH ONE of these.

Unique Quilt in Cross Pattern Has a Varied Design

Knight's Block.

BY NANCY CABOT.

One of the trick patterns in the quilting realm is "Knight's Block." The single pieced block appears to consist of light and dark crosses. The finished pieced block measures 12 inches square, with 7 blocks across and 8 blocks deep, making a completed quilt which measures 90 by 120 inches.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Chicagoans Attend Nancy Leiter's Debut Party in the East

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A harvest moon glowed last night on the brilliant coming out party of Nancy Leiter, daughter of the late Joseph Leiter, who made and lost fortunes in the wheat pit of Chicago.

More than 100 persons high in the society ranks of Chicago, Washington, New York, and Massachusetts' north shore colonies attended a dinner on the terrace of Edgewater house, the Leiter mansion.

Guests sat in golden hued chairs within a specially constructed tent decorated with autumn flowers and foliage. The dinner was a prelude to the dance given the debutante by her mother and her brother, Thomas.

Mother Has House Party.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Miss Angelica Lloyd, a debutante of this season, daughter of Demarest Lloyd of Chicago and Washington, went to Beverly Farms, Mass., Friday, to spend the week-end as the guest of Miss Nancy Leiter, daughter of the late Joseph Leiter, who was presented to society at a dinner and ball last night in her mother's summer home, Edgewater house. Mrs. Leiter had a house party for the occasion.

HIT THAT COLD

WHERE IT LIVES—

in the System!

Don't fool yourself about a cold! It's nothing to be taken lightly nor treated lightly. A cold is an internal infection that will quickly spread within the system unless promptly checked. A wise thing to take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

First of all, it is distinctly a cold treatment and not a "cure-all." Secondly, it is an internal treatment. Thirdly, it does four important things. It opens the bowels, combats the infection in the system, relieves the headache and fever and tones and fortifies the system. That's the treatment a cold requires. Don't be satisfied with anything less. All druggists sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Ask for it by the full name and reject a substitute.

Singer Unfazed by Sudden Loss of Co-Recitalist

Annemarie Gerts Frames Admirable Program.

BY HAZEL MOORE.

Miss Annemarie Gerts showed considerable aplomb at her recital yesterday afternoon in Curtis hall when her co-recitalist, Ludlow White, found himself speechless and songless at the recital hour because of laryngitis. Miss Gerts carried on admirably, though the scheduled duet from "Don Giovanni" and Mr. White's group of baritone solos were of necessity elided.

In her choice of a program, also, Miss Gerts exhibited a sense of fitness that a far more mature artist might envy. Two groups of German songs were especially well chosen, for in these she was obviously happy. Entirely at ease in the German language, she was free to devote her attention to the text. While Miss Gerts has a decided flair for lieder interpretation, and a brilliant soprano voice of real beauty to aid her, the tone is occasionally unfocused, with a resultant unsteadiness.

The important thing, however, is that she was able to project her songs in a manner greatly to please her audience. The first group was particularly happy, Schumann's "Widmung," "Vorabend," by Cornelius; Schubert's lovely "Das Lied im Grunen," and the Hugo Wolf setting of "Mignon," wherein Miss Gerts was able to show her wide range of voice. A group of French, the second of modern German, two of Marx and the brilliant little "Das Hemd," by Trunk, and an English group completed the program.

Gennaro Papi, musical director of the Chicago City opera, has been engaged as conductor of the Metropolitan opera, New York, according to Paul Longone. This makes the third operatic contract of the season for Maestro Papi, who is also the director of the St. Louis Opera company. The Metropolitan engagement is a return for Mr. Papi, who was for many years conductor in the old opera house. The new contract will not interfere with his leadership of the Chicago City Opera orchestra.

Young Musicians' Concert Sponsored by Lake View Club

The Lake View Musical society will present Gina Vanna, soprano; Harriet Brewer, contralto, and Miriam Ulrich, pianist, in concert this evening at Orchestra hall. The three young musicians were winners in the Chicago, state, and middle west contests sponsored last spring by the National Federation of Music Clubs. Cora Willis Ware, president of the society, is working on arrangements for the concert with Mrs. Albert Wegener, Mrs. M. B. Kennedy, Mrs. Frederic Tellander, Miss Grace Seiberling, Mrs. Frank P. Whitmore, Mrs. H. B. Vanzwoll, Mrs. Herbert Alden Seymour.

HAROLD TEEN—A PRESENT FOR POP!

GIRL'S DRESS.

A smart, graceful dress for school girls is illustrated today. It should meet with instant approval. It buttons from neck to hem and the center front and back are cut in one with the yoke. The sleeves are long, and the frock always will look fresh and lovely with its collar made of white pique. Woolen novelties are smart fabrics for a dress of this kind, and wool challis always is good.

The pattern, No. 3062, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of ¾ inch wide ribbon for the bow.

"Hostessing with Sunday Suppers," a booklet of menus and recipes for light evening lunches, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Harvest vegetables, in their abundance and inexpensiveness, may make you feel like a world economist struggling with crop surpluses unless your répertoire boasts a number of distinctive recipes with which to vary their service. This autumn bounty never can become tiresome with the aid of interesting solutions such as these, especially if they're cleverly alternated.

Can't let these firm, meaty tomatoes go a-begging. Vary your usual tomato routine with a main dish idea such as this one:

Country Stuffed Tomatoes.

8 large firm tomatoes
Salt
1 pound pork sausage
1 cup corn flake cereal
¼ cup melted butter

Remove the stem end of the tomatoes and scoop out part of the center. Sprinkle the insides of the tomato cups with salt and fill with balls of the pork sausage. Toss the corn flakes in melted butter and sprinkle thickly over the top of each stuffed tomato. Bake in a shallow pan in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

Pepper Meat Balls.

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
2 eggs
4 cups crushed flake cereal
2 cups chopped green pepper

Combine all of the ingredients except the chopped green pepper, mix thoroughly and form into twelve small meat balls. Sauté these slowly in butter. When well cooked remove the meat balls from the skillet, add more butter if necessary, and toss in the green pepper. Cook this gently in butter until tender and serve poured over the hot meat balls.

Fall fruits and vegetables both go into this next flavorsome relish sauce, which takes advantage of their present abundance of goodness for future reference.

Peach Chili.

6 pears
6 onions
3 green peppers
30 ripe tomatoes
3 cups sugar
1 quart vinegar
1½ tablespoons ground allspice
3 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon garlic salt

Peel and chop the peaches, pears, onions, and tomatoes and combine with the seeded, chopped green peppers and remaining ingredients. Boil together until as thick as desired and seal at once in sterilized jars.

Events on the Stage

Drama in Yiddish, which disappeared from Chicago in the depression, is having a revival at the Jewish People's institute under the leadership of Jacob Ben-Ami, the bilingual actor who has given twelve years of distinguished service to the English-speaking stage. His first production, now in performance, is "The Verdict," which tells a story of spies and counter-spies in the campaigns of Red armies against White in the early phase of the Russian revolution. A Red chieftain loves a White maiden, discovers that she is working against the bolshevist cause, and sadly but firmly "liquidates" her with his own revolver. That is the plot in a thumbnail synopsis.

Performances will be given tonight and on Oct. 14, 16, 26, 27, and 30. Berta Gersten, well-known Yiddish actress, is Ben-Ami's leading woman. Other productions will follow, arranged on a schedule that will not interfere with the little theater activities at the institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard. A synopsis in English may be found in the program by non-Yiddish speaking playgoers.

"Dodsworth," with Walter Huston as star, will open a Chicago engagement tonight at the Erlanger theater—not the Grand Opera house, as an error in yesterday's TRIBUNE stated. The company's stay here may be limited to a few weeks, because Max Gordon, its impresario, plans to extend the tour to the Pacific coast. Late in the season Mr. Huston may appear in "Othello."

"Paths of Glory," Sidney Howard's dramatization of Humphrey Cobb's anti-war novel, will end its career in the Plymouth theater, New York, next Wednesday.—C. C.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan C. Plimpton announce the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth to William Dean Holdsworth, son of Mrs. R. D. Holdsworth of Oak Park, on Oct. 5 in the Hyde Park Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Holdsworth will reside in Mansfield, O.

'Beauty' Sleep Real Necessity in Preservation of Loveliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Sleep just has to be talked about by a conscientious beauty adviser. And never was it needed more than in this era of running around on nerves. I know a popular woman, not yet 30, who is a lesson in getting sleep-wise before it is too late. She's a business person, good looking, well groomed, clever, amusing, the sort that both men and women like, with the consequence that she's invited more places the average single woman. She's wanted to play bridge, to bring her entertaining self for week-ends. She's wanted for cocktail parties and teas. And men take her out a great deal to the theater and night clubs because she dances like a professional.

A year ago, when she turned 27, one morning she saw a sight in the glass that brought her up with a start. She'd been doing all the usual facial care, such as the cold water face plunge and the few minutes' massage and all that. Yet, at 27, on this disturbing morning she saw a face that looked old as time, as she said. Nearly every night for a month she had been out somewhere.

Well, she took her cure straight for two weeks, turned down every date, reporting she was under doctor's orders. She was the doctor who did the ordering. Then, in circulation again, she set three evenings a week as her limit.

Now, you, and you, and you with the late hour habits can prune your dates. You can pick and choose them, which should be done for the sake of your face.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Feeling as we do that a really good shampoo or a really good hair treatment, provided your hair needs it, is heaps more important than a slick finger wave or a trick hair cut, we were happy to hear about the new shampoo-treatment system inaugurated in a Chicago beauty salon.

This shop is not a low priced one, so the treatment isn't inexpensive, but for women who want and can afford the best it's very much something to look into. Before shampooing a trained operator gives the hair a good brushing, then massages into the scalp an ointment designed to loosen the dandruff. The comb used in parting the hair is a huge amber affair.

The massage given is firm fingered; you can see your scalp getting pink under the operator's hands and you can feel the stimulation. It's grand for the tight scalp that's the root of so many hair evils.

This goes on for close to half an hour. Then comes the shampoo, which is quite revolutionary, and most pleasant. No soap actually touches the hair. With the aid of a sponge and a cake of good oil castile soap the operator froths up a sea of soap suds and only the suds are used as the cleansing agent. With the sponge and the suds you're given one grand shampoo that involves several pleasant sudsings and rinsings.

After the last rinsing there's a pomade, to keep the dryer from doing its darndest. It's all expert, and all scientific, and awfully good for the crowning glory. Women with dry, dandruffy hair will benefit by it.

KOSTO IS JUST THE THING FOR BABIES---IT'S SO EASILY DIGESTED!
TRY THIS PURE RICH PUDDING

According to CULBERTSON

The most important thing in bridge is to know the limit of a bid made by opponents so as to be able to crack them for penalties if they are out on a limb. Except by peeking, the only way to find out is to keep track of your trump tricks, if any, and of your honor tricks in side suits. If you and I hold four aces, it is obvious that our opponents cannot make more than nine tricks, unless one of our aces is trumped, an event so rare that it does not enter into usual calculation. Aces and other honor combinations are the only bidding values which will take tricks regardless of whether the trump suit is your own, your partner's or opponents'. But not all honor combinations escape the danger of being trumped. The third lead of any side suit against an opponent's trump bid is quite likely to be trumped. Even the second lead in a suit, at times, fails to pass through the trump barrier.

In attack, a hand such as spade ace, king, queen, jack, 5, 4, 3, 2; heart 9, 8, 7; diamond 4; club 6, is worth eight tricks and usually justifies a shut-out bid of four spades. In defense against an adverse trump bid, the same hand is worth but one trick, the ace of spades, for it is highly probable that even the king of spades will be ruffed. The other seven spades will be held up for a slaughter by the machine guns of opponents' trumps. This imposes a double standard of values even with honors, in attack and in defense.

In attack [at own or partner's bids] the honors are counted at their full value. For instance, with spade ace, king, queen, jack, the playing expectancy is four tricks. In defense, or against opponents' trump bid, only the first two leads of the suit are fully counted as tricks, and the value of the third honor is reduced from one full trick to a mere "plus," which is roughly equivalent to a quarter of a trick. In defense, with spade ace, king, queen, we have two full tricks and a plus value for the third honor. That is the reason why a strong combination such as ace, queen, jack is worth but slightly more than ace, queen, 2.

Planning.

In playing a bridge hand, you have to count your chickens before you can hope to hatch them. It is almost impossible to play a hand intelligently if you do not know exactly how many tricks you need, and approximately where you can expect to get them. The greatest expert in the world will play the following hand incorrectly if he does not carefully count his winning cards before playing.

NORTH
♥ J 8 5 4
♦ K Q

WEST
♠ K 8 6 5
♥ A Q 7 2
♦ 9 7

EAST
♠ 10 9 7 4
♥ K 10 3
♣ Q J 4

SOUTH
♥ 9 6
♦ A J 10 5 3 2
♣ 5 3

The bidding [East-West vulnerable]:

South	West	North	East
1 Di.	Pass	2 Cl.	Pass
2 Di.	Pass	2 N. T.	Pass
3 Di.	Pass	3 N. T.	[final bid]

Opening lead, spade 10 by East.

South, having made an opening bid with the minimum in honor tricks and two weak suits, showed that he could not help the no trump contract by rebidding his diamonds twice. But North had the king-queen of diamonds and knew that the entire suit could be utilized. East led the spade 10, which seemed to offer North an easy chance to finesse. But if the finesse had been taken, West would have won with the spade king and shifted to hearts, and four heart tricks would have defeated the contract. A careful declarer would count his possible winners before playing from dummy to the first trick. He would see six diamond tricks, one spade, and two clubs, nine in all, and he would put up the spade ace in dummy, take the diamond king, overtake the diamond queen, and run his game before risking the loss of a trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

QUESTION: Should a hand be stronger to make an opening bid third or fourth hand, than first or second hand?

ANSWER: No. The requirements are the same in all positions, and as a rule a biddable hand may be bid whether first or fourth hand. Some hands, which are weak in the major suits, are opened in the first three positions, but passed fourth hand. For example, sp. 8 3, ht. 8 6 2, di. A K 7 5 2, cl. K 6 5. Third hand may occasionally make a bid with less than the required 2½ honor tricks, to show a strong suit and tell partner what to lead if the opponents later play the hand in no trump.

French Shop Hats

Three Important New Hats Speak for the Wide Assortments

The cocktail hat—just a wispy little cap of malines and velvet—but there's no mistaking the style's Paris origin. The transparent crown reveals glimpses of hair, and a veil ripples around the face.

The hat with the caracul crown and the antelope brim combines two leading materials of the season—fur and suede—and just observe the lines! Hats of this type form an important group.

This high Russian toque is a very cosmopolitan creation! Russia inspires it, Paris sets the style, and Persia supplies the lamb of which it is fashioned. A stunning feather towers high, right in front. Persian lamb hats have fashion "by the ears" this season.

BY CHARLES NEVADA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 13.—The surprising Chicago Cardinals remain the only undefeated team in the National Professional Football league race. They preserved their perfect record and at the same time kept first place today by defeating the Green Bay Packers, 3 to 0, before a capacity crowd of 18,000 at State Fair park.

Paul Pardonner, former Purdue quarter back, provided the points by which the Cardinals went on to their second victory over the Packers this season. He dropkicked a field goal from the 12 yard line soon after the second quarter opened. It was the only bright spot for the Chicagoans in the first half, since they were outplayed by a wide margin, especially on offense.

Cards Get Better.

Chicago's attack improved materially in the second half, but its backs still lacked the punch to put the ball over after advancing into a favorable position late in the fourth period. At the same time its alert defense kept to a minimum the threat of Green Bay's air attack.

Hal Pangle, 200 pound Oregon back, and Phil Sarboe of Washington State typified the wide-awake spirit that marked the Cardinals' play in the final minutes. Sarboe intercepted a long pass by Arnie Herber, thrown from behind the Packers' goal, and ran it back 37 yards to Green Bay's 33 yard line. Six plays later, the Cardinals were close to a touchdown, but couldn't get across. Then Pangle intercepted another long Herber pass and raced 19 yards to Green Bay's 6 yard line. The gun sounded after the Cardinals completed one play.

Miss Two Goals.

There were two other times in the last half that the Chicago eleven moved within striking distance. The first chance came in the third quarter when Sarboe missed a field goal from the Packer 40 yard line. In the fourth period Dave Cook failed on another kick from the Packer 30 yard line.

Pardonner's nice return of Johnny Blood's punt to the Chicago 46 yard line started his team's advance. After Pangle failed to gain through the line, Cook broke through the Packer defense for a 44 yard sprint. He was brought down from behind by Milt Gantenbein ten yards short of the goal. Pangle, Peterson, and Cook gained only six yards in three smashes at the line, after which Pardonner dropped back to the Packer 12 yard line and dropkicked the ball between the uprights for a field goal.

Packers Blow Four Chances.

Green Bay's big moments came in the first half when it rolled up all except three of the 16 first downs credited to it during the contest. These provided four scoring opportunities.

The first chance for a Green Bay touchdown came in the opening minutes when the Packers drove from midfield to Chicago's 11 yard line, where they were held for downs. Another opportunity came a few minutes later. They reeled off three downs on a series of short passes and Hank Bruder's 23 yard dash, only to be checked on the Cardinal six yard line.

Get to One Foot Line.

Shortly after Pardonner's drop kick for Chicago's points, at the outset of the second period, the Packers loosed the third threat. This one carried them 70 yards to the Cardinal one foot line. Five first downs were made during this advance. Green Bay menaced for the final time just before the half ended, moving the ball from Chicago's 38 yard line to the Chicago 10 yard line, where a flock of Cardinals broke through and blocked Monnett's try for a field goal.

Fordham, Nebraska Are Convinced, Too.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The football armies of the Western conference, like those of ancient Rome, were all-conquering last Saturday. They reported victories in every portion of the gridiron world except the south. There are some mid-western fans who insist that Big Ten football is just about the best football extant, and these gents certainly have four good arguments for debate.

The Iowa boys turned in a brilliant conquest of Colgate's invaders, thoroughly deflating the Red Raiders and even humiliating them by showing a lateral pass combination that was superior to any Colgate offered. But despite this triumph, the fighting Illini, since they carried the battle to Southern California's Trojans on the far western front, must be given top line.

Go Around, Over Trojans.

Southern California hasn't been the greatest team in the country for several seasons, but few believed Illinois strong enough to win. Climate was the reason. And Southern California's men, by superior weight, were presumed capable of smashing Illinois' line. Then, too, only two weeks ago an impotent Illinois team lost to Ohio university, 6 to 0. But Illinois swept around and passed over the Trojans. They were alert, fast, and crashed in to block two kicks. The whole added up to a resounding 19 to 0 triumph which long will be remembered as one of the university's greatest gridiron achievements.

Iowa's Hawkeyes deserve commendation for their courage. Colgate, favorite to win, started with a rush which crossed Iowa's goal line on the third play of the game. Iowa lost five games last year. There was no immediate tradition of victory to bolster the players, but Iowa needed no such spur. The forwards tore into the Colgate line, opening breaches through which dependable Dick Crayne, fleet Ozzie Simmons, and a Chicago sophomore, Dick Bowlin, smashed. Simmons was easily the fastest runner on the field and his 11 yard, highly individual contribution in the march for the winning touchdown was the difference between a tie and victory.

Timing It Just Right.

Moreover, Simmons tied the score in the second period by the superbly timed run after taking a lateral pass from Bowlin. Bowlin's lateral was just right for the colored star to take the ball at full speed.

By coincidence, Iowa and Illinois now meet a week from Saturday in their opening Big Ten engagement. The question will be whether Iowa, with greater speed than Southern California, can outscore Illinois' open style of attack. It's a question many thousands will want to see answered at Champaign.

A new Purdue team, already with one conference victory by virtue of a 7 to 0 victory over Northwestern, wrote a brilliant page in the Boilermaker record book. Without one of its sophomore stars, Cecil Isbell, and also without aid from Full Back John Drake, Purdue rolled over a splendid Fordham eleven, 20 to 0. It was a typical long gaining attack that snook loose ball carriers scarcely known before this present campaign.

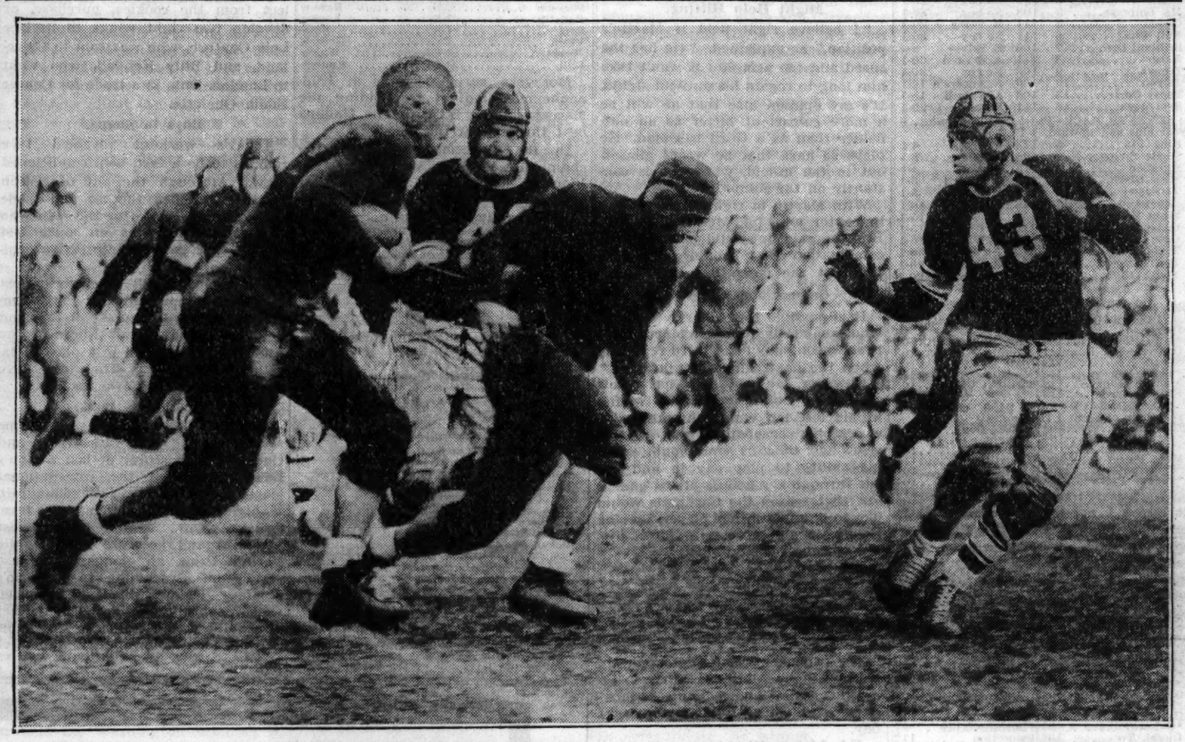

The Big Ten had confidently backed Purdue to win prestige in the east, and the Big Ten was right. Now Purdue must think of Chicago and ways and means of stopping Jay Berwanger. Last Saturday the Maroons, paced by Berwanger, swamped Western State Teachers, 31 to 6.

Minnesota Carries On.

And now we come to Minnesota's mighty men, the remnants of last year's national championship team which burst the balloon of Nebraska's hopes by a stirring 12 to 7 triumph before the largest crowd ever to see a football game at Lincoln. Perhaps, in advance, the teams were rated equal, but in Nebraska, because of

CHICAGO PROS MARK UP TWO MORE LEAGUE VICTORIES

The Cardinals remained in the lead in the National league yesterday by whipping the Green Bay Packers, 3 to 0, at Milwaukee. It was the fourth victory in a row over the Packers since the Cardinals were reorganized last season. Above, George Sauer, Packer full back, gains two yards before Mike Mikulak, Cardinal full back, stopped him. Sauer's interferer, Buckets Goldenberg, is ready to take out Al Nichelini (43).

Runyan's 283 Wins in Open at Louisville

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., professional, shot a 70 today to overtake the early leader, Alvin Kreuger, Beloit, Wis., and win the $5,000 Louisville open golf tournament. Runyan's 72 hole total was 283, one under par.

Runyan started today's play two strokes behind. He carded a 37, two over par, on the out nine of the afternoon round, but settled down on the back stretch with four birdies for a 33, three under par.

Cooper Is Second.

Second place went to Harry Cooper, who turned in the best performance of the day with a 69 on the afternoon round. He was out in 33 and back in 36 and needed pars on the last three holes to catch Runyan. His drive on the 16th, however, found a trap. He wound up with a 6 on this hole and his chances were gone. His total was 285.

Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., shot two rounds of 72 and 70 to wind up in third place with 287. Tied for fourth were Bill Kaiser, Louisville; Kreuger, Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Byron Nelson, Ridgewood, N. J., with 289.

Runyan took a 5 on the first hole of the closing 18 when he went past the green on his second shot and was unable to sink a 12 foot putt his recovery left him. A drain caught his ball on the second, but rules permitted removal and he carded a par 4. He missed a 3 foot putt on the third that would have meant a birdie deuce, and missed another birdie on the fourth by half an inch.

Good Approach Helps.

He was one over par on the fifth. On the sixth an excellent putt made up for a poor second shot. His approach shot from 180 yards away stopped six feet from the seventh cup but he needed two putts. Deep rough from the tee cost him a 4, one over par, on the eighth but on the ninth he was dead to the pin for a birdie 3.

He sank a seven foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 10th and approached dead on the 11th for another. He took a par 5 on the 12th and a long putt gave him a birdie deuce on the 13th. After pars on the 14th and 15th, he went one over on the 16th when his second shot faded into tall grass. A six foot putt, after a perfect tee shot, gave him a deuce on the 17th. His second shot on the 18th bobbed over the green but by virtue of a long putt he carded a par 4.

Reds Pollock, the Bears' rookie half back, went back to his home town yesterday and led the Bears to a 39 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles. Here is Pollock off on a 15 yard dash to the first of his three touchdowns. Piled up on the left the Bears are Ookie Miller, on the ground; Joe Zeller, over him, and Bill Karr, No. 22. Eggs Manske, former Northwestern player, No. 36, is chasing Pollock.

RACING DRIVER KILLED, FIVE HURT IN DETROIT RACE

The drivers injured were: Carmi Frazzini, Pat Newman, Bud Henderson, Windy Jennings, and Ray Campbell. None of the five injured was believed critically hurt.

Oregon Football Player Dies After Operation

Eugene, Ore., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Walter M. Back, 22 years old, Palo Alto, Cal., senior at the University of Oregon, died today after blood transfusions volunteered by his football teammates failed to restore his ebbing strength. He was operated upon Friday for removal of a bony growth in the calf of his right leg. The operation disclosed the leg was infected from an injury at least a year old. It was not determined whether it was a football injury.

USE OF 'CANNED' DUCK QUACK UP TO COURT TODAY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Packers who boast of utilizing all of the pig except its squeal doubtless will be interested tomorrow when a federal court considers the value and importance of the "canned" quack of a duck.

Judge Merrill E. Otis is scheduled to hear the application of Ernest A. Schroer and Robert C. Stocker, for a temporary order to prevent arrest of hunters using their phonograph records of wild ducks' calls as lures.

The plaintifs also ask $4,000 damages from J. N. [Ding] Darling, chief of the United States biological survey, who recently banned the use of live decoys and later said the use of phonograph records by ultramodern nimrods would be in violation of the regulations.

WOODY ENGLISH TO PLAY 3D FOR GIANTS—MAYBE

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Woody English, captain of the Cubs, will play third base for the New York Giants next year. The deal has been closed and will have several ramifications, including the acquisition by the Cubs of one of the Giants' best known pitchers.

Thus did sparks fly yesterday at the premature kindling of Chicago's hot stove, while the outside temperature was sizzling in the neighborhood of 80 degrees. The rumors, the like of which usually aren't circulated until after the football season, met with prompt denials, a routine adjunct of the little stove's heat waves.

May Manage Birmingham.

English, who is preparing to leave Chicago tomorrow for a visit with relatives in Ohio, said he had not been informed of any deal that would send him to New York. He had heard other rumors having to do with his managing the Birmingham team of the Southern association next year, but does not feel it his place to discuss matters purely in the hands of his baseball superiors.

"I'd rather any discussion of reports would come from Charley Grimm," the Cubs' 29 year old captain said. "He has told me that he will let me know just as soon as he makes a move, if any, involving my contract. He has told me nothing, so I can't discuss either the New York or Birmingham rumors."

English added, however, that he preferred to remain with the Cubs next year, rounding out ten years of service with the Cubs. He thus would become a "ten year man," and the Cubs, or any other major league team holding his contract then, could use him only in deals involving major league employment. Anything like the proposed Birmingham move then would be up to Woody, following his unconditional release.

Mantle of Heavy Mystery.

The rumors anent the New York transaction which were flying around yesterday, while the first of this off season based on Chicago players, are not the first involving English since he became baseball's most mysterious man of mystery. He has been mentioned in a score of possible transactions since he became a bench captain three years ago.

In the season just closed, English almost constantly was out of the Cub lineup. When, in the eleventh inning of the third game of the world series, a need was found for him, he had been sent to the bathhouse in Umpire Moriarty's now notorious outbreak. The Cubs blame the loss of the game to his absence in this belated instance.

Maybe He's a Good Sitter.

Despite his almost constant splinter gathering during the regular season, Capt. Woody seems to have lost none of his popularity with Manager Grimm or the Cub players. He seemed to rate as an indispensable fellow just sitting around.

When the Cubs clinched the pennant and time came to split the world series purse, English was designated as chairman of the pot splitting committee. Woody was determined there should be no repetition of the Cubs' famous tightwad split of 1932, and, under his chairmanship, the most generous distribution in Cub history was voted.

Rusty, Yes—but Still Good.

English, through days and days on the Cub bench, possibly has become a bit rusty as a player, as reflected in the records he made in his infrequent appearances this year. His talents are such, however, that regular employment undoubtedly would make him a valuable addition to the Giants, as well as at least four other teams in the National league.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Reds Pollock, former Northeast High and Penn Military college star of this city, led the Chicago Bears to a 39 to 0 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles in a National Professional league game today before 22,000 at Baker bowl. Pollock made three of the Bears' six touchdowns. Jack Manders, full back, place kicked three points after touchdowns.

Four of these touchdowns were made in the second period after the Bears had been frustrated in two goalward drives in the first quarter. This play of power gave the former league champions a 27 to 0 lead at the intermission and in the second half they contented themselves with a touchdown in each of the third and fourth quarters.

Pollock Starts Scoring.

Pollock launched the second period attack with a 15 yard run for the first touchdown three minutes after the period opened. This ignited the attack and in less than 12 minutes the Bears had scored 20 more points against the helpless and completely bewildered Eagles eleven. Pollock scored on drives of five and eight yards for touchdowns and Keith Molesworth tossed a 20 yard forward pass to Luke Johnsos for another.

The Chicagoans eased up in the second half, limiting themselves to Ed Kawal's touchdown after a 13 yard run with an intercepted Eagle pass in the third period and Gene Ronzoni's five yard plunge at the end of a 95 yard march in the fourth quarter.

Pitts Catches Pass.

The Eagles were utterly helpless against the Bears, whose own fumbles and penalties kept the score from mounting. Chicago wasted at least four other opportunities to score.

Twenty-two thousand fans, the largest crowd in the Eagles' history, sat in silence for practically two hours, coming to life only to send up a shout for Alabama Pitts. Pitts entered the game late in the fourth quarter to satisfy the insistent cry of "We want Pitts" and gave the crowd its only opportunity to cheer when he caught a pass from Storm for 18 yards, the longest Eagle advance of the day.

Bears Refuse to Kick.

The Bears might have scored 41 points had they not waived their chance to kick the extra points after the last two touchdowns. After the first three tries fans in the bleachers refused to return the ball. Fearing the supply of footballs might run out, the Chicagoans decided not to try for the extra point.

GARDEN MAKES THREAT TO STOP LEWIS-OLIN BOUT

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Madison Square Garden of New York, in a telegram to the Post-Dispatch, has threatened legal action to prevent the Bob Olin-John Henry Lewis light heavyweight championship fight here Oct. 31.

John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Garden, wired the newspaper, "Olin under contract to the Madison Square Garden corporation. Have instructed our attorneys to take all legal steps to protect our rights."

Lew Raymond, one of the local promoters, admitted the Garden had signed Olin to a contract after he won the title from Maxie Rosenbloom, but said the agreement applied only to the state of New York.

"Furthermore," he asserted, "Olin was ordered to defend his title within six months, but they have not provided an opponent, as we have, so we are not afraid of a court test."

MRS. MARS BUYS RIDING CONTRACT OF STAR JOCKY

Alfred Robertson to Leave Whitney Stable.

BY FRENCH LANE.

To her great consternation, Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Oak Park, who owns the Milky Way farms turf establishment, came to the sudden realization the other day that after assembling one of the most powerful racing stables in America, she didn't have a jocky of her own to ride her star horses.

She went out to get one and, as has been her custom in other turf ventures, especially those enacted during the Saratoga yearling auctions, she stepped up to the counter and bought the best there was on the market.

Gets Robertson's Contract.

The announcement came from her trainer, Bob McGarvey, in New York yesterday that he had obtained the contract on Jocky Alfred Robertson. To get Robertson, Mrs. Mars had to break up the famous jocky team of Workman and Robertson which for a half dozen years has carried on in the Eton blue and brown jacket of C. V. Whitney.

Robertson ends his long term with the Whitney stable at the close of the year. He will report to the Milky Way farm stable a few days later and will be with the division of horses Trainer McGarvey takes to Florida for a winter campaign at Hialeah Park.

They're Highest Paid Jockies.

Workman and Robertson have been the highest paid jockies in America for several seasons. They probably will continue to be again next year. Robertson believes he will have more opportunities with the younger Milky Way farm stable. This is probably true, for he will do the riding on such stars as The Fighter, Forever Yours, Sangreal, and Whiskolo, in addition to the Milky Way 2 year olds which cost Mrs. Mars $100,000 at the Saratoga auctions last August.

Trainer E. A. Morgan and the horse Sun Voter have been indefinitly suspended by the stewards at Sportsman's Park because a saliva test made on the horse Sun Voter after he won the second race on last Wednesday revealed that the 2 year old had been stimulated. The stewards have forwarded their ruling to the Illinois racing commission.

Attendance and betting handle during the first week of the Sportsman's Park fall meeting are reported to have broken all records for a six day run at the half mile course in Cicero.

TIRED WORN-OUT MEN!

If you are overworked, nervous, tire easily and lack ambition because you haven't got the strength and energy to fight for success, don't be discouraged. Science now says that it is often merely a case of IODINE STARVED GLANDS—glands that promote the assimilation of your food—that control metabolism, the body's process of converting ordinary food into rugged strength, rich red blood and the energy and endurance you need to feel on top of the world. You can get this NATURAL PLANT IODINE in Kelpamalt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea. (Don't confuse this iodine with ordinary liquid iodine which often proves toxic.) Kelpamalt's NATURAL PLANT IODINE puts food to work for you instead of allowing it to pass through your system virtually unused. Besides its precious iodine, Kelpamalt contains 12 other vitally needed body minerals.

Try this amazing new mineral-iodine concentrate for one week. Notice how much better you feel, how well you sleep, how your appetite improves. Notice how worn out, exhausted nerves quickly calm and grow strong. Over 4,000,000 people annually use Kelpamalt. It costs but little to use. Be sure to get the original Seedol Kelpamalt Tablets. dethroned National league champions.

That won't mean the benching next season of Pepper Martin, but it will mean Martin's return to the outfield.

President Sam Breadon, who, by the way, can't see anyone but the Cardinals on top of the heap next year, said he believed his team would be greatly strengthened by the shift.

Might Help Hitting.

"I believe right field is Martin's position," he explained. "He has the speed and the arm and it won't take him long to regain his outfield sights. It's my opinion also that he will be a more consistent hitter as an outfielder than as a third baseman. He plays so hard that he wears himself out in the infield, where he is constantly on the jump."

With Martin in right, Terry Moore in center and Joe Medwick in left, Breadon said he would have "a 1936 combination that should rank with the best the game has ever seen."

Gelbert May Get Place.

It is possible that Charley Gelbert, who frequently replaced Martin this past season, may be at third regularly when the next campaign starts.

However, while Gelbert has recovered fully from the shotgun wound in his left leg which threatened to wreck his baseball career several years ago, there is some doubt about his ability to play day in and day out through a schedule of 154 games. For that reason the Cardinals would like to obtain another player, leaving Gelbert as a reserve.

SPENCER COALS WIN, 7-3, FROM LEAGUE STARS

The Spencer Coals defeated the Major League All-Stars, 7 to 3, in the ninth annual homecoming baseball game at Spencer Coals field yesterday.

Ed Linke, Washington Senators pitcher, hurled the whole game for the Spencers, yielding nine hits and striking out eight. Bob Weiland, formerly with the White Sox and other major league teams, went the route for the All-Stars.

Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs, Eddie Hope of Milwaukee and Fred Bedore of Indianapolis of the American association, led the All-Stars at bat.

Second Guessing

All the second guessing in the world won't change the result of the World's Series—the scores are in the book. Frankly, we were pulling for the Cubs and Charlie—but we have to take our hats off to Mickey and his Tigers.

You won't need to do any second guessing if you make a loan here—low rates—fair terms. At the same time if you have done any bad guessing in the first place you may still get yourself out of the hole.

Sparta Defeats Olympia, 5 to 0; Leads League

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta defeated Olympia, 5-0, yesterday in the Bohemian Soccer Derby and took the lead in the Chicago league. Olympia held its opponents even for the fist 30 minutes, and then Kriz and Vleck scored to give Sparta a 2-0 lead at half time. The wind aided Sparta in the second half, Wolf scoring twice and Vleck getting another. Kratochil's play at goal and Pelej's work at back kept the count from going higher.

Hawk Rookies Show Promise in First Drill

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Manager Clem Loughlin of the Chicago Blackhawks opened preparation today for the 1935-'36 season with a two hour drill at the University of Illinois skating rink here. Nine rookies, the advance guard, participated in the workout. The season opens at the Chicago Stadium Thursday, Nov. 7, with the New York Americans.

Before that time Loughlin must select from the rookies, purchase, or develop two right wings to replace Lola Couture, who was sold to Cleveland, and Billy Kendall, who went to London, Ont., in a trade for Center Eddie Ouelette.

Boys in Shape.

Today's workout revealed the rookies to be a fast, well conditioned crew. Although the out of season weather softened the ice and made the going uncertain for the men who had not had skates on since last March, they gave an impressive demonstration.

Three players, all forwards of last season's championship St. Paul team in the Central Hockey association and defeated the St. Louis Fliers of the American association in a playoff, excelled at passing. The trio have played together for two seasons.

Locking Is Back.

Norman Locking, who saw some service with the Hawks last year, and Ouelette, high scorer of last season's London team of the International league, together with Cliff Maundrell, a highly spoken of amateur from Oshawa, Ont., exhibited the most powerful and accurate shots, while Verdell Price, an elongated defense star from Brockville, in Ontario's amateur league, displayed unusual skating ability and speed. Another Brockville youngster, Mike McMahon, proved himself a mighty fine stick handler.

DAVEY DAY AND GENO SALVATORE BATTLE TONIGHT

Lightweights to Fight Ten Rounds at Marigold.

Davey Day, hard hitting Chicago lightweight, and Geno Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., both of whom are CHICAGO TRIBUNE Golden Gloves products, tonight will meet in the ten round windup bout at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Day, who lost a title chance when he was defeated by Al Roth July 29 at New York, will seek to make Salvatore the first victim in his new drive for a championship encounter against Tony Canzoneri, current custodian of the division crown. Prior to his defeat by Roth, which was his third loss in 44 battles during a four year professional campaign, Day had been undefeated in one year and a half.

Davey appeared to poor advantage against Roth, and if he doesn't show improvement tonight Salvatore likely will win, it is pointed out by handlers of the La Salle youngster. Even Sam Pian, one of Day's managers, intimated as much. Then, too, Salvatore has been performing in good form this year. Following his conquest of Eddie Carroll at Chicago Stadium Feb. 15, Salvatore journeyed to the Pacific coast where he won four fights. He defeated Willie Davies in ten rounds at Western stadium Aug. 27 upon his return from the coast. Nevertheless, Day is expected to win, perhaps by a knockout. Preliminary matches:

Lou Vine vs. Willie Ross [4], lightweights.
Roy Beacon vs. Charles Pfister [wrestling]

Pat Newman and Frank Malcewicz, light heavyweight wrestlers, will meet in the main event of Promoter Joe Coffey's program tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . Other bouts will bring together Lefty Pacer and Ernie Peterson, Stan Novak and Dale Haddock, Babe Kasaboski and George Jonasen, and Paul Miller and George Schwab. . . . Owen Wood and Russ Nyberg will meet in a five round contest on the amateur boxing card tonight at Venetian hall, 139 Kensington avenue. . . . Oscar Melillo, Boston Red Sox infielder, is scheduled to referee the five round affair involving Danny Villa and Benny Miller. . . . Emil Dusek and his brother, Ernie, have been signed by Matchmaker James C. Mullen and Nate Lewis to appear in supporting encounters to the Danno O'Mahoney-Chief Little Wolf heavyweight wrestling championship bout at the Stadium a week from tonight. . . . Emil will clash with Jim McMillen, who beat Joe Savoldi Friday, and Ernie is matched against Olaf Oleson.

Real Live Umpire Brings a Thrill to Grantville

Grantville, Kas., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The umpire stole the show today as Perry [Kas.] defeated Grantville, 4 to 0, to win the championship of the Jefferson County Baseball league.

The umpire, Ernie Quigley, who called balls and strikes in the world's series, performed before 500 fans in Grantville [population 139] and received a hand to make up for any razzing that unappreciative National league customers may have handed out.

The game was moved up an hour to obtain Quigley's services, a business engagement requiring his presence in Marysville tonight.

HEAVY DUTY STAMINA In a Half-Ton TRUCK

The ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY has more than 40 of these Half-Ton Internationals, in addition to many larger Internationals in its fleet.

Half-Ton Model C-1

These are some of the features that account for the great popularity of this Half-Ton International: Handsome V-type radiator with aluminum grill and chromium trim—valanced fenders—full-length running board—airplane-type instrument panel. The 6-cylinder engine develops maximum brake h. p. of 78.5—real heavy-duty power in a Half-Ton truck.

In this Half-Ton International Model C-1 are incorporated many of the features that provide the stamina found in the big heavy-duty Internationals. Plus speed, handling-ease, and fuel economy that any driver will brag about.

Put it up to a C-1, and you will do your hauling job with new efficiency—and a new economy that will be a source of profit, year after year.

There is a great variety of body adaptations made possible because the C-1 comes in two wheelbases—113 inches and 125 inches. The longer size is a special International feature in a half-ton truck. Come in and see this truck or phone us and we'll bring one over. Other Internationals up to powerful 6-wheelers.

Loyola academy, occupying seventh place in the eastern section of the Catholic High School Football league, held the first place Leo team to a scoreless tie at Loyola stadium yesterday.

Mount Carmel and De Paul closed in on Leo by winning their games, the former triumphing over Joliet, 21 to 0, and De Paul whipping De La Salle, 20 to 0.

St. Mel continued to lead the west section by beating St. Patrick, 20 to 13. In the other west section game, Fenwick of Oak Park opened its league schedule by beating Weber, 43 to 0.

Leo Threatens Once.

The De Paul combination of Steve Juswick and Gordy Kearns conquered De La Salle. Juswick scored two touchdowns, making a total of six in two games. Kearns got one.

Leo threatened only once in the game with Loyola. In the fourth quarter, with the ball on the 20 yard line, Dave O'Brien of Loyola intercepted a pass from Clark, a substitute for Mackey, on the goal line, and brought the ball out to the 2 yard line. Sackley punted to midfield on the first down.

St. Rita Sub Scores.

St. Rita scored its first league victory by beating St. George of Evanston, 13 to 0. Pete Thomas, a sub for Budrick, scored both touchdowns, one in the second quarter when he caught a lateral pass thrown by Otten and ran thirty yards, and the other in the final period when he caught a punt and raced sixty yards down the field.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CLARK SHAUGHNESSY, University of Chicago football coach, sleeps with a pencil and note pad under his pillow. . . . If a new play occurs to him during the night he writes it down immediately. . . . Should the Maroons pull a sleeper play on a Big Ten opponent you will know where it originated. . . . Chic Sale, who used to live in Urbana, introduced film celebrities at the Los Angeles Illini dinner Saturday night. . . . The Tigers slowed up Augie Galan at bat by throwing him a medium speed ball. . . . They found in the first two games that he murders a fast ball or a slow ball. . . . Seventy-six Michigan high school football players tried to get into the University of Michigan this fall, but 57 of them failed to make the grade scholastically. . . . The radio sponsor of the world series would not allow any announcer to mention celebrities at the games for fear any who should not be mentioned would be offended. . . . George Musso, Chicago Bears' linesman, purchased a $700 engagement ring before the team left to play three games in the east. . . .

Lawson Little, British and American amateur golf champion, came close to signing a professional contract while he was in Chicago last week. . . . He has decided to do nothing about it, however, until he talks it over with his father next week. . . . Bill Terry says Carl Hubbell is available for only one trade—Hubbell for Dizzy Dean, even. . . . Stan Hack, Cubs' third baseman, owns a plane, but he isn't going to fly this winter. . . . It would cost $35C to rehabilitate the ship and anyway Stan says he is through with flying forever. . . . This leaves Frank Demaree about the only air-minded Cub. . . . Frank flew from the last game in Detroit to his home in California. . . . Nebraska's first two opponents, Chicago and Iowa State, did not have a penalty assessed against them. . . . Boake Carter, world series broadcaster for one of the networks, referred to the baselines constantly as cinder paths. . . . He probably was a sprinter in his younger days. . . . Bob Zuppke will make use of the open date on Illinois' schedule this weekend to look over Ohio State and Northwestern. . . .

Notre Dame, which has compiled some of the longest winning streaks in football, and Knox, which owns one of the longest losing streaks, are even in their gridiron warfare. . . . Knox defeated the Irish, 12 to 5, in 1902, but Notre Dame evened up in 1907, 22 to 4. . . . Andy Dooley, Iowa junior, who was second to Jesse Owens in the Big Ten world's record 220 yard dash last spring, remained in Iowa City through the summer after a knee operation and he already has started training for the Olympic trials. . . . Mayor A. H. Berndt of Bloomington, Ind., was athletic director, football and baseball coach at DePauw university in 1911 and 1912. . . . Bill Graber of Southern California, one of the best pole vaulters of all time, will have to remain idle at least a year as a result of a badly ruptured thigh muscle. . . . He cannot possibly get into condition for the Olympic games. . . .

Joe Foley, who presented the Louis-Levinsky fight at Comiskey park in conjunction with the Twentieth Century club, is spending a few weeks with relatives in Kentucky. . . . He will winter in Miami. . . . George Melinkovich, right half back on the 1934 Notre Dame eleven, is on his way to Los Angeles where he has a position with the Independent Pneumatic Tool company, whose headquarters are in Chicago. . . . It is hard to explain why men like Charles Stoneham, owner of the Giants; Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees; Louis Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, and other magnates and managers are seldom seen at world series or other big baseball gatherings. . . . Wonder how they expect the public to maintain interest in baseball if they are not interested enough themselves to attend the sport's leading attractions. . . . There are at least two gentlemen you always will find on hand—Clark Griffith of the Senators and Tom Shibe of the Athletics. . . . They live baseball, in and out of season. . . .

smashing victories over Chicago and Iowa State, the Cornhusker followers had believed they were destined to triumph.

Minnesota bottled up Lloyd Cardwell, but couldn't halt his half back mate, Jerry La Noue, who scored the Cornhusker touchdown. Minnesota, with Roscoe playing the position once manned by Pug Lund, slammed over two touchdowns, the deciding score being made possible by a poor kick by Nebraska.

Badgers Beaten Again.

Wisconsin was the only Big Ten team defeated on Saturday, but it was a safe wager that the hapless Badgers would lose a third consecutive game. Notre Dame was the opponent and after a slow start and the fever of the opening play had left Wisconsin with normal temperature the Irish passed and ran for four touchdowns. Notre Dame never opened up, but it will this Saturday if it expects to defeat Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh took its third game Saturday, a 24 to 6 romp over West Virginia. The Panthers are the only team in Notre Dame history that has whipped the Irish three years in succession.

Indiana and Michigan engaged in conference competition Saturday, Michigan winning when Patanelli recovered a punt for the touchdown after Indiana's safety man touched the ball. Indiana outscored Michigan by air and through the line, but Michigan got the points for its first Big Ten victory since 1933 when the Wolverines won the championship.

Yale Rallies to Win.

Yale gained credit Saturday for the most stirring rally of the day. Outplayed in the first half, Eli came back against Pennsylvania to win, 31 to 20, in riotous scoring.

Alabama and Stanford, Rose Bowl foes nine months ago, figured in the upsets. Alabama lost to Mississippi State, 20 to 7, for the first defeat since Fordham turned the trick, 2 to 0, in 1933, although the Crimson Tide was deadlocked, 7 to 7, by Howard in the opening game. Stanford fell by the margin of the kick after touchdown, 7 to 6, before California [Los Angeles], which by measurement of statistics was outplayed.

Michigan State looms as one of the great teams of the year. Kansas now has been scalped by the Spartans and the score was 42 to 0, just about half the number of points, however, that Ohio State ran up against Drake [85-7].

Lane Opposes 'Slow Whistle' Football Rule

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Frank Lane, the Cincinnati Reds' business manager, who becomes a gridiron official when the football campaigns get under way, doesn't like the "slow whistle" suggestion of the football rules committee, and predicts its downfall.

This year's interpretation allows "too much roughing," he believes.

"I know," said Lane, "that the rules committee suggested that referees withhold 'blowing the ball dead' to allow for a more effective and widespread use of the lateral pass.

"I also know that the lateral passing game employed by Ohio State and Colgate makes for a more highly enjoyable game to the spectator. It likewise affords the team on the short end of the score a greater scoring opportunity in a minimum amount of playing time.

"Ohio State, Colgate and others that employed the multiple pass offense last season apparently had no great difficulty in executing this style of play under last year's statutes.

"I predict," declared Lane, "that the rules committee will revert to last year's interpretation before the start of another season."

PURDUE ALUMNI HOLD FOOTBALL DINNER FRIDAY

Hundreds of Purdue alumni are expected to attend the annual football dinner of the Purdue Alumni Association of Chicago to be held at the University club Friday night, the eve of the annual Purdue-Chicago game.

Among the speakers will be President Elliott of the Lafayette, Ind., institution; Head Football Coach Noble Kizer, who will tell of interesting happenings in Purdue's victories over Northwestern and Fordham, and John T. McCutcheon, CHICAGO TRIBUNE cartoonist, who will speak on his recent air trip to South America and Europe. Charles W. Morey, president of the Chicago Technical college, is on the committee of arrangements.

U.S.C. Football Slump Cuts Stadium Rent by $78,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The University of Southern California's football slump has been felt by the city of Los Angeles. In 1930 when the Trojans were clicking they paid the city $122,933 in rental commissions on the municipally owned Coliseum. Last year the city's percentage dropped to $44,661, according to a report by the Coliseum management.

Lions Pass and Drive Through Redskins, 17-7

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Detroit Lions held the upper hand from start to finish today while defeating the Boston Redskins, 17 to 7, in a hard fought National Professional Football league game before a crowd of 20,000.

The Lions opened their scoring in the first period when, after the Redskins stopped a determined drive on their 30 yard line, Glenn Presnell kicked a 35 yard placement field goal.

Although the Lions held a decided edge in the second period, they were unable to increase their lead until the third when two long forward passes enabled them to march 35 yards over the Redskins' goal line.

The Redskins scored their first touchdown in four years against a Potsy Clark coached team in the final quarter. A Detroit punt was downed on the Boston 40 yard line and Pug Rentner hurled a long pass to Charlie Malone, who then raced 20 yards before crossing the Lions' last white line.

GIANTS, 10; DODGERS, 7

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two points a minute was Ken Strong's average today as the New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10 to 7, in a National Pro Football league game before 30,000 at the Polo grounds.

The former New York university star full back tore around the Dodgers' right tackle for twenty-four yards to a touchdown and kicked the placement for the extra point in the first period. All told, the touchdown required only six plays. A few seconds later he came out of a pileup, limping badly, and left the game.

The fourth quarter was only a few minutes old when the Giants had the ball on the Dodgers' 24 yard line. Thrusts at the heavy Brooklyn line failed and passes failed to click. It was last down with about eight yards to go for a first down. Strong was sent in and he kicked a field goal to give the Giants a 10 to 0 lead.

It looked like a shutout victory for the Giants until their half back, Les Corzine, fumbled on the Dodgers' 33 yard line with less than four minutes to play. Bill White, substitute back, passed to Ralph Kercheval, who was downed on the 4 yard line, and then White flipped a center alley pass to Ray Fuqua who stepped over the line. Kercheval kicked the extra point from placement. Lineups:

Petillo Sets Record in Langhorne 100 Mile Race

He completed the event in 65 minutes 17 3-5 seconds, finishing in front of Billy Winn, Detroit.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: I was greatly interested in an article which appeared in this column recently about "The Chapel." I also attended Sunday school at The Chapel, not only when it was on Evanston avenue, but prior to that time when it was located on the south side of School street, about a block east of Evanston avenue.

As I recall it, the superintendent of the Sunday school was Wyllys W. Baird and the musician was Max Baird. Both were sons of Lyman Baird, who was one of the founders of the firm of Baird & Warner.

Max Baird and I attended Lake View school No. 1, now the Nettelhorst. He took me to the old Baird home at Robbins place and Clarendon avenue several times when we were looking for water lilies in the country north of the Marine hospital, and found them, too.

The writer later attended a newer school, Lake View No. 6, now the Hawthorne, and in 1888 was a member of the school's first graduating class. The following year Lake View was annexed to Chicago.

Now let's have some stories about the dummy, the toll gates, and other landmarks and traditions of old Lake View. Lake Viewer, 1883 to date.

Joe Hart—In a stump speech.
Joe Murphy—In a bone solo, later sang "A Handful of Earth."
Mike Raynayne—Clog dancer.
Master Eddie—Jig dancer.
Prince Sadi De Jalma—Six feet 8 inches, thin, in a contortion act, and in afterpiece with company in burlesque of popular plays of the day such as Edwin Booth's "Hamlet," "Lord Dundreary," and "Streets of New York."

CHICAGO GOPHERS BATTLE ST. LOUIS TO 0-0 DEADLOCK

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two independent professional football teams—the St. Louis Gunners, formerly the Blues, and the Chicago Gophers—battled to a scoreless tie here today.

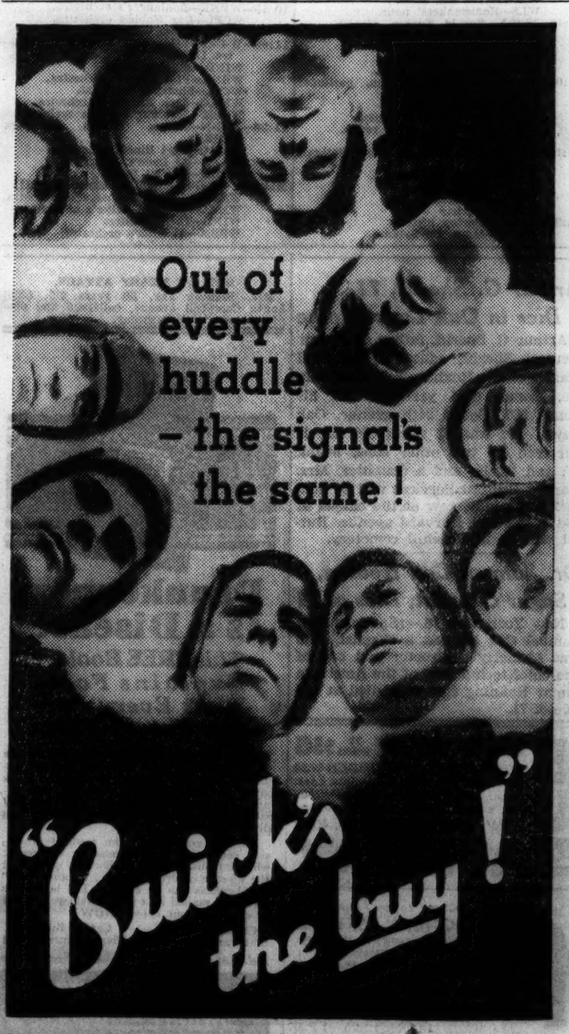

The Gopher line braced to halt the Gunners' only serious threat on the 1 yard line. There were three attempted field goals, two by the Gunners and one by Kekich of the Gophers. St. Louis relied chiefly on the pass as an offensive weapon, while Chicago resorted to running plays.

Are You Good Quarter Back? Easy to Learn

Every football fan at heart is a grandstand quarter back. He frequently criticizes an 18 year old quarter back who calls a certain play that fails to gain. If he [the fan] were running the team, he would have done something else.

You now have a chance to find out how much football you really know. This evening at 10 p. m. Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will present to you a football situation over WGN and ask you to send a 50 word explanation of the play you would call. The fan submitting the most intelligent decision will receive four tickets to next Sunday's game between the Chicago Bears and Brooklyn Dodgers at Wrigley field.

A committee of college and professional coaches will assist Mr. Ward in determining the winner.

Nation-Wide Anti-Olympic Drive Begins

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A nation-wide movement to oppose American participation in the 1936 Olympic games in Germany was launched today in Cambridge. This city was chosen as the starting point because it was the first officially to protest Nazi discrimination against Jewish and Catholic athletes in the German reich.

The Jewish War Veterans of the United States sponsored a demonstration which began at noon with a luncheon to Abraham Kraditor of New York, commander-in-chief of the J. W. V.

Kraditor and other officers of the national, state, and Cambridge branches of the organization later decorated the memorial to Edward Leo Zimmerman, Cambridge world war hero at Zimmerman square, and then joined with nearly 400 veterans and citizens at a protest meeting in the Ridge Technical school.

Pasadena, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A fire apparently caused by a carelessly dropped cigaret caused about $100 damage early today to tunnel No. 3 in the east stands of the famous Rose Bowl, the concrete stadium in which the annual New Year's day football games are played.

TAYLOR NAMED OLYMPIC SPEED SKATING COACH

Vote Freisinger Chance to Make Squad.

William Miles Taylor of Bear Mountain, N. Y., yesterday was named coach of the American Olympic speed skating team which will compete at Garmisch-Partenkirken, Germany, Feb. 1-16.

The appointment of Taylor, who prepared the 1924 and 1932 American teams, was made at a joint meeting of the Olympic skating committee and the United States Amateur Skating union at the Sherman hotel. Henry Kemper of St. Louis, former president of the skating union, was appointed manager of the squad.

Freisinger May Qualify.

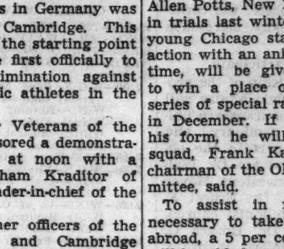

Kemper said the team of four, or possibly five members, would train at Oslo, Norway, and probably would sail from New York Jan. 2. Delbert Lamb and Robert Petersen, Milwaukee; Eddie Schroeder, Chicago, and Allen Potts, New York, were selected in trials last winter. Leo Freisinger, young Chicago star, who was out of action with an ankle fracture at that time, will be given an opportunity to win a place on the squad in a series of special races at Minneapolis in December. If Freisinger regains his form, he will be added to the squad, Frank Kalteux of Chicago, chairman of the Olympic skating committee, said.

To assist in raising the $5,000 necessary to take the speed skaters abroad, a 5 per cent "Olympic tax" will be added to each admission to all meets in which European skaters appear. Two per cent of the tax money will go to the Olympic skating fund, 2 per cent to the local association sanctioning the meet, and 1 per cent to the amateur skating union, it was decided.

Roan Succeeds Kemper.

Chester Roan, Minneapolis, was elected president of the Amateur Skating union, succeeding Kemper. Carl Raymond, Minneapolis, was appointed secretary. Other officers elected were: Melvin W. Crawford, Detroit, first vice president; Don Strathearn, Oconomowoc, Wis., second vice president, and A. J. Hamilton, Cleveland, third vice president.

ST. LUKE'S PARISH CELEBRATING 50 YEARS' ENDEAVOR

Festivities Are Tribute to Bishop Stewart.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Fifty years of service as a parish are being celebrated this week by the congregation of St. Luke's Episcopal procathedral, Evanston. Special observances began yesterday morning with choral eucharist and sermon by Dean Gerald G. Moore, and will close next Sunday morning with services conducted by Bishop George Craig Stewart, who, as rector, built up the famous parish.

The procathedral was filled yesterday afternoon with Episcopal leaders who recalled the growth of the parish which was an obscure mission in 1905. Tribute to this growth was voiced in a vesper sermon by the Rev. Dr. Harold L. Bowen, rector of St. Mark's church, Evanston. Present for the occasion were members of the executive committee of the diocese, the council of the diocese, the cathedral chapter and many clergymen from other parishes.

Civic Leaders Participate.

Tonight the relationship of the procathedral parish to civic affairs will be recognized with Northwestern university, theological seminary, and civic leaders taking part in the observance. Among these are Dr. Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern, Mayor Bartlett of Evanston, Dr. Ernest F. Tittle of the First Methodist church, Evanston, the Rev. Dr. Horace G. Smith of Garrett Biblical institute, Dr. Frederic C. Grant of Seabury Western seminary, and others.

Friday will be homecoming day when former members will return for a reception and dinner.

Phenomenal Growth in 30 Years.

St. Luke's church, a small mission 30 years ago, is known today as the Episcopal church with the largest membership in the central west. Under Dr. Stewart's leadership, the 300 members in 1905 purchased the present procathedral site for $9,000 and plans were drawn for a great gothic structure, the first unit of which was started in 1908.

The following year Lady chapel was begun and the main walls were rising. In 1920 the "battle cloister" was erected to commemorate various world war engagements.

The parish properties now are appraised at about $1,000,000. After Bishop Stewart's elevation to the episcopacy, St. Luke's church became the procathedral and the Rev. Gerald G. Moore of the Church of the Advent was named dean.

BALTIMORE TRUST COMPANY BOARD CHAIRMAN DIES

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 14 [Monday].—(AP)—John Joseph Nelligan, chairman of the board of directors of the Safe Deposit and Trust company and for many years president of that institution, died at his home early today. He had been in failing health for several months. Hope for his recovery was abandoned several days ago.

Nelligan, who began his career as an orphaned office boy for a brick manufacturer, was 70 years old last April. He was one of Baltimore's outstanding Catholic laymen and a frequent adviser to men high in public affairs.

He was a director of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville and Nashville railroads and of the A. S. Abell company, publishers of the Sun papers. He was a trustee of Peabody institute, Catholic university, and the Catholic cathedral here.

GEO. H. GREEN, 48, DIES; OFFICIAL OF WASTE COMPANY

George Holderness Green, 48 years old, president of the National Waste company, 935 North Halsted street, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 327 Leicester road, Kenilworth.

Mr. Green was born in Chicago. He was an executive of the Machine Waste Manufacturers' institute and served as an artillery officer in the world war. He also was a member of the Chicago Athletic and Westmoreland country clubs.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Irene Murphy Green, and two sons, George A. and James H. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth, with burial in Memorial Park cemetery.

Marie Van Gelder, Opera Star, Dies in Cathedral

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Death came to Miss Marie Van Gelder, 55, former Dutch opera star, as she knelt at worship in St. Patrick's cathedral today. Her pew neighbors saw her prayer book fall from her fingers. Then she collapsed. Ushers assisted her to the vestibule, where the Rev. Henry Hammond, a member of the cathedral staf, administered the last rites. Well known on European operatic stages, Miss Van Gelder had been teaching voice here.

Bishop Pearce, Ex-Master of Cambridge U., Is Dead

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Edmund Courtenay Pearce, bishop of Derby, died today. He was 64 years old. Dr. Pearce was born Dec. 17, 1870, and educated at Christ's hospital and Corpus Christi college, Cambridge. Dean of Corpus Christi college from 1901 to 1914, and master from 1914 to 1927, he was vice chancellor of the university from 1921 to 1924. He held several public offices and was mayor of Cambridge in 1917.

Mrs. Bess Parker, 44, Dies; Carlos Hotel Shopkeeper

Mrs. Bess Parker, 44 years old, owner of a tailor shop in the Carlos hotel, 3834 Sheffield avenue, died in her home at 3824 Sheffield avenue yesterday of a heart ailment.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Initiation of a nation-wide campaign for economy in the administration of the national government is to be broadcast over WENR-NBC at 9 o'clock tonight. The occasion is the opening campaign meeting of the Sentinels of the Republic at the Garrick theater in Philadelphia. Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget, will discuss government finances. Raymond Pitcairn, founder of the movement and national chairman, also will speak.

The Radio theater, which presents full hour adaptations of Broadway successes each Monday night on CBS by distinguished players, will observe its first anniversary tonight with "Within the Law," starring Joan Crawford, as the offering. Miss Crawford will have an outstanding supporting cast, headed by Edna Hibbard and Robert T. Haines.

This fall the Radio theater already has presented such notables as Wallace Beery, Ethel Barrymore, Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Ruth Chatterton, Judith Anderson, and Helen Chandler. It's one of the finest programs on the air. One suggested improvement: Ease up a bit on the commercial continuity.

Roy Atwell, the sticky tongued comedian, who was master of ceremonies on W-G-N's dedication program a fortnight ago, has promised to tell all to Helen Stevens Fisher in an interview on the National Farm and Home Hour at 11:30 today over WCFL-NBC.

Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will discuss America's participation in the Olympic games in Germany next year during his program "The World of Sports" at 10 tonight on W-G-N.

Mrs. Jennie Phelps Belden Dies; a Hinsdale Pioneer

Mrs. Jennie Phelps Belden, a resident of Hinsdale for fifty years, died yesterday after an illness of three weeks. She was the widow of Frank Herbert Belden, who at the time of his death was connected with the Marblehead Lime company. Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. H. I. Randolph of Faison, N. C., and Mrs. Frederick Van Yevereen of De Beque, Colo. Services will be held from the Belden residence at 317 East Chicago avenue, Hinsdale, at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Mrs. Blanche Fey, 50 years old, 5826 South Campbell avenue, collapsed and died of a heart attack Saturday.

Drunkenness Is a Disease!
This FREE Booklet Explains Facts That Every Person Should Know
HERE is a treatise written on the disease of inebriety and its cure, written especially for the Keeley Institute. It is based on fifty years' experience, embracing the treatment of more than 400,000 patients, including men and women from all walks of life.
It tells you "why" the medical profession recognizes drunkenness as a disease; what famous medical authorities say about the disease of drunkenness . . . and "how" drunkenness can be cured. The booklet is free, and mailed in a plain envelope. Write at once for your copy NOW!

GRAIN TRADERS TO VOTE ON RULE CHANGES TODAY

Margins and Daily Indemnities Up.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Members of the Chicago Board of Trade will vote today on proposals for amending the rules of the exchange to reduce the present market requirements and permit restoration of trading in daily indemnities, which has been outlawed for the last two years.

The proposed changes have been advocated strongly by a large group of traders who believe the new rules would broaden trading and give the market greater liquidity.

Under the proposed new margin rule the present 10 per cent requirement would be reduced to conform with the clearing house rates of 5 cents a bushel on wheat, 4 cents on rye and barley, 3 cents on corn, and 2 cents on oats. The amended rule would permit members of the exchange clearing house to waive margins for other exchange members up to 25,000 bushels.

Defend Members' Exemption.

This so-called "tolerance" for members of the exchange is defended on the ground that a member's investment in an exchange seat entitles him to a limited margin exemption. At the present time, it is argued by proponents of the changes, members are restricted in their market operations because of limited capital.

Trading in bids and offers, similar to puts and calls in the stock market, was barred after the market collapse in 1933 when the failure of E. A. [Doc] Crawford brought about a critical situation. It was Crawford's operations in bids and offers on a large scale that paved the way for the failure. Bids and offers are options to sell or buy at specified prices and are exercisable within a stated period.

Another Change Proposed.

In addition to the changes mentioned another new regulation is to be voted on which would bar trading in grain futures during the last three days of the month in which the grain is deliverable.

A moderate recession in grain prices took place last week following the upturn of the preceding week. The volume of business fell off with the decline in prices. The range in prices for the week follows:

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Public offering will be made tomorrow of a new issue of $20,000,000 first and refunding mortgage 3½ per cent bonds, due 1960, of the Dayton Power and Light company by a banking syndicate headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. The bonds are priced at 99½ and accrued interest. This financing marks the second bond issue underwritten by the new Morgan Stanley firm to reach the market, the first having been the marketing of $19,172,000 Consumers Power company 3½ per cent bonds on Sept. 23.

The net proceeds to the company from the sale of the bonds, estimated after deducting expenses at $19,351,999, will be applied toward the payment of all of the company's outstanding $18,860,000 first and refunding 5 per cent bonds, due June 1, 1941, at 105, on the redemption date of Dec. 1, 1935, while the aggregate amount required to redeem the 5 per cent bonds is $20,274,500, the balance will be supplied from the company's funds.

Others in Group.

Associated with Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., in the underwriting of the issue are W. E. Hutton & Co., Edward B. Smith & Co., Bonbright & Co., Inc., Brown Harriman & Co., Inc., White, Weld & Co., Mellon Securities company, and J. and W. Seligman & Co.

The new 3½ per cent bonds are subject to redemption at the option of the company as a whole or at any time, or in part by lot from time to time on any interest date at 105 on or before Oct. 1, 1938, with the premium thereafter decreasing one-fourth of 1 per cent on Oct. 2, 1938, and on each Oct. 2 thereafter to and including Oct. 2, 1957, and thereafter to maturity at par. Not less than 60 days' nor more than 60 days' notice will be given for any redemption. The indenture provides a sinking fund for the retirement of the bonds to begin on July 15, 1936, and continue on Jan. 15 and July 15 each year to the maturity date, of three-fourths of 1 per cent of the amount outstanding.

Organized in 1911.

The Dayton Power and Light company was organized in 1911 under the laws of Ohio, and is engaged in the production, purchase, transmission, distribution, and sale of electric energy for residential, commercial, industrial, and municipal purposes, and in the purchase and distribution of natural gas for residential, commercial, industrial, and municipal purposes in Dayton and adjacent territory.

For the twelve months ended June 30, 1935, approximately 65.4 per cent of the company's total gross operating revenues was derived from the sale of electric energy. Annual interest requirements on the funded debt to be outstanding with the public upon the completion of the present financing will amount to $751,450. Net income for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1934, amounted to $1,744,454, and for the six months ended June 30, 1935, to $1,061,865.

Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., will follow the same method of syndication in this offering as was inaugurated with success by that firm in its initial issue. The three day preliminary prospectus is eliminated and dealers are notified as to price, terms, and allotments tomorrow morning and have until Tuesday noon to accept or reject the bonds.

United Corp.'s Income Reported Holding Steady

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—United corporation, public utility investment holding company, reports for the quarter ended Sept. 30 net income of $2,125,019. This was derived from dividends received on its various security holdings, with deductions for current expense and taxes. In the preceding quarter net income was $2,147,004.

STEEL OUTPUT FALLS TO 52%; DEMAND UNEVEN

Uncertainty Caused by War Situation.

While automobile and structural steel commitments increased last week this upturn was offset by retarding influences, such as lower tin plate production and the lack of railroad orders, which resulted in a drop of 1½ points to 52 per cent in steel ingot output, according to the magazine Steel. Declines amounted to 2 points to 58 per cent in Chicago, 6 points to 88 per cent in Detroit, and 3 points to 59 per cent in Cleveland. New England was 2 points higher at 68 per cent, and other districts were unchanged.

Some of the present wavering tendency in steel is traceable to war influences, the journal says. Uncertainties, such as prevailed at the outbreak of the world war in 1914, are being felt by many consumers. Already there has been a strong demand on the American steel industry from Italy and other European countries for products of its coke ovens, such as benzol and toluol, that are used in high explosives, according to the review.

Foreign Ore Prices Rise.

Prices of foreign manganiferous ore and iron ore from North Africa and Sweden, imported by American steelmakers, have risen sharply. Although there has been some moderate buying of tin plate and steel bars for shipment to Egypt, no inquiries have yet developed for finished steel, which could be construed as directly intended for war purposes, the journal asserts. Scrap exports to Italy have fallen off after many months of heavy purchasing by that country.

New commitments for automotive steel, in the meantime, are continuing to expand. Assemblies have increased for the third consecutive week, amounting to 32,000 units last week, an increase of 7,200.

Rush orders from some automobile makers for bars last week revealed that certain Pittsburgh mills are unable to deliver before Nov. 1, due to heavy specifications from miscellaneous sources.

Mill Equipment in Demand.

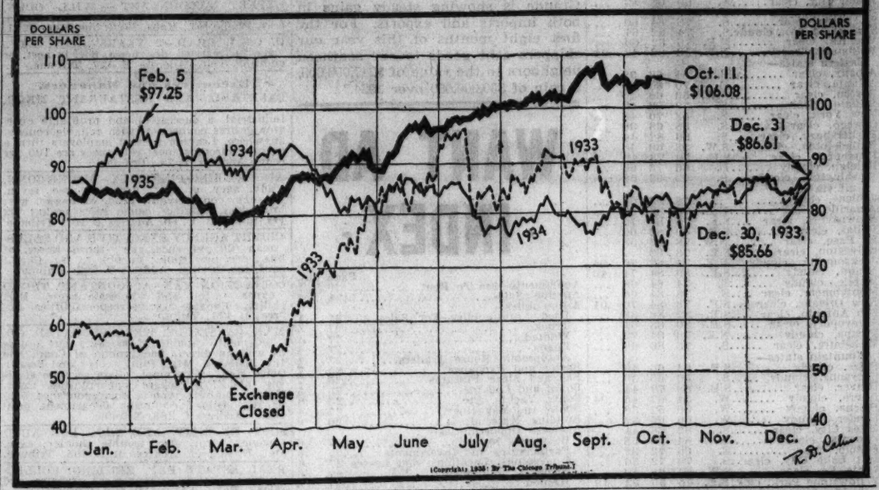

Most makers of steel mill equipment in the Pittsburgh area are booked at capacity until well into 1936. Farm implement business continues at a fast pace, the journal reports, with sales so far this year rising 55 per cent over last year. Prospects are promising for the remainder of the year and 1936.

Structural shape awards last week jumped substantially to 26,000 tons and reinforcing bars rose to 13,500 tons. These awards included 14,000 tons in shapes and bars for public work projects in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Pig iron shipments this month have gained 23 per cent over the comparable period in September, according to the review, chiefly because of larger consignments to automobile, heating apparatus, and agricultural implement makers.

Scrap is quieter, but the undertone is firm. The magazine's price index for scrap remained at $12.75 a ton, and the finished steel index was unchanged at $53.70 a ton, but the iron and steel price composite gained 3 cents to $32.86 a ton.

J. B. EASTMAN TO REVIEW TRUCK CONTROL TODAY

Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation, will outline this morning the federal plan for the control of the trucking industry at the opening meeting of the American Trucking association's three day convention at the Stevens hotel. More than 1,000 truck operators and owners from all parts of the country will attend the convention.

J. B. EASTMAN. [H. & E. Photo.]

Federal regulation of interstate bus and truck operation goes into effect tomorrow. Ted V. Rodgers, president of the associations, discussing the change in highway operation last night, said:

"Today we are faced with the fact of federal control of industry wherein at least 250,000 individual operators will be affected. It is obvious, of course, that no regulatory body over transportation lines ever faced a bigger task."

"From the truckers' side, our salvation now lies in giving all possible aid to the interstate commerce commission in its gigantic task of locating all operators, aiding them in setting up rates, tarifs and classifications, supervising the industry, and in promoting the safety provisions of the new federal act."

Harper Sibley to Address American Gas Members

American Gas association members will open their 17th annual convention in the Palmer house today with a series of general and technical addresses which will end with adjournment Thursday. Preliminary sessions occupy today's program, with the first convention meeting to be called to order tomorrow by P. S. Young, Newark, N. J., president. Dr. Cecil K. Drinker, M. D., of the Harvard University school of public health, heads the list of speakers for tomorrow, while the principal address Wednesday will be made by Harper Sibley, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

Timken-Detroit Axle.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me late information about Timken-Detroit Axle.—A. U. T.

Answer: Timken-Detroit Axle company is one of the oldest and one of the most important manufacturers of automobile axles. It also makes axles for other vehicles, such as trolley cars, etc. The company recently branched out into the manufacture of oil burners, and is now the leading unit in that field.

The company has no stock interest in Timken Roller Bearing company, although members of the Timken family are interested in both companies. The plant is at Detroit.

The company has operated profitably in eight of the last ten years. Losses were sustained in 1933 and in 1932. Earnings reacted favorably to increased automobile production in 1934, enabling the company to report the best profit since 1930. During the first half of 1935 the company earned $397,000, or 31 cents per common share, against $205,000, or 11 cents per common share, for the first half of 1934.

In 1934 net income was $426,000, or 24 cents per common share, against losses of $1,257,000 and $1,194,000 for 1933 and 1932. Net income in 1931 was $328,000, against $842,000 in 1930.

On June 30, 1935, current assets were $7,293,000 and current liabilities were $881,000, a satisfactory position. Capitalization is represented by 27,460 shares of 7 per cent $100 par preferred and 980,000 shares of $10 par common. Although dividends have been paid regularly on the preferred, nothing has been paid on the common since April 1, 1931.

The preferred deserves a fairly good rating. The common, in view of the fact that there is no current return on it, must be regarded as speculative.

Council City and Solomon River.

Investors' Guide: I have been unable to trace through any of the statistical services which the average broker has concerning the present worth, if any, of 50 shares of Council City and Solomon River Railroad company stock. I have been informed that you have financial libraries such that it is sometimes possible for you to trace back old securities to find out whether or not they have any present value or worth.—C. S. E.

Answer: Council City and Solomon River Railroad company: New Jersey charter was revoked in 1910. The stock is worthless.

CHICAGO TRADE HAS ANOTHER ACTIVE WEEK

Nearly all Chicago business enjoyed another good period of activity last week, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Buying from the farm areas aided wholesalers, seasonal conditions boosted retail sales and industrial concerns were able to maintain pay rolls and output at the improved levels of recent weeks.

Advance bookings for the various trade shows and exhibits to be held here this winter are proving to be one of the most interesting examples of the general trade pickup, the association asserts. Shows which a year ago had difficulty in getting a representative number of exhibitors report that their 1935 space has already been sold.

REPORTS GAIN IN CREDIT SALES AND COLLECTIONS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The National Retail Credit association announced today that collections and credit sales continued to rise during September in most reporting cities, but in several cities collections did not keep pace with credit sales.

A total of 15,160 retail stores were represented in reports from 47 cities. The average increase in collections was 4.5 per cent and in credit sales 8.9 per cent.

U. S. Industry Leads Rise in World Output

Although world industrial production increased only slightly during August and activity remained depressed in Holland, France, and Central America, the United States showed a normal seasonal gain, according to the monthly survey by the national industrial conference board.

Output was unchanged from July in England and there were signs of a less rapid upward trend in the Scandinavian and South American countries. Production in Italy fell sharply during the summer months despite increased demand for military products. This is understandable in view of credit limitations set up by other nations having raw materials that Italy needed.

Other Countries Do Better.

More than seasonal increases in industrial production were shown by Australia, Germany, and Canada during August. Drouth conditions in Argentina have seriously affected the grain crop. Japan has benefited by an improvement in silk prices, but such gains were largely offset by weakness in the rayon and cotton markets.

The volume of world trade during the first half of 1935 was estimated by the board to be 77.3 per cent of the average volume during 1929. This represents an increase of 1.8 per cent in physical volume over the first half of 1934. World trade, however, was valued at about 1.6 per cent less in terms of gold than during the first half of last year. In July, this year, the value of trade for 76 countries was .8 per cent higher than the monthly average for the first six months.

Unemployment Shows Decline.

Declines in unemployment were registered during August in the United States, Germany, and Canada. In Great Britain there was a slight advance in the number of wholly unemployed persons, which was more than offset by a decline in the number of those only partially employed. Unemployment rose in Holland, but was unchanged in France.

Prices of foodstuffs and raw materials advanced during August, with the composite world price index rising to 48.8 per cent of the 1923-25 level, or a gain of 0.6 per cent over July, but 2.2 per cent below August of last year. Higher prices for copper, silk, sugar, tea and wheat more than offset price declines in coffee, cotton, rubber and tin.

Wholesale prices were up in Germany, France, Italy, Japan and the United States, but slightly lower in Great Britain.

OWENS-ILLINOIS REPORTS PROFIT OF $6.58 A SHARE

Toledo, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Net earnings of the Owens-Illinois Glass company and subsidiaries for twelve months ended Sept. 30 were $7,893,976, equal to $6.58 a share on the common stock, William E. Levis, president, announced today. The earnings are the highest for any similar period in the company's history. For the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1934, earnings were $6,085,476.

Levis also announced the company has acquired the assets of the insulating division of the Gustin-Bacon Manufacturing company of Chicago, and that an arrangement has been made with the Corning Glass Works, Corning, N. Y., for the two companies to coöperate in research and development work on glass fibers.

GAY'S REMARKS ON INFLATION SPUR TRADING

Share Prices Climb in Sharp Rally.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Thanks, mainly, to remarks by President Charles R. Gay of the stock exchange regarding inflation possibilities, the share market was able over the week to recover virtually all the ground lost in the war scare precipitated by the Italian invasion of Ethiopia. The "averages" rose 3¾ points on the week, reaching on Friday, a figure 6 points above the low for the month set on Oct. 3. The present level is the highest since the market made its peak on Sept. 18.

Ignores Foreign Developments.

Volume has picked up impressively on the rebound. Several times in Thursday's trading, and again on Friday, the flood of buying orders coming in from all parts of the country, as traders envisioned the "inflationary boom" foreseen by President Gay was sufficient to distance the ticker by as much as four or five minutes at the time.

Outwardly, at least, the market paid no attention to the big foreign developments of the week, the league's decision to apply punitive "sanctions" to Italy and the progress of Il Duce's invading forces in Ethiopia.

In addition to the stock exchange head's contribution it found fuel for its enthusiasm in such homemade items as the weekly car loadings figures, which overtopped those of the corresponding week of last year by 11⅞ per cent and exceeded those of any week since October, 1931; a rise in retail buying in various sections of the country amounting to 5 to 20 per cent over the figures for 1934 and a substantial spurt in auto production.

A lift in copper metal prices to 9¼ cents a pound, the highest level since 1931, gave a fillip to the mining shares, and alcohol issues were made to look a trifle better by growing demand attributed to the arrival of the football and holiday season. Some good reading earnings and dividend reports and rumors, including one that Chrysler was considering an "extra" for its shareholders, came along to provide a few extra puffs of steam for the general forward movement.

Rubber Shares Decline.

GAY'S REMARKS ON INFLATION AID STOCK MART

stocks and other so-called "war babies" of the list continued to cash in on war talk in spite of the neutrality ban on munitions shipments.

As the market closed Friday for the Saturday holiday, a profit taking wave had begun to flow, but the trend of prices still was upward.

The Gay warning was interpreted in brokerage house circles, not so much as a well meant effort to help the market along, as to an intention to establish an alibi for the exchange in the event the government's bank credit inflationary policy should result in the "runaway market" which he foresaw as a possibility of the "future."

The fact that the prediction was indefinitly timed and that the phrase "in the future" might cover a considerable stretch of time did not seem to matter particularly to the speculative element. They saw an opportunity to make capital out of the development and lost no time in suiting action to the decision. Regardless of their faith in the prophetic vision of the head of the exchange, they seemed to assume that weight would be given his views by the public and, as subsequent developments proved, their point was well taken.

SOFT COAL GROUP, AND UNION AGREE ON PEACE PLAN

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Appalachian soft coal producers and the United Mine Workers agreed today on a formula for settlement of inter-district wage differentials.

The dispute over the basic differentials between north and south is to be left for the 1937 general wage conference for settlement, while intradistrict disputes were taken care of by the recently drawn district agreements, said Philip Murray, vice president of the mine union after announcing the agreement.

Any district operators' association having a complaint against a neighboring district's rates or any district organization of the union having a grievance is to file a complaint within 15 days with a joint commission of 26 operators and 26 miners, north and south, headed by Duncan Kennedy of Charleston, W. Va., chairman of the joint wage conference.

The basic rates, to which all rates are to be related, are: For northern high volatile, Pittsburgh thin vein short wall combined machine cutting and loading, 78 cents; northern low volatile, central Pennsylvania combined machine cutting and loading, 78 cents; southern low volatile, New River, 69.7 cents; southern high volatile, Kanawha, 67.2 cents.

IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE IN AND FOR NEW CASTLE COUNTY

GENERAL SPRING BUMPER CORPORATION, a Michigan Corporation,

—vs.—

NOTICE

TO ALL CREDITORS AND STOCKHOLDERS OF BIFLEX PRODUCTS COMPANY AND TO ALL OTHER PARTIES IN INTEREST:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to a decree of the Chancellor of the State of Delaware, dated October 2, 1935, in the above entitled cause, the undersigned will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder therefor, in the corridor of the County Court House, at the Eleventh Street end thereof, Eleventh and King Streets, Wilmington, Delaware, on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1935, at ten o'clock in the forenoon [Eastern Standard Time], all of the property in said decree described and thereby directed to be sold, to-wit:

No. 1. The Decatur plant of Biflex Products Company located at 800 East Garfield Avenue, in the City of Decatur, County of Macon, State of Illinois, consisting of approximately twenty acres of land.

No. 2. The North Chicago plant of Biflex Products Company located at 108 Hennepin Street, in the City of North Chicago, Lake County, State of Illinois, consisting of approximately 5.06 acres of land.

The aforesaid property will be offered for sale, pursuant to said decree, free from and clear of any and all liens and encumbrances, except unpaid real estate taxes and special assessments, if any, which taxes and special assessments the purchaser or purchasers will be required to assume and pay.

No bid will be accepted from anyone offering to bid who shall not, at least twenty-four hours before the sale, have deposited with Richards, Layton & Finger, 4072 du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, Solicitors for the Receivers, as a pledge that they will make good the bid in case it is accepted, the sum of $5,000.00 in cash for lot No. 1 and $10,000.00 for Lot No. 2; except that Oakes Products Corporation, the owner and holder of all the outstanding notes of the defendant, is permitted to bid for said property without making any such deposit. Any deposit received from a successful bidder, other than said Oakes Products Corporation, will be held subject to the further order of the Chancellor to be applied on account of the purchase price and will be forfeited in case of failure to comply with any order of confirmation. Deposits previously made by unsuccessful bidders will be returned at the conclusion of the bidding.

The sale will be subject to confirmation by the Chancellor of the State of Delaware and a Report of Sale will be made to the Chancellor on November 6th, 1935, at 10:30 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, at the Court Room of the Court of Chancery in the County Court House at Wilmington, Delaware, which time and place have been fixed for a hearing on said Report of Sale and on any application for confirmation. No further notice of such hearing, other than an announcement at the sale, is required to be given. The Chancellor has reserved the right to offer for resale or order the resale of said property in case the purchaser shall fail or omit to pay the purchase price within the time provided by the order of confirmation.

Upon confirmation of the sale, the purchaser will be required to make payment of the purchase price at such time and in such manner as the Chancellor may direct.

For further particulars, intending purchasers are hereby referred to said Final Decree and to the proceedings in the above entitled cause on file in the office of the Register in Chancery, in and for New Castle County, Delaware, or inquiry may be made of the Receivers or their Solicitors.

REDEMPTION NOTICE

To the Holders of Lafayette Telephone Company First Mortgage Thirty Year Gold Bonds, Series A, dated December 15, 1927, and due December 15, 1957:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the provisions of ARTICLE VII of the First Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated December 15, 1927, by and between Lafayette Telephone Company, and the First Merchants National Bank of Lafayette, Trustee, that Lafayette Telephone Company has elected to redeem and pay, and does hereby call for redemption and payment on December 15, 1935, all of its outstanding First Mortgage Thirty Year Gold Bonds, Series A, issued under and secured by the said First Mortgage and Deed of Trust. The holders of said bonds so called for redemption are required to surrender the same, together with all coupons maturing on and after December 15, 1935, at the office of the First Merchants National Bank of Lafayette, in the City of Lafayette, Tippecanoe County, Indiana, on or after December 15, 1935, and receive payment of the principal amount of said bonds and accrued interest thereon to December 15, 1935, together with a premium of two per cent (2%). Interest on said bonds shall cease to accrue on December 15, 1935. Bonds which shall at the time be registered as to principal must be accompanied by duly executed assignments or transfer powers.

Dated at Lafayette, Indiana,

To All Creditors, Holders of Certificates of Deposit Representing Debentures, Stockholders, and Holders of Voting Trust Certificates of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and All Other Interested Parties:

NOTICE is hereby given that ARTHUR W. LOASBY, EDWARD C. DELAFIELD, HARRY S. DURAND, LLOYD S. GILMOUR, ARTHUR PECK, CONRAD H. POPPENHUSEN, SETON PORTER and RAY W. STEPHENSON, as a Debentureholders' Committee, constituted under Deposit Agreement dated as of February 10, 1932, and as a Reorganization Committee constituted under a proposed Plan and Agreement of Reorganization hereinafter mentioned, have filed in the above entitled proceeding a petition for leave to intervene therein, and, among other things, for approval of the proposed Plan and Agreement of Reorganization of said General Theatres Equipment, Inc., dated August 31, 1935, and of a proposed amendment to the above mentioned Deposit Agreement, copies of which proposed Plan and Agreement, Deposit Agreement and proposed amendment thereto, being attached to said petition, and praying, among other things, that an order be entered fixing a date for a hearing on said petition.

The Court made an order, dated the 7th day of October, 1935, fixing the 13th day of November, 1935, at 10:30 o'clock A. M. as the time and the County Court House, Wilmington, Delaware, as the place for the consideration of said petition and the relief therein prayed for. As more fully provided in said order, any creditor, any holder of a certificate of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, or stockholder or holder of a voting trust certificate for stock of said General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and any other party in interest, shall be entitled to appear at said hearing and be heard upon all matters to be considered by the Court at said hearing, including the fairness of said proposed Plan and Agreement, of said proposed amendment to said Deposit Agreement, of the terms and conditions under which holders of certificates of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement shall be permitted to withdraw therefrom upon filing with the Depositary thereunder of said amendment thereto and of said Plan and Agreement (changed as set forth in said petition), and of the terms and conditions of the issuance and exchange of all securities issuable under said Proposed Plan and Agreement. Copies of said proposed Plan and Agreement may be obtained by any creditor or stockholder or holder of a voting trust certificate for stock of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., or holder of a certificate of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, or other party in interest, who has not already received the same, upon written request addressed to City Bank Farmers Trust Company, 22 William Street, New York, N. Y., as Depositary of said Debentureholders' Committee. Said petition, among other things, prays that said Court will:

(a) Grant leave to petitioners to intervene;

(b) Take jurisdiction and supervision of the Deposit Agreement and of all amendments thereto;

(c) Take jurisdiction of said proposed Plan and Agreement, including the proposed changes therein referred to in said petition, and approve the same as fair and equitable;

(d) Approve the filing with the Depositary under said Deposit Agreement of said Plan and Agreement as so changed and said amendment of the Deposit Agreement;

(e) Approve the provisions of the Deposit Agreement relating to the right which accrues to depositors thereunder to withdraw therefrom upon the adoption by said Debentureholders' Committee of said Plan and Agreement and upon the amendment by said Debentureholders' Committee of the Deposit Agreement, including the terms and conditions on which depositors, upon withdrawal, may surrender their certificates of deposit and receive in exchange therefor debentures and coupons represented thereby, and the terms and conditions upon which depositors will become bound by said Plan and Agreement and said amendment of said Deposit Agreement, when adopted as aforesaid, in the event such depositors shall not exercise such right of withdrawal;

(f) Approve the determination by said Debentureholders' Committee of the pro rata share of the compensation and expenses of said Committee and the expenses on transfer and delivery, to be paid by depositors under the said Deposit Agreement as a condition to withdrawal therefrom and approve the giving of notice to such depositors, in the form and manner referred to in said petition, of such determination and of the provisions referred to in (e) above;

(g) Approve the terms and conditions of the issuance and exchange of all securities issuable under said Plan and Agreement;

(h) Approve the giving of notice to creditors, to holders of certificates of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, and to holders of voting trust certificates for stock of the company, in the manner referred to in said petition, of the adoption of the Plan and Agreement and the right of such creditors and holders to participate therein;

(i) Grant such other, further and additional relief as may be just and equitable in the premises.

The aforesaid hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice otherwise than by announcement at the hearing or at any adjournment thereof.

Dated, October 11, 1935.

Receiver of General Theatres Equipment, Inc.
By Order of the Court.

LATIN AMERICAN TRADE OFFSETS EUROPEAN LOSS

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Harry Tipper, executive vice president of the American Manufacturers' Export association, said today that American exporters were looking to increased trade with Latin American countries to partly make up for losses brought on by disturbed conditions in Europe.

"A review of the trade trends shows the wisdom of developing such markets," he said. "Our trade with the countries to the south of the Rio Grande is showing steady gains in both imports and exports. For the first eight months of this year our shippers sent goods to our southern neighbors to the value of $247,000,000, a gain of $30,000,000 over 1934."

LEGAL NOTICES.

TO ALL CREDITORS AND HOLDERS OF VOTING TRUST CERTIFICATES OF GENERAL THEATRES EQUIPMENT, INC.:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the undersigned, Daniel O. Hastings, receiver of GENERAL THEATRES EQUIPMENT, INC., has filed in the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware, in and for New Castle County, at Wilmington, Delaware, his petition, supplementing the petition filed therein by him on January 3, 1934, praying for authority to enter into certain proposed agreements with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York and Amerex Holding Corporation, which proposed agreements are more fully hereinafter described, and for the approval of the said agreements by the said Court, and that the said supplemental petition has been set down for hearing before the Chief Justice of the State of Delaware, sitting as Chancellor, in the Orphans Court Room in the County Court House at Wilmington, Delaware, on Thursday, the 31st day of October, 1935, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. The Order of the said Court setting the said petition down for such hearing provides that all persons interested and desiring to be heard relative to the prayers of the said petition shall then and there appear and be heard, or thereafter be forever barred from objecting to any Order which the said Court may make in the premises.

The said proposed agreements with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York and Amerex Holding Corporation are referred to and described in the aforesaid petition and exhibits attached thereto, on file in the office of the Register of the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware, in and for New Castle County, at the County Court House, Wilmington, Delaware, and there open to inspection by all parties in interest. Copies of the said petition are also available for inspection by parties in interest at the offices of counsel for the receiver: Messrs. Hughes, Schurman & Dwight, 100 Broadway, New York, and Messrs. Marvel, Morford, Ward & Logan, Delaware Trust Building, Wilmington, Delaware.

The Chase National Bank of the City of New York has filed its claim in the receivership proceeding of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., in an amount in excess of $20,000,000.00. To secure this indebtedness there are pledged with the said Bank various securities constituting an important part of the former assets of General Theatres Equipment, Inc. The said Bank is to reduce its claim against General Theatres Equipment, Inc., by $3,462,767.14 and the Receiver of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., is to consent to the allowance of the said claim in such reduced amount, to confirm the pledge with the said Bank of the securities now held by it to secure the said indebtedness, and to release from all claims which General Theatres Equipment, Inc. or its receiver may have against them, the said Bank, The Chase Corporation [now Amerex Holding Corporation], Chase-Harris Forbes Corporation, the officers and directors of the said corporations and Halsey Stuart & Co., Inc., Pynchon & Co., West & Co., and W. S. Hammons & Co., associates of the said corporations in certain financing of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and their officers, directors and partners.

Amerex Holding Corporation is the owner of in excess of $1,500,000 principal amount of the Ten-Year 6% Convertible Gold Debentures, due April 1, 1940, of General Theatres Equipment, Inc. The said corporation is to surrender to the receiver of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., $1,500,000 principal amount of such debentures and all unpaid coupons appurtenant thereto [which debentures with said coupons, represent allowable claims against the receivership estate in the amount of $1,537,232.86] together with its interest in any collateral security for the said debentures, the said debentures and appurtenant coupons to be held as a part of the receivership estate. Not exceeding $866,000 principal amount of such debentures and coupons appurtenant thereto may be delivered to the said receiver in the form of certificates of deposit therefor issued under the Deposit Agreement relating to such debentures, dated as of February 10, 1932. All claims of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and of the said receiver against the said Amerex Holding Corporation and its affiliated interests and associates in the financing of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and its and their representatives or agents in such financing, are to be released.

The said Receiver has made as a condition of the aforesaid proposed agreements that each shall be accepted and submitted to and have the approval of the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware contemporaneously with the other.

The undersigned, as Receiver of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., has recommended to the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware that the aforesaid proposed agreements be approved.

Daniel O. Hastings, Receiver of GENERAL THEATRES EQUIPMENT, INC.
Dated October 14, 1935.
